Vision and Law.
Machines vs. Words.
As the Twig Is Bent.
Measuring Star Heat.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HERBERT HOOVER, your new President, promising to obey the Constitution, kissed the Bible with his thumb on this verse in Proverbs: "Where there is no vision the people perish, but he that keepeth the law, happy is he."

Vision, ability to look ahead, see what is needed and do it.

Keeping the law, even if you don't happen to like it, that is a good program.

IN HIS earnest inaugural address, President Hoover said, "We are building a new race—a new civilization great in its own achievements."

How much will Herbert Hoover as President add to the country's accomplishments, power and prosperity?

He has the right training. That he will give the people that have elected him everything he can give is certain.

MANY will welcome this line from the address: "Peace can be contributed to by respect for our ability IN DEFENSE."

HERBERT HOOVER is an engineer and knows that work is done by machinery, not by words, loud or soft. He knows that to make this country safe, machines are needed in the air, under the water and on the water. And it is safe to predict that he will insist on having them.

"IT IS education forms the common mind:
Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Vice President Dawes came to the Senate from banking and from hard work in Europe, and with the habit of giving orders. He told senators that he would show them how to run the Senate.

SENATOR CURTIS takes Mr. Dawes' place as Vice President after serving 20 years as a senator, and tells the Senate that it is no part of a vice president's business to make laws or tell senators how to carry on their work.

YOUNG gentlemen of Princeton will be interested in Dr. Lampland, just come among them from the Lowell Observatory.

Dr. Lampland's specialty is measuring the heat of distant stars.

It requires skill to measure heat coming from a sun billions of miles away, through the ether at a temperature hundreds of degrees below zero. But Dr. Lampland does it.

WIRES made of different metals, as fine as a baby's hair, increase in heat by a few millionths of a degree as the heat waves from far away space strike them.

And then Dr. Lampland knows what kind of star, how big, how hot, how powerful, has sent the heat ray.

BRITISH business is worried. British labor is cheerful about the coming election. In May, or June at the latest, the British, with every boy and girl over 21 allowed to vote for the first time in history, will know exactly what the "flapper vote" will mean to British politics.

LORD BEAVERBROOK, owner of the London Express, with a circulation of 1,500,000, and well informed, believes that the Labor party will win this election, and predicts that as a matter of course the King will send for Ramsay Macdonald, who will be prime minister and real head of the British Empire.

CAN you imagine an American money king sending for the head of a labor union and saying, "You and the unions take charge of everything?"

What shivering that would cause!

It frightened Britishers the first time, but will not frighten them this time. A man outside of office talking is different from a man in office carrying responsibility.

"WHAT man, now living, do you most admire?"

Young men of Yale University, asked that question, were evenly divided in their answers between "My father" and "Col. Charles A. Lindbergh." Happy the man who has in his father one to be reverenced all through life. There is no better start than that for any young man.

Next to Lindbergh and "My father" came Andrew Mellon, third choice, and Herbert Hoover, fourth.

Senior students in the scientific department voted a tie between Lindbergh and Hoover.

WALL Street, having started a Hoover boom before the inauguration, didn't quite know what to think, or how to feel, after the inauguration.

Some stocks were off. High finance in London wants to know whether "Mr. Hoover will hit at United States speculation."

Public utility shares, which run to many hundreds of millions, didn't like Mr. Hoover's suggestion that the government should keep out of business, but that government should have the right to regulate services and rates.

CALL money was lent at 8 per cent—cheerful for those with money to lend. Some oil stocks were cheerful. Perhaps oil men think President Hoover will find a way to keep them from destroying themselves with foolish waste.

OUR country starts a new administration: the Mexican republic faces possibility of serious revolution.

Gen. Calles, former Mexican president, leads Mexico's loyal troops against "the rebels." The states of Vera Cruz and Sonora

Earned Income Tax Protests Grow Here

PETITIONS DEMAND REVISION

Pittsburgh professional men and women and wage earners of all classes have joined in the demand for the downward revision of taxes on earned incomes.

Following action of the Allegheny County Bar Association in adopting a resolution for consideration of the questions of reducing income taxes on earned incomes and the attack on the $30,000 limit on earnings, as expressed by members of the bar, other professional organizations are rapidly following the same procedure.

PETITIONS SIGNED

The masses of wage earners, many of whom are unorganized, have set up their own forums for reform by signing the petitions printed in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Over-night, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes grew to an organization of tremendous potential strength. The people individually are supporting it.

Judging by the number of petitions returned within a few hours after announcement of the Sun-Telegraph's sponsorship of the movement, it is to be expected that tens of thousands of Pittsburghers will have attached their names to the printed forms before the end of the week.

The signatures will be presented to Congress at the coming special session.

3 STUDENTS HELD IN ROBBERY

Three Wilkinsburg High School boys today were charged with robbing the home of R. W. Owen, 217 Beech street, Edgewood, of jewelry valued at $500 and $15 cash. The jewelry was recovered.

They were arrested at their homes last night and, according to county detectives, admitted the robbery which occurred Saturday night.

They will be given a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace George Craig, of Edgewood, on charges of entering a building and larceny.

The three gave their names as James Robb, 518 Franklin avenue; Frank Ritzel, 414 Todd street, and Ivan Moore, 610 South avenue. Each is aged 15 years.

Lord Burnham, Ill, Going to England

LONDON, March 5.—(AP.)—It is believed that Lord Burnham, member of Sir John Simon's Royal Commission on Indian Statutory Reform, has been overcome by heat and is returning to England from India, where the commission has been sitting for some months. Lord Burnham is president of the Empire Press Union and deputy chairman of the Empire Parliamentary Association. He has on three occasions presided over the International Labor Conference at Geneva. He is 66.

40 Youths Jailed In Irish Roundup

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 5.—(AP.)—About 40 youths were arrested in various parts of Dublin today. The reason for the roundup was not made known. A large number of anxious relatives and friends gathered outside of Bridewell prison, where the youths were taken.

Bomb Blast Wrecks Chicago Barber Shop

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—A bomb wrecked the front of a barber shop on South Halstead street early today. Two families living on the second floor were shaken, but otherwise unhurt. The damage, including broken windows in nearby buildings, was estimated at $200.

Power Firm Plans $750,000 Structure

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 5.—The Pennsylvania-Ohio Power and Light Company will build a $750,000 office structure on its present site, C. S. MacCalla, general manager, announced today. Construction will start within the year.

Courts Halt to Hear Inaugural Address

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 5.—The civil courts here set a precedent yesterday when two jury trials were adjourned to permit jurors to "listen in" on the radio broadcast of the Hoover-Curtis inauguration.

PRESIDENT HOOVER AS HE KISSED OPEN BIBLE BEFORE INAUGURAL THOUSANDS

BUSINESS HOLDINGS UNDER FIRE

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(INS.)—After confirming eight other cabinet appointments by unanimous vote, the Senate this afternoon authorized the Judiciary Committee to investigate the legality of President Hoover's action in holding over Secretary of Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis in his cabinet without reappointing them.

The resolution also authorized the Judiciary Committee to investigate the legality of Mellon holding office under the law prohibiting the Secretary of the Treasury from "carrying on trade or commerce."

NORRIS PROTESTS

This section was protested vigorously by Senator Norris (Rep.) of Nebraska, but the resolution was adopted without a record roll call with only the Democrats shouting affirmation.

The resolution was sponsored by Secretary McKellar, (Dem.) of Tennessee. It requested the committee to determine "whether the head of any department may legally hold office after the expiration of the term of the President who appointed him."

It then called for the inquiry into Mellon's fitness to continue in office.

WANT LEGAL RULING

Senator Couzens (Rep.), of Michigan, an arch foe of Mellon, explained that the second section of the resolution was intended to get a legal opinion from the committee whether a "stockholder" in a company was "carrying on trade" within the meaning of the law. He said Mellon, while retiring from directorships, had retained his stockholdings.

The other eight members of the cabinet meanwhile were confirmed without opposition, debate or a rec-

Oil-Burning Planes Success in Germany

DESSAU, Germany, March 5.—(INS.)—Germany's first experiments with crude oil motors in airplanes have proved successful, it was learned today. One Junkers plane of the G-24 type, ordinarily equipped with three gasoline motors, has just made a 10-minute test flight over Dessau during which it was propelled by one of the new oil burning motors. The motor developed sufficient power to lift the plane from the ground very easily.

2 LEAP IN RIVER, ONE DROWNS

While river police dragged the lower Allegheny River today for the body of an unidentified woman who jumped or fell from Sixth Street Bridge last night, Walter Smith, 52, leaped from the Point Bridge into Monongahela River and was held on a disorderly conduct charge after he was rescued by deck hands of the tugboat Steel City.

Smith landed near a barge and grasped an anchor chain.

CHANGES MIND

At Allegheny Hospital it was said he would be discharged after his clothing dried.

He told police he started to commit suicide because he had no home, but changed his mind after striking the water.

Three student nurses from Presbyterian Hospital watched the woman jump, or fall, into the river last night.

TRY TO STOP HER

They attempted to reach her as she tottered on the bridge rail, but she fell before they could get to her.

She cried for help after striking the water, but before Frank Leventon, who lives in a houseboat on the Allegheny side of the river, could reach her she sank.

Patrolmen Charles Snyder and Henry Reddy are dragging the river for her body.

Roosevelt Airport Sold for $2,750,000

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Roosevelt Field, Long Island, one of the oldest airports in the metropolitan district, has been purchased by a Wall street syndicate headed by Seth Low, war-time flier and member of the brokerage firm of Charles L. Frank and Company, it was announced yesterday. Low said it was planned to develop the field into one of the finest airdromes in the country, with steel hangars for 250 planes. The purchase price was said to be $2,750,000.

ORIE FREED, PAYS COSTS

Stanley Orie, brother of John W. Orie, deposed police magistrate, was acquitted on charges of maintaining gambling devices, being a common gambler and illicit liquor selling, but ordered a pay costs by a jury in Criminal Court today.

Orie's case went to the jury late yesterday.

OUT ONLY TWO HOURS

After two hours' deliberation the jury returned a sealed verdict, which was delivered to Judge Elder W. Marshall when court convened today.

Orie had testified that he was a funeral car driver with an income of $20 to $35 a week, and the prosecution had countered by asking him to explain bank deposits that ran as high as $3,500 in a month.

"PLAYED CARDS"

Orie did so by declaring that he had won the money by "playing a little cards" in company with Martin Grady. The account was a joint one with Grady, although Orie also had an individual account in which there were deposits running from $200 to $2,500 a month, testimony set forth.

Frank Pelch, saloonkeeper, of 3325 Penn avenue, testified that Orie had

Prowler - Hunting Policeman Bitten by Dog

A squad of police were called to the home of Rebecca McClay, at 7010 Frankstown avenue, last night to drive away two men Miss McClay had reported prowling around the house.

Miss McClay opened the door to admit the police. Out rushed a bulldog and bit Patrolman Joseph Voegler on the left leg.

Voegler was treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital. Miss McClay was told to tie up the dog.

LAKE RATE CASE DECISION

The Interstate Commerce Commission and coal producers in the Pittsburgh district won a victory over the West Virginia operators in the Supreme Court today when the injunction against the commission's order forbidding southern railroads to place a lower rate into effect was dismissed.

The action throws the lake cargo case back into the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission. If this body has not changed its mind since its last decision, coal mines here will have their 45-cent a ton advantage on coal shipped to the lakes restored.

Guinan "Ghost Walk" Costs Woman $10,000

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Lost while ghosts walked at Texas Guinan's night club, a $10,000 diamond sunburst is missing from the gems of Mrs. Margot Colin. In the dark, the spirit of Rudolph Valentino strummed the guitar and that of Arnold Rothstein evaded questions as to who shot him. On the way home Mrs. Colin discovered her loss.

MEXICO REBELS TAKE MONTEREY

MONTEREY, Nuevo Leon, Mexico, March 5.—(AP.)—Gen. J. G. Escobar, commander-in-chief of the revolutionary movement in Northern Mexico, issued the following statement to the Associated Press this morning:

"I am pleased to inform you that after ten hours of combat, this city was taken by our troops who fought valiantly as never before.

"We took from the enemy 570 enlisted men, three generals and 78 officers. The enemy suffered considerable losses in killed.

"Gen. Lurriago, commanding officer, was killed.

"We captured horses, saddles, 1,000 rifles, 12 machine guns and other war material.

"All prisoners lives have been spared and they will be treated with all consideration."

PREPARE FOR BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, March 5.—(INS.)—A federal army will be concentrated on the southern front to give battle to the rebels in that part of Mexico, according to a communique issued at the office of President Emilio Portes Gil, today. It will be commanded by Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, military chief of the state of Nuevo Leon, and the youngest division general in the Mexican army.

U. S. Arms Still To Go to Mexico

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—President Hoover sees no reason to disturb the policy under which shipments of arms and munitions from the United States for the Mexican government have been permitted under license during the last five years.

Injured

LORETTA SEIFERT

Loretta, 14, in Washington to attend the inauguration as a member of a Pittsburgh girls' brigade, was the first casualty of the ceremony when she fell and struck her head on a curbstone. Slight brain concussion resulted, physicians said.

First Aid

MRS. F. C. CHURCH, JR.

Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, the "Golden Girl of Society" whose divorce suit against the "Greek God of Harvard" comes up in court this month, with other society women turned nurse and rendered first aid to firemen fighting a $150,000 Newport (R. I.) blaze today.

Welcome

MRS. MANNING

Mrs. Lois Knowlton Dodge Manning, former wife of Horace Dodge, Jr., says today that she welcomes the divorce her husband, Lieut. Benjamin F. Manning, seeks because he "found her money intolerable."

MANNING'S WIFE SMILES AT DODGE WEALTH 'CURSE'

DETROIT, March 5.—(INS.)—Lois Knowlton Dodge Manning, wife of Lieut. Benjamin F. Manning and former wife of Horace Dodge, Jr., smiled and smiled here today over reports from San Francisco that Manning desires a divorce because he "found her money intolerable." She smiled again as the suggestion that she might be already contemplating a third marriage—"Not just now, anyway."

And she smiled some more as she added, "perhaps you might say that I have wanted this divorce as much as he has—I welcome it."

Mrs. Manning was found at the house she has rented here. With her were several friends, among them Lord Edward Montague, youngest son of the Duke of Manchester, in America on a pleasure trip.

"Please just say this," she continued. "Manning and I have nothing against each other. As for my money, which he says was a curse to him—well, that's too bad. There were times when my money was not such a 'curse' as he would lead one to believe. But anyway, we're good friends, and I'm glad he's taken the attitude he has."

PITTSBURGH GIRL INJURED IN INAUGURAL CROWD RUSH

Pittsburgh, which contributed two cabinet officers and a Senator to the inauguration of the nation's thirtieth president, contributed also the first victim of the bustle attendant upon the event.

She is Miss Loretta Seifert, 14, a daughter of Edward B. Seifert, of 4927 Jordan way. Tripped among the rushing crowd watching the inaugural ceremonies, the girl fell and her head struck a curbstone. She was taken to Providence Hospital, in the Capital, where her injury was described as a slight brain concussion.

Miss Seifert was attending the inauguration as a member of the Girls' Brigade of the Friendship Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, which marched in the inaugural parade.

4 CHARGED WITH MURDER AS POISON RUM KILLS 15

ESTATE SUED BY STEPSON OF WIDOW

Edwin L. Cooper, of Diablo, Cal., has filed suit in Federal Court here in an effort to break the will of his stepmother, Mrs. Martha Helen Cooper, of Emlenton, Pa., who died in August, 1928, leaving an estate with an estimated value of $250,000. The father of the plaintiff was Charles C. Cooper, who died in October, 1900.

The California man claims an inheritance of $40,000, which, he avers, was the value of the estate at the time of his father's death. The action was brought against E. T. Jamison and Alice B. Burns, executors of his stepmother's estate. By the father's will the son was left $1,000 and the balance of the residue was left to the widow.

According to the statement of claim filed by Attorneys Charles E. Harrington and H. A. Heilman, of Kittanning, in behalf of the plaintiff, the latter expects to be able to prove that at the time the father's will was written, Mrs. Cooper verbally promised and agreed, in the presence of others, that upon her death the estate would pass to the son.

The statement of claim sets forth that on account of estranged relations with his stepmother, Cooper was required to live away from the home of his father. The estate left by the father, consisting of cash, real estate and oil leases in Venango County, was worth at least $40,000, the statement avers, but through frugal investment of assets, Mrs. Cooper became wealthy and bequeathed the estate, valued at $250,000, at least, among her own kin. This, the plaintiff claims, was a direct violation of her verbal promise and agreement, thereby defeating him in his inheritance. Cooper alleges in his statement that his stepmother became embittered against him for reasons unknown to him.

POLICE WOUND HOTEL BANDIT

HARRISBURG, March 5.—(AP.)—An attempted holdup of the Dauphin Hotel, in the business section here today, resulted in a pitched gun battle between the would-be robber and several policemen and ended only when a police bullet penetrated his head.

The man, who gave his name as A. H. Browne, Jr., of New Orleans, had been a guest at the hotel over night. He came downstairs this morning and, pushing a revolver in the face of the clerk, William Riddell, demanded money. Riddell asked permission to go upstairs for the key to the safe and Browne waited for him. Riddell called the police, and as he came down the steps the police entered.

Browne was taken to a hospital and his condition was reported as serious.

Wild Auto Injures Newsboy on Sidewalk

When an auto driven by Su Liang Mar, Japanese, of 823 Holland avenue, Wilkinsburg, swerved on to the sidewalk in Mulberry street, Wilkinsburg, last night, William Boyle, a newsboy of 24 Glenn avenue, Wilkinsburg, was struck and injured and the shoe shop of George Alberto was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Police said Mar had lost control of his machine when he turned out to avoid collision with a car driven by Edward McClelland, of 9227 Eastwood road. Boyle suffered a fracture of the arm, and Mar suffered cuts and bruises. They were treated at Columbia Hospital.

AUTOIST HUNTS, FINDS TROUBLE

It cost Charles Owens, Negro, 30, of 148 Stoebner way, two black eyes and a $10 fine for each, to drive through a red traffic light and, en route to Frankstown Avenue Police Station, to attempt to kidnap the arresting officer.

Owens was arrested at North Highland and Center avenues, where, Patrolman John Mahaven testified, he drove through a red light. The patrolman entered Owens' car and ordered him to drive to the police station. On the way the driver turned in wrong direction and attempted to battle with the officer. Result, the bruised eyes.

Magistrate William J. Soost, in Frankstown Police Court, fined Owens $10 for attempting to kidnap Patrolman Mahaven. A few minutes later, Soost, sitting in Traffic Court while Magistrate John A. Staley, Jr., is ill, fined him $10 for the traffic law violation.

Five Men Sentenced For Car Robberies

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 5.—Three brothers, George, Charles and Elmer Carnes, of Braznell, Fayette county; their brother-in-law, Charles N. Omler, and Ralph Werz, of West Virginia, pleaded guilty here to breaking into railroad cars and three schoolhouses at Marianna. George and Elmer Carnes were sentenced to the workhouse for one to two years and the other three for two to four years.

3 Assessed Costs Over ElectionCharges

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 5.—Three members of the Masontown election board who entered no defense plea to 40 charges, today were ordered to pay the costs in the prosecutions. The three men, Samuel Bernson, Charles Howard and Frank Kaprive, were charged with allowing 40 persons to vote without first having them sign an affidavit that they had paid taxes.

2,000 STUDENTS IN RIOT, EXPEL ONE, PROBATION 4

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 5.—(INS.)—Henry Clute, La Roche, S. D., was expelled from the University of Michigan today and four other students placed on probation as a result of the riot last night. Two thousand university students celebrated a basketball victory over Wisconsin by storming two movie houses and forcing police to beat them off with tear gas and loaded "billies."

Clute was expelled after he had appeared before Judge Carlos Redding in police court this morning and paid a fine of $18.95. Of the six alleged ringleaders of the riot who were arrested, Clute was the only man to spend the night in jail. He was accused of casting the first stone in the shower of missiles that caused $2,000 damage to the Michigan Theater. The others arrested were released on probation to Dr. Clarence Cook Little.

Four others of the asserted ringleaders appeared in court and each was fined $16.55 on a charge of malicious destruction of property. The sixth was ordered to appear in court tomorrow morning.

New Burgess Named In West Homestead

The West Homestead Borough Council accepted the resignation of Henry Knauber as burgess at its monthly meeting in the borough hall last night. Knauber, burgess for three years, announced that he wanted to retire because of ill health. Thomas Johns, president of the Borough Council, was named as Knauber's successor.

Untenanted House At Axelton Burned

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an untenanted three-story frame dwelling at Axleton today, causing $3,000 loss. The building was owned by Frank Scardomoghia, of East Monongahela. Volunteer firemen succeeded in saving nearby houses.

SMITH SLUGS GOLF BALL AS HOOVER TAKES OATH

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 5.—(AP.)—As Herbert Hoover took the oath that made him President of the United States, his opponent in the November election, Alfred E. Smith, former New York governor, swung a well-timed driver against a gutta percha pellet on the seventh tee of the Everglades Golf Club here, watched the sphere go sailing down the fairway—and chuckled.

Mr. Smith awakened late at his hotel, where he and Mrs. Smith and a party of friends have been staying. After a leisurely breakfast, he and three members of his party motored to the golf course.

At just about 12:45 o'clock, as President Hoover raised his hand to take the oath, Mr. Smith made his drive and smiled happily as William F. Kenny, of New York, congratulated him on the stroke.

Last night the Smith party boarded the private car of Mr. Kenny and left for the North.

VATICAN GIVEN FULL CHURCH CONTROL

VATICAN CITY, March 5.—(INS.)—The text of the recently effected concordat between the Catholic Church and Italy, published here today, gives the Holy See supreme authority on all ecclesiastical matters without any interference by the state.

The recognition of this authority was one of the outstanding features of this historic document.

Italy thus renounces the right hitherto enjoyed of confirming or refusing the nomination of Catholic bishops. This right, although never exercised in practice, afforded Italy the privilege of granting royal assent or "exequatur" to the papal nominee.

In the future, goods shipped to the Vatican will be admitted duty free. The Italian government stipulated that it would charge no customs upon such consignments.

All embassies and legations accredited to the Vatican will remain upon Italian soil. Even countries having diplomatic relations with the Vatican, but none with Italy, will house their envoys upon Italian soil, not church territory.

This clause of the treaty may give rise to complications should Italy become embroiled in war with a country having diplomatic representation at the Vatican.

The catacombs and the sanctuaries at Loreto, Assisi and Padua will be recognized as Vatican property.

It will not be necessary for cardinals and other high prelates of the church journeying to and from Vatican City to obtain an Italian passport visa in the future.

Italy undertakes to guarantee the fullest freedom to meetings convened at the Vatican by the Pope.

$100 FINE FOR MANFREDO

August Manfredo, alleged political ally of Alderman John J. Verona, was fined $100 and paroled for one year by Visiting Judge Watson R. Davison, Franklin County, in Criminal Court today on his plea of guilty to maintaining a lottery. John Robertson, Negro, arraigned with Manfredo, was paroled for one year on the same charge.

Elmer Simmons, William Harris and Gaspery Posey, Negroes, went on trial before Judge James H. Swearingen, charged with maintaining a lottery in the East Liberty section.

3 Stores Robbed In Hill District

Three Hill store robberies were reported to police today. Tobacco valued at $182 was stolen from the store of Harry Langer, 10 Emmett street, he reported. The drug store of Abrams and Fisher, 1303 Wylie avenue, was ransacked by thieves who escaped with $2 taken from the cash register. Meat valued at $40 was taken from the butcher shop of E. Milovicz, 2124 Wylie avenue. In each, store entrance was gained through a rear window.

LINDY REMAINS IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, March 5.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh apparently was stranded here today, at least temporarily, as his plane has not yet been repaired and train service between this city and the American border has been disrupted by the rebellion.

The famous airman probably doesn't mind, as he is constantly in the company of his fiancee, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow.

The Colonel inquired regarding the progress being made on the plane yesterday and was informed that it would take several days after certain parts arrive from the United States.

Ambassador Morrow, after conferring with President Portes Gil, Secretary of War Calles, and members of the foreign office staff is believed to have made an optimistic report to Washington regarding the rebellion.

MR. AND MRS. HIRAM JENNINGS NICOLAY

MARRIED FOR 50 YEARS, PRAISES GIRLS OF TODAY

Girls aren't what they used to be. But they're a lot better, in the opinion of Mrs. Viola Nicolay, 73, who, with her husband, Hiram Nicolay, 80, celebrated her fiftieth wedding anniversary today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Cook, of Club drive, Brentwood.

"Girls today are enlightened," Mrs. Nicolay says. "There is not the ignorance which hindered the girls of my generation."

The Nicolays reside in Warren, O., but have been guests of their daughter since Christmas.

The anniversary celebration was attended by their three sons: Hugh J. Nicolay, of Warren; Fred H. Nicolay, of Youngstown, and James D. Nicolay, of Monessen.

Luke Lessick, saloonkeeper, of 3322 Smaliman street, said Orie had collected from his machines and also had collected for his liquor. The defense produced witnesses who testified that Lessick had threatened to "fix" Orie.

Orie is under federal indictment for evading tax on income that aggregated more than $74,000 in two years. His partner, Grady, was convicted in Federal Court of evading payment of tax on income aggregating $200,000, and has a motion for new trial pending. Orie's brother, John Orie, was deposed as police magistrate after being convicted of failing to file income tax returns.

MELLON'S JOB ATTACKED

ord roll call. With the resolution adopted, the Senate adjourned sine die.

Secretary of State — Henry L. Stimson, of New York.

Secretary of War — James W. Wood, of Iowa.

Attorney General — William D. Mitchell, of Minnesota.

Secretary of the Navy—Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Interior — Ray Lyman Wilbur, of California.

Secretary of Agriculture—Arthur M. Hyde, of Missouri.

Secretary of Commerce—Robert P. Lamont, of Illinois.

Hoover assumed the big mahogany desk in the President's office at 8:55 o'clock this morning.

Most of the executive staff had not arrived when the new chief put in appearance at the executive offices. Lawrence Richey, who has been one of his secretaries for some years, and who is to occupy the post that E. T. Clark held in the Coolidge regime, that of personal secretary, was on hand to greet him.

The chief secretaryship to the President, held by Everett Sanders in the Coolidge administration, is to be occupied by George Akerson, former Minneapolis newspaper man.

Persians Stand Pat On Peculiar Pants

AHWAZ, Persia.—Stand-pat Persians are ready to die for their traditional baggy trousers. That the sartorial reforms of the modernizing Shah will not go the easy, unchallenged way in Persia of the like reforms of Kemal in Turkey is proved by sanguinary outbreaks here. The attempts of the Shah's envoys to disarm the population of this city, which has stubbornly refused to discard the traditional costume and don the coat, vest and trousers of European cut, resulted recently in open combat, during which six of the Shah's officials were killed.

COOLIDGES GIVEN HEARTY GREETING BY HOME FOLKS

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 5.—(INS.)—Main street stretched out its arms today and took Calvin Coolidge to its bosom. The boy who had gone to the city and made good was back home.

"Oh! There's No Place Like Home," bravely blared the American Legion Band as the man who had been twenty-ninth President of the United States stepped from his private car into the rain, and the home folks roared a vociferous assent.

Ten years ago this thin-faced, sandy-haired man, who had once been their mayor, went away to become Governor of the state, and in that intervening time he became Vice-President and then President. Today he returned a private citizen, prepared once more to cast his lot with theirs, to live in their midst and to do as they do.

COMES IN PRIVATE CAR

It was just a quarter of nine this morning when Calvin and Grace Coolidge stepped off the private car that had brought them straight from the pageantry of ceremonies in Washington incident to the inauguration of Herbert Hoover as Northampton's most distinguished son's successor in the White House.

The Legion band had arrived early and serenaded. Promptly at 8:30 o'clock Mayor Jesse A. G. Andre marshaled the reception committee he had appointed and they climbed aboard the car.

"Mr. Coolidge," said the Mayor, "I welcome you. We are happy to have you here."

To which the former President replied:

"How do you do, Mr. Mayor, glad to see you."

"It is very nice of you," added Mrs. Coolidge, who, a second later, was embracing Mrs. R. B. Hills, her old school-mate and intimate friend.

OLD FRIENDS THERE

Thomas J. Hammond stepped up. He was chairman of the reception committee and a son of John C. Hammond, in whose offices Mr. Coolidge studied law. Then came Ralph Hemenway, Mr. Coolidge's former law partner. On his window still remains the legend, "Coolidge and Hemenway," and so on down the line, old friends all glad the Coolidges were back with them once more.

There was no parade, as such. A motorcycle squad had been provided to escort the home-comers to their extremely modest residence at 21 Massasoit street, which is half of a two-family house, renting at $42 a month. Shop-keepers along main street came out to wave as the auto swept by, and at Smith College all of the girls were out to thrill a greeting.

Only one incident marred the homecoming. Sweeping along Main street in the rear of the car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, an auto driven by a police lieutenant knocked down and seriously injured a little girl, who was rushed to the hospital.

DOZENS SICK, FOUR BLIND IN PEORIA

PEORIA, Ill., March 5.—(AP.)—Murder warrants against two men and their wives were ordered issued today following the coroner's inquest into the death of Clarence Hoppe, one of 15 persons who died in the Peoria district during the last three days, supposedly from poisoned liquor.

Dozens were seriously ill and four probably permanently blinded.

The death list has grown steadily since the first three fatalities occurred Saturday night. There were seven dead yesterday morning and eight more deaths were reported during the day and night. Coroner William Elliott said the death list might exceed 20.

THREE MEN ARRESTED

Ben Teel, 60, and Lance Hitz, 55, died last night, Teel at Peoria and Hitz at his home in Vermont, Ill.

Three men were under arrest. Officers said the tragic aftermath of week-end drinking had instilled fear into hundreds of bootleggers, and that the sale of liquor had been virtually suspended.

Alarm was felt in other Illinois cities, principally Galesburg and Decatur, where police fear shipments from the same batch of poison alcohol may have been sent.

NUMBER ILL UNKNOWN

Maurice Mannsfield, one of the men arrested, told State's Attorney Henry Pratt that he had imported 50 gallons of alcohol from a Chicago syndicate, but he did not name his source. Walter Niebert, a bartender and John Cox, of Vermont, are the others held.

Officers said five of the poison victims obtained their liquor at the Stock Yards Hotel, where Niebert worked, but a raid failed to reveal any contraband there.

Two of the poison victims were women. An accurate check of the number of persons ill was not possible, the coroner said, because many are confined to their homes.

SUSPECT TAKEN IN GUN FIGHT

A score of shots startled Hill district residents today as a gun battle raged between two policemen and Charles Jones, Negro, of 6522 Transit street, who was captured after a half-mile chase.

Jones blazed away with a revolver when Policemen Burt Renn and Martin Joyce approached him at Townsend street and Wylie avenue, they testified in Central Police Court. The first bullet grazed Renn's right ear. Another shot whizzed past the head of Charles Nostro, an iceman, of 3523 Butler street. Walter Rainey, Negro, of 32 Tannehill street, was narrowly missed by a third shot.

The policemen gave chase, firing as they ran, the Negro returning the fire over his shoulder. The patrolmen commandeered a taxicab and overtook Jones, who was out of ammunition, near Passavant Hospital. Jones was held for court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, charged with felonious shooting, carrying concealed weapons and pointing firearms.

Allegheny Valley To Plan Progress

Formation of an organization to sponsor advancement of the Lower Allegheny Valley communities will be discussed tonight at a special meeting of the directors of the Oakmont Chamber of Commerce. The directors will make plans to cooperate with representatives of Verona, Harmarville, Indianola, Blawnox, Unity and Rosedale business groups.

Fire Damages Ford's Factory in Ireland

CORK, Irish Free State, March 5.—(AP.)—Fire which caused much anxiety for the safety of the Ford Motor Factory here, did considerable damage in one section of the works before it was extinguished.

Young Women's Bank Savings Increased

Sun-Telegraph Encourages Savings Bank Depositors

To stimulate interest in the practice of thrift, the Sun-Telegraph will deposit to the credit of the first two of the following bank books, fifteen dollars ($15) apiece, to the credit of the next four bank books ten dollars ($10) apiece, and to the credit of the last six bank books five dollars ($5) apiece. If you hold one of these bank books, bring it to the Sun-Telegraph office, Gazette Square, and present it to Robert N. Laughlin, cashier.

These Will Receive Fifteen Dollars Each:

Name of Bank.	Book No.
Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue	BA-817
Farmers Deposit National Bank	102,900

These Will Receive Ten Dollars Each:

Name of Bank.	Book No.
Monongahela National Bank	7,601
Brentwood State Bank	S-633
Fourteenth Street Bank	9,899
Union National Bank	1,109

These Will Receive Five Dollars Each:

Name of Bank.	Book No.
Colonial Trust Company	17,318
Workingman's Savings Bank & Trust Co	19,849
Mellon National Bank	18,343
Homewood Peoples Bank	28,766
St. Clair Savings & Trust Company	11,345
Diamond National Bank	51,566

The books designated must be presented before 5 p. m. Tuesday, March 12—a week from today.

Any bank in Greater Pittsburgh having savings or thrift accounts may have its pass book numbers included in these thrift gift lists by a request from a bank official to the Sun-Telegraph Thrift Department.

Watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph for more information of interest to savings bank depositors.

To him that hath shall be given.

Two young women have proof today of the truth of the old adage.

Miss Edith M. Sawyer, 5600 Fair Oaks street, Squirrel Hill, a depositor of the Union Trust Company, is $25 richer than she would have been if she had not had a bank account.

EDITH M. SAWYER

Miss Margaret E. Fisher, 2970 Mattern avenue, Dormont, has a savings account in the Pittsburgh Trust Company, and as a result of her thrift her deposit is $5 greater today.

Two of the deposits made by the Sun-Telegraph to the credit of bank books went to the young women—one for $25 to Miss Sawyer, one for $5 to Miss Fisher.

Miss Sawyer has had her account in the Union Trust Company since 1913. She said she would never be without a savings account.

Miss Fisher, too, has no lack of appreciation of a bank account. She said she would let her $5 remain in the bank, drawing interest.

They are among the more than 50 savings bank depositors who have been rewarded by the Sun-Telegraph during the last few days for keeping a thrifty eye on the future.

A number will receive checks for $15 or $10, and many will be enriched by $5 each when they present their bank books.

Could any other evidence drive home more forcibly the truth that money gathers money unto itself? Is any reward or form of congratulation for thrift more substantial than an addition to one's bank account?

Are you regretting that you, by neglecting to save, possibly sacrificed the benefit of one of these gifts? Don't regret it. Start saving now. Other opportunities will come. Not merely by outright gifts, but there are many rewards for thrift.

Change your manner of living today. Open a savings account. Spend less than you earn EVERY WEEK. Deposit $10 EVERY WEEK. In less than two years you will have YOUR FIRST THOUSAND DOLLARS.

And eventually you may discover that it sometimes takes much less than that to make opportunity tarry when she knocks at your door.

PROXY CHECK MAY SHOW STEWART FATE

VERA GRASSKOPF

Returning from a theater, where, with her brother, she did a turn as an amateur actress, Vera, 16, 416 Stengel street, asked to be wakened early the following morning. When her mother went to call her, the girl was gone and has not been seen.

THREE MISSING GIRLS SOUGHT

Of four missing girls being sought by Pittsburgh authorities today, one was found this afternoon.

She is Mildred Harpeter, 15-year-old Allegheny High School student, who disappeared two weeks ago from the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, of Glenfield. County detectives found her in the Pennsylvania Station.

Vera Grasskopf, 16, amateur actress, told her mother to waken her early in the morning. During the night she disappeared from her home, 416 Stengel street. With her brother, she had been appearing at a theater here.

Alice Henry, 15, Blaine High School student, has been missing from her home, 814 Thompson avenue, McKees Rocks, since last Friday. The Missing Persons Bureau has been asked to find her.

City police were searching for Anna Lolaicie, 17, who disappeared from her home, 7229 Lemington avenue, on February 27. She was described to them as having brown hair and brown eyes. When she left home she wore a red dress, a blue coat and a tan hat.

ALICE HENRY

Missing Persons' Bureau is asked to look today for Alice Henry, 15, 814 Thompson avenue, McKees Rocks, who left home last Friday. The girl formerly attended Blaine High School.

Mammoth Fossile Found in France

NANCY, France.—The fossilized skeleton of an enormous mammoth has been discovered by workmen in a sand pit at Mussey.

The tusks and a number of bones including a thigh bone weighing 70 pounds have been taken out and sent to a paleontologist at Barle-Duc for study.

Two Who Robbed Collector Sought

Police today were hunting two bandits who held up Walter Clyde, of 1434 Coal street, Wilkinsburg, a collector for the P. H. Butler Company, just after he had made a collection at a store at Swissvale and Maple avenues, Wilkinsburg, late yesterday. They escaped with a satchel containing $500, in an auto lacking license plates, police said.

Clyde reported to police that the thugs, one armed with a revolver and the other with a blackjack, confronted him as he was starting his automobile, and after ordering him to throw up his hands stole the satchel.

LEGAL THREAT IN OIL FIGHT DENIED

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—The outcome of the contest between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Col. Robert W. Stewart for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, may be known 24 hours before the annual stockholders' meeting, it was indicated today.

Checking of the 16,000 proxies, brought from New York yesterday by Winthrop W. Aldrich and party, representing Rockefeller, continued with a large force of clerks.

CONTESTS POSSIBLE

Should there be enough contested proxies, the outcome will be in doubt until the stockholders gather Thursday for what promises to be a record meeting in attendance and excitement. Although there are 54,000 stockholders for the company's 9,000,000 or more shares, the Rockefeller group claim they have the majority of vites in their 16,000 proxies.

According to their figures there are about 160 stockholders holding 5,000 or more, and most of these have sided with the easterners in their attempt to oust Col. Stewart as chairman of the board of directors.

LIBEL ACTION DENIED

Legal action, on the ground that the Rockefellers, in their war on him, are violating the anti-trust act, was not contemplated by Col. Stewart in case of defeat, his attorney, Albert L. Hopkins, said. The lawyer also declared Col. Stewart had not threatened a libel suit because of material sent out by the Rockefeller proxy committee to stockholders.

The committee yesterday explained to Stewart lawyers that the material was sent to indicate press sentiment and was not their own. Mr. Hopkins said the Rockefeller disavowal of their campaign material spoke for itself.

TRAIN WRECKED BY SNOW, 3 DIE

SPOKANE, Wash., March 5.—(AP.)—Three men were killed, four injured, and six cars of the Great Northern Railroad's mail train No. 27 were carried over a 200-foot embankment by a great snowslide as the train was entering a tunnel near Single Shot, Mont., according to word received here last night.

The dead: Benjamin Stumpf, mail clerk, Spokane; Gus Mazos, section foreman, Single Shot and Phil Tanas, track walker, Single Shot.

Foch Doctors Worry As Pulse Increases

PARIS, March 5. — (AP.) — Slight rise in the pulse of Marshal Foch to 90 gave his physicians some worry. They said his condition otherwise was "satisfactory," however. The patient passed a quiet night. His temperature this morning was 99.1.

The Marshal's dentist visited him and found his teeth in good condition. A cousin, Dr. Mallartigue, surgeon at the Toulon clinic, visited him also and assisted his other physicians in their examination.

Neville Takes Oath As Head of Marines

WASHINGTON March 5.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville today took over the office of commandant of the Marine Corps, succeeding Maj. Gen. John J. Lejeune. The oath of office was administered by Brig. Gen. R. H. Lane.

Gen. Neville for two years has been in command of the Marine base at Quantico, Va. Gen. Lejeune will take charge of the department of the Pacific until his retirement in about two years.

Men's Suits Must Match Color Of Hair

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 5.—Men's suits should harmonize with their hair, it is decreed by experts at the convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers. Blonds or men whose hair has turned gray should wear gray, blue and green; dark-haired men tan, blue, brown and gray.

16 ASSISTANTS TO GARDNER SWORN IN

Four new assistant district attorneys, along with 12 others who had resigned and were reappointed to permit them to receive salary increases, were sworn in today by Judge James B. Drew.

The new aides, announced last night by District Attorney S. H. Gardner, are M. Barney Cohen, Fourteenth Ward; James A. Geltz, Twenty-seventh Ward; William H. Colvin, Eleventh Ward, and Chauncey E. Pruger, Cheswick. They began their duties at a salary of $4,000 a year each.

Gardner appointed each former assistant who resigned a special prosecutor yesterday to legalize their acts in court. Their resignations were necessitated by a law that bars an officeholder from receiving an increase during his term of service.

Nationalists Regime To Clean Up Pekin

PEKIN.—In the eyes of the nationalists, new masters of Pekin, this ancient city needs an overhauling.

"Customs of the people are undesirable," reads a government bulletin announcing to the residents of the once proud home of China emperors, that steps are to be taken to improve things generally. "People are slovenly, the place ill-kept and the minds of the populace are poisoned by literature contrary to good morals and against the principles of the Kuomintang."

Bath Season Luring Ex-Dictator Trotzky

BERLIN, March 5.—(AP.)—It is reported here Leon Trotzky will go to Luhatschowitz, Moravia, Czecho-Slovakia, at the beginning of the bath season, April 15, although the bath company has not yet received his request for a reservation.

The German government has asked the authorities at Constantinople how long the former Soviet war chief desires to stay in Germany.

Three Youths Held In School Robbery

SHARON, Pa., March 5.—Arrested after they are said to have robbed the South Water Grade School and had entered the Sharon High School office, Herbert Jones, 17; William Johns, 18, and Frank DuPonty, 19, of Youngstown, have been held for Juvenile Court by Alderman H. G. Thomas.

INDIAN WIRE TO CURTIS PUZZLES TELEGRAPHER

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., March 5.—Pawnee Bill, in charge of the Oklahoma Indians at the inauguration, was worried on his trip to Washington about means of locomotion in the Capital for his retinue, it was indicated in a telegram he handed to a railroad man here. Half an hour later the operator is said to have figured out the handwriting sufficiently to make it this plain, as it was sent, in substance:

"Senator Curtis, big chief U. S. A.

"Maybeso see you sun quarter high. You now second big chief America. See you and your partner Hoover, shake hands, good heart, many mile from great state Oklahoma, made good Indians, see you. Have plenty of horses at train as too far wifes children walk.

"Pawnee Bill, charge Oklahoma Indians."

BOY TELLS TALE OF SHOOTING

Five suspects arrested in connection with the slaying early yesterday of James Gentile, 28, of 1223 Webster avenue, were being questioned by members of the homicide squad today. Louis Pucci, Jr., 15, of 1217 Epiphany street, told how he, his brother and another man had carried the victim from their home after he had been shot by Louis Pucci, Sr., 46, police said.

Gentile died in the Passavant Hospital of gunshot wounds shortly after being found by police at Logan and Epiphany streets. A trail of blood which led to the Pucci home resulted in the arrests of the suspects.

After a two-hour grilling, young Louis told detectives how Gentile had come to the Pucci hame and following a card game had become involved with the elder Pucci in a scuffle which ended in the shooting.

NITRO BLAST KILLS DRIVER

BRADFORD, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Charles Mansfield, 33, of Bolivar, N. Y., was killed and the automobile in which he was transporting 600 quarts of nitro-glycerine from Emporium, Pa., to Bolivar, was demolished when the explosive let go yesterday between Emporium and Keating Summit, 40 miles south of here. The blast rocked the district and tore up a stretch of concrete pavement.

Mansfield was employed by the Bolivar Torpedo Company. The explosive is transported weekly from Emporium to the Southwestern New York oil fields by several concerns and is used for "shooting" wells.

SCHOOLS FAVOR FOSTER PLAN

The proposed memorial to Stephen Collins Foster here was strongly indorsed by the Music Discussion Group at recent meetings in Cleveland of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. The sessions were attended by more than 15,000 school executives from all parts of the United States.

The Music Discussion Group, which passed the resolution, was formed by members of the National Research Council of Musical Education.

Western Union Cuts Night Cable Rates

The Western Union Telegraph Company has announced two drastic reductions in its overnight cable rates to Great Britain and Ireland. The company's rate for short cable night letters is reduced from seven cents to five cents per word and the rate for short week-end cable letters is reduced from six cents to four cents per word. Under the new tariffs a 25-word cable night letter may be sent from Pittsburgh to London for $1.25. The previous rate was $1.40 for a 20-word night letter.

Quits Cattle Range To Become Earl In England

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 5.—(INS.)—From a rough ranch-house on the cattle ranges of Alberta to a palatial castle at Ringwood, Hampshire, England, is the change ahead for Frederick J. Percival, today en route to England to assume the title and estate of the Earl of Egmont.

His transition reads like a chapter from a novel. For more than a quarter of a century he has ranched in the foothill country. His only son was born in the ranch house in 1914 and his wife died there in 1916. A few months ago the ninth Earl of Egmont died in England and the Alberta rancher, who was a distant kinsman, was informed of his succession.

HEAD OF W. C. T. U. LAUDS HOOVER DRY SENTIMENT

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, treasurer of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, said today that Mr. Hoover is the first President to have the moral courage to ask the drinker to stop drinking.

"Many officials have stressed the enforcement of the law," said Mrs. Munns in her comment on Mr. Hoover's inaugural address, "but President Hoover is the first president to point out that it is the drinker's money which creates the prize for which the criminal underworld is battling."

"The W. C. T. U." she said, "expressed public thanks for the President's utterances and promises. We will endeavor to make enforcement easier by renewed efforts toward educating the public in the evil effect of drink."

Dawes' Return Home To Be Quiet Affair

EVANSTON, Ill., March 5.—(AP.)—There will be no public demonstration when Charles G. Dawes returns to his home in Evanston. The chamber of commerce decided the former Vice President "would not wish a demonstration." Instead, Mr. Dawes will be given a greeting signed by Mayor Charles H. Bartlett and Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University.

Man, Girl Hit-Run Victims in Somerset

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 5.—Two victims of "hit-and-run" motorists today are in a critical condition at Memorial Hospital here. Both were run down on highways in Somerset county. They are Dorothy Robinson, 17, of Stoyestown and Miles Kressler, 28, of Confluence. One driver was arrested.

200 DURANT DRYS URGE DEATH, NEW BOOK SHOWS

Some of the results obtained from the W. C. Durant $25,000 award contest "for the best and most practicable plan to make the eighteenth amendment effective," which was won last December by Maj. Chester P. Mills, prohibition administrator at New York from 1925 to 1927, are out in book form.

The volume of 375 pages is called "Law Observance." It contains a symposium of 100 plans submitted by would-be enforcers of the prohibition laws and gives their theories of making these laws effective.

COPY SENT HOOVER

A copy of the book has been sent to President Hoover, who through a commission is soon to determine the facts about prohibition enforcement, whether the mass of the American people want the laws enforced, whether in fact they are enforceable at any cost, and whether remedial legislation is required.

Nearly 200 persons in the course of the Durant contest suggested that violations of the Volstead act be punishable by death. One entrant in the contest suggested that any person caught buying or selling any alcoholic beverage be suspended by the tongue beneath an airplane and flown across the country as a warning to those who disbelieve in the present law.

OTHERS MORE MODERATE

The attitude taken by the selected contributors to the Durant volume is in the main more moderate in tone, but generally these men and women go on the premise that the present laws are wise and just and should be enforced to the hilt, despite their failure.

There were 23,230 contributors to the Durant contest in three months. The Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest to discover the best practicable, sensible and enforceable temperance substitute for prohibition has in eight weeks drawn 21,000 entrants who ask that the laws be modified, since they do not achieve true temperance and are resented by a great mass of the population. The Hearst contest closes on April 30.

NEW 'FIRST LADY' BUSIED WITH HOUSEWIFE DUTIES

WASHINGTON, March 5.—(AP.)—A new mistress reigned in the White House today, one who woke from a yesterday of public official duties to a day filled with the private problems of a housewife.

For Mrs. Hoover, the first lady of the land, still is the head of an important family, and the responsible hostess to the sons, daughter-in-law, aunts, sisters and grandchildren who have come long distances to participate in the inaugural ceremonies. She must put the big white mansion on Pennsylvania avenue in order to make the few remaining days of their visit comfortable.

With their two sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allan, a student at Stanford University, their two grandchildren, Mrs. Hoover's sister, Mrs. J. H. Large, and other more distant relatives, the Hoovers arose today after a quiet evening alone. There had been no guests and no formality.

The only state function now under consideration is a diplomatic reception, a time-honored custom for a newcomer in the White House.

Today Mrs. Hoover has a further opportunity to meet and converse with those who knew her husband—now America's President—in the days when he was just a bashful American boy, for the Iowa home folks were among the first callers on Mr. Hoover's program.

You're missing something if you don't hear "FORHAN'S SONG SHOP" Thursday night at 8:00, Station WCAE.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you may know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is often the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to help safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums . . . the dentifrice designed to help firm gums and keep them sound, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

Forhan's for the gums

DONAHOE'S STOCKHOLDERS APPROVE READJUSTMENT

Plans for readjusting the capital structure of Donahoe's, Inc., were approved at a stockholders' special meeting yesterday morning at the company's office in the Fifth avenue store. Complete approval of the plans submitted by the directors was voiced by the stockholders.

The present 8 per cent preferred stock will be converted into 6 per cent cumulative and convertible first preferred stock and "Class A" participating preferred stock with a minimum cumulative annual dividend of $1 a share.

The owners of each four shares of the present preferred stock of $25 par value are to exchange their holdings for one share of the new preferred of $100 par value and one-half share of "Class A" stock. In addition, the holders of each four shares of the old preferred will be given the right to buy one and one-half shares of "Class A" stock for $30.

Application will be made to list the "Class A" stock on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange and it is expected that by the time the new certificates are in the hands of the stockholders, the "Class A" shares will be listed.

Within a few days the present stockholders will receive from the company formal notification, including subscription blanks and full information, as to the details of the exchange of the stock.

The stockholders at the meeting evinced interest in the possibilities of increasing their income from the participating "Class A" stock by obtaining greater patronage for the company. Several suggestions along this line were offered, one of which was that all stockholders be invited to a dinner in order to better acquaint them with the dining room service of the restaurant in the Fifth avenue store.

Grocer Shot, Pupils Chase Thug Into Officer's Arms

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 5. (AP.)—Scores of grammar school children pursued a robber yesterday as he emerged from the scene of a holdup and shooting and chased him into the arms of a policeman.

The suspect, identified as Harry Howard, 18, had shot Louis Paul, grocer, when his command to hand over money was ignored, police say. Howard dashed out of the shop as school children were emerging for recess.

The children, few of whom are more than 11 years old, took up the chase. As Howard ran, Patrolman J. U. Brandies rounded a corner and intercepted him.

Gandhi Jailed After Riots in Calcutta

CALCUTTA, India, March 5.—(AP.)—Mahatma Mohandas K. Gandhi was arrested here yesterday for defying a police order against destroying foreign cloth after a meeting at which he spoke had ended in a riot. Four European police sergeants and a number of police were injured in the disorder. The Nationalist leader, in his address, advocated boycotting foreign cloth. His auditors started a bonfire into which they threw English-made products.

New Kensington Boy Admits Erie Theft

ERIE, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Walter Inowski, 16, of New Kensington, was arrested on a robbery charge here a half hour after Frank Smith, a grocer, had reported to police that his place had been entered and $26 taken during the night. Inowski pleaded guilty and was held for the next term of court.

Despondent Over Illness; Ends Life

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 5.—Calling his wife and telling her she would find him at the Boyer school house, Frank Housel, 24, garage owner, went to the building and shot himself through the heart. Despondency over ill health is blamed for the suicide.

TRAFFIC RULES HEARING SET

Council tomorrow will grant a hearing to the Better Traffic Committee on additional regulations for traffic, principally in downtown streets.

The committee is expected to explain its proposals for eliminating left turns at intersections of Bigelow boulevard, Grant street and the Boulevard of the Allies.

Council also will hold a hearing on prohibiting parking in Liberty avenue, from Seventh street and Barker way, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Merchants are asking for a one-hour parking privilege.

Forced to Do Farm Work, Gets Divorce

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 5.—Charging cruelty, Mrs. Clemmie Keener Ingram, of Waynesburg, was granted a divorce from Crawford Ingram to whom she was married June 25, 1919. Mrs. Ingram asserted that following their marriage her husband forced her to reside at the farm home of his parents. She claims she was forced to work in the hay fields and in a workshop.

Youngstown Baby Named for Hoover

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 5.—A son born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Evan Pridham, prominent residents, was christened Herbert Hoover Pridham.

Accused of Cruelty To Children, 2 Held

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 5.—Charged with cruelty to their three small children, Charles and Louise Seodelski, of Fair Hope, are held in $1,000 bond to await action of court. Neighbors complained to authorities, who arrested the couple.

CURTIS TO SIT AT CABINET MEETINGS

WASHINGTON, March 5. — (AP.) — Charles Curtis, of Kansas, a veteran of the halls of Congress, had before him today his first task of the vice presidency—a familiar one—that of presiding over the Senate.

The Vice President is well acquainted with the role by virtue of his 20 years' service in the Senate. His record bespeaks in itself of the work he may be expected to do.

CONTRAST MARKED

The inaugural ceremony showed Curtis, the legislator, in sharp contrast to his predecessor, Charles Dawes, the soldier and business man. Dawes declined to continue the precedent established by Warren Harding and Calvin Coolidge in 1920 of the Vice President participating in cabinet meetings. At the invitation of President Hoover, Curtis will resume that practice.

Last spring, in the days of the warm contest for the Republican presidential nomination, Senator Curtis was a candidate and one of Mr. Hoover's most vigorous rivals. He ran second to Mr. Hoover on the convention roll call. With that fight settled, Curtis, always the loyal party man, was staunchly behind the nominee. He engaged in the most vigorous campaign ever undertaken by a Republican vice presidential nominee despite his 68 years. Now he is 69 and just as active and tireless.

HOLDS RULES O. K.

While the leader of his party in the Senate for four years, Curtis also has served for many seasons as chairman of the Senate's Rules Committee. He has some very decided ideas on those rules—like his predecessor. But unlike that predecessor, Curtis thinks the rules all right and outside the province of the presiding officer to comment upon.

Going out as he came in, Dawes yesterday again expressed his displeasure at the Senate's procedure which permits of unlimited debate.

Allison Park Church To Get New Pastor

SHADYSIDE, Pa., March 5—The Rev. C. A. Hunter has assumed his duties as pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, having been installed by officials of St. Clairsville Presbytery. The same presbytery also will install the Rev. E. M. Bittenhouse, of Weston, W. Va., as pastor at Blaine and Morristown. The presbytery voted to release the Rev. Mark Wingard, of Centerville, to Allison Park Presbyterian Church near Pittsburgh.

FIGHT IMPENDS ON GAS TAX

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 5—(AP.)—The inauguration of President Hoover now a pleasant memory, members of the Pennsylvania General Assembly today gave their full attention to the 1929 session's most vital question—highways.

The highway program, as worked out by those close to Gov. Fisher, was expected to be submitted in every detail as both houses reconvened at noon.

The question that may throw the legislators into armed camps is the 4-cent gasoline tax.

It is understood that a measure increasing the tax has been prepared for introduction today, and with its advent Gov. Fisher faces his first real fight of the year. Although he has repeatedly said he will put the question squarely up to the Legislature to decide, he will quietly work for its passage.

The Governor has recommended taking over the city streets and county bridges, and is behind the Wheeler-Flynn bill to appropriate $25,000,000 during the next biennium to begin the construction of the 4,500 unimproved roads now on the secondary system. He also has given his support to a bill introduced by Representative Griffith, of Indiana, chairman of the House Roads Committee, which would distribute more equitably the state aid to townships.

Celebrating Our 75th Anniversary

To have grown and prospered in Pittsburgh for three-quarters of a century has been the esteemed privilege of Terheyden Co.

Perhaps this attainment can in great part be attributed to a fundamental policy . . . instituted away back in 1854 . . . of endeavoring to make every transaction square accurately with the Golden Rule.

For the years to come we pledge a continuance of this policy and our earnest endeavors to improve our service wherever possible.

Commemorating our "Diamond Anniversary" we announce extra value-giving during the month of March whereby you can REMEMBER WHEN the old Schmidt Building in Fifth avenue was the highest building in town and visitors signed a book in the observation tower?—Mrs. R. C. Kuechler, 5704 Rural street, Pittsburgh.

305 famous Beauty Shops say, "Give your hands

Beauty Care right in the dishpan"

RECENTLY, 305 of the finest beauty salons in the United States reported this interesting fact—

"With all our experience,"—these experts said—"we cannot distinguish between hands that never wash dishes and hands that use Lux in the dishpan. . . . Evidently, Lux gives real beauty care."

These experts observe thousands of hands and they know! In their own words, Lux means "beauty care" right in your own dishpan!

Isn't this a startling idea? Yet women instinctively know it is true. Washing their fine things in the gorgeously sparkling Lux suds, women themselves noticed how smooth and white their hands looked afterward.

Now they are washing dishes with Lux to give their hands the same gentle beauty care—three times a day!

The secret is simple . . .

Lux is so utterly pure, so delicately refined by the special process used in its making, that it protects the precious beauty oils—the youth oils—of the skin. Many soaps dry up these oils, leave the skin parched—red and drawn looking.

Best of all, this beauty care costs almost nothing. Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day!

© 1929, Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Such Inexpensive Beauty Care—Lux in the dishpan is the wisest, most inexpensive beauty care known! Gives gentle, soothing care to your hands—with no extra time, no trouble—and costs less than 1¢ a day.

KEEP YOUR APPETITE YOUNG

If the things you used to like disagree with you, take a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin after a meal. It displaces the excess acid in the stomach, sweetens your food, and digests it. The nourishment from it produces good, healthy tissue and blood; you gain weight and strength, and with that comes a healthy, youthful color.

Thousands of people who suffered from stomach trouble for years, praise Pape's Diapepsin for their good health and young appetite. They can now eat anything they want. That's why 5 million packages are used a year.

Any druggist will supply you with Pape's Diapepsin, because it is indispensable in every home.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

'TALKIES' SHOW STUDEBAKER CAR STORY

The life story of a Studebaker automobile was depicted in a Fox Movietone production in the showroom of the Studebaker Sales Company, 4724 Baum boulevard, yesterday. The show will be given four times each day this week, at 2, 4, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m., in connection with the completion of extensive alterations and inauguration of an intensive sales campaign.

With a title of "Champions," the production brings into the picture artists' models, popular dramatic favorites and news personalities, who talked to the audience, including Florenz Ziegfeld and several of his "Glorified American Girls," Eva LeGallienne and Knute Rockne. The Roxy Theater Symphony Orchestra provided the orchestral theme.

DEVELOPMENT SHOWN

President Albert R. Erskine pointed out the salient episodes in the Studebaker development to open the picture, and was assisted by several old employes and executives.

The history of the organization is portrayed from its founding in 1852. Air views of the factory, together with pictures of construction of the car are shown.

CARS ON DISPLAY

Every phase of the building of a car, including the testing laboratories, fabricating plant where the molten metal is poured into molds, and the sewing room for the upholstering, is shown. From the assembly room the car is followed to the proving grounds and then to the racetrack at Atlantic City, where speed demons drive the cars at top speed.

Prominent news personalities are shown selecting or driving the car, and all new models, including the President eight, Commander six and eight, Dictator six and Erskine six are on display. An animated advertising display stressing various points of superiority which the Studebaker company claims for their cars, supplements the movietone.

Liquor Still Seized In Raids, 3 Arrested

Joe Carnecki, 35, of 148 Thirty-eighth street, was arrested by prohibition agents yesterday following the reported seizure of a 150-gallon still in his home. Whisky found by the agents in a raid at 614 East Ohio street, led to the arrest of George Reese, 30, and Mrs. Catherine Reese, 33, the raiders declared. Both were released on bonds.

Pinned Under Horse, Rider Hurt Seriously

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., March 5.—When the horse on which he was riding fell and pinned him beneath, Joe Houseman, Pittsburgh Coal Company stable boss, at the Eureka mine, received fractures of the skull and cheekbones. He is in a serious condition in Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh.

"Don't COUGH Your Energy Away"

How a cough may jar your whole nervous system!

COUGHING wears you down. It disturbs your sleep—takes away your appetite—uses up the strength you need to fight off serious infections.

Each time you cough, it tears at the delicate membranes of your throat and bronchial tubes. A harsh cough puts a terrific strain upon your chest, stomach and other vital organs.

At the first sign of a cough or throat irritation, take Pertussin. It helps Nature free the air passages of germ-laden mucus, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough. Pertussin has been prescribed more often for coughs than any other advertised remedy.

Pertussin is safe even for small children and convalescents—a good remedy for "coughs that hang on." It is free from dope does not upset the stomach and can be taken as often as necessary. Ask any Doctor or Druggist.

VAN AND SCHENCK, GILDA GRAY ON RADIO TONIGHT

PAUL WHITEMAN OFFERS WALTZES; HALL TO SING

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

AN ALL star bill, featuring Van and Schenck, Gilda Gray, Ray Huling's Trained Seals and pipe organ music from the Hippodrome Theater, New York, is the feature attraction of tonight's radio schedule. It is the Keith-Orpheum Hour, WCAE at 11 p. m.

Paul Whiteman will lose himself in waltz themes, WJAS at 9, but before he goes into a tail spin will come back strong with "Sweethearts on Parade" and "China Doll," not to mention "Song of India" and "Rag Doll." We think the waltz theme will be beautiful with selections from "Pink Lady," "My Hero," "Merry Widow" and "Blue Danube."

Wendell Hall will sing some new songs through WJAS at 11 p. m. and Lannie Ross, champion athlete and tenor soloist, will be heard with the Orchestradians, KDKA at 10:30 o'clock.

Who ever heard of a taxi driver eating an hour's time on the WEAF hookup? Quite expensive, but this taxi driver—"Red" Christiansen—has something real interesting to tell the radio audience. He will narrate his experiences during a shipwreck in the Galapagos chain, an incident that received one full chapter in William Beebe's book about these strange islands, "Galapagos—World's End." Eveready Hour, WCAE at 9.

Another good feature will be the Pittsburgh Letter Carriers' Band, WJAS at 6 o'clock.

GERTRUDE MERRY

Penn. Mother is Proud, Now

Don't allow your child to remain weakened or run-down for any length of time. In that condition, children are so easily attacked by the millions of tiny germs that are seething and swarming around us. And it's so easy to get the bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, cross, fretful, runny, underweight ones back into condition, with a hearty appetite, rosy cheeks and abundant energy, by using a purely vegetable product—which physicians have endorsed for over 50 years.

Children love the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup and it acts almost like magic to regulate their little bowels and stomachs. It gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act as Nature intends them to do and you don't have to keep dosing your child. Four million bottles used a year and the enthusiastic words of mothers everywhere prove it gives satisfaction.

Another Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. J. H. Merry, 2 Foster Ave., Philadelphia, says: "My little daughter, Gertrude, suffered terribly from constipation until she got weak, run-down and nervous. I gave her California Fig Syrup and in just a little while she was feeling fine, eating heartily and gaining weight. Soon she was her bright, normal self again."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name to avoid substitutes.

Best Remedy for Obstinate Cough Made at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make full pint. This saves two-thirds of money usually spent for cough ...e, and gives you a purer, better ... It never spoils, and tastes ...ildren like it. ... can actually feel its penetrat... soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It also promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and at the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs and "flu" coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CLASSIC OF THE SEA.
Robinson Crusoe had no stranger adventures than did Martin Christiansen in the Galapagos chain. Years before William Beebe rediscovered the islands for the scientific world, Christiansen had been one of the crew of the ill-fated Norwegian bark Alexander, abandoned in the Pacific. Christiansen and eight other members of the crew took to the boats and landed on Galapagos. Two of the eight met death in the adventures which followed.
Christiansen's extraordinary story will be told by him personally tonight. The broadcast will reproduce the voyage of the Alexander from the time that Christiansen shipped aboard the ill-fated vessel in Newcastle, New South Wales.

SPECIAL "SONG OF INDIA."
A 25-piece novelty concert orchestra, under the direction of Josef Koestner.
"Happy Humming Bird," a novelty concert number, will open the program. From the musical comedy "Little Jesse James," Jack Frost, tenor, will sing "I Love You." He comes to the microphone again in the chorus of "There's a Place in the Sun for You."
The composition of the famous Russian composer, Rimsky-Korsakoff, "Song of India," will be played as the feature number with a special arrangement for oboe, clarinet, flute, bass and harp. The ensemble brings out in full beauty the atmosphere and story of Indian, portraying in modern instrumentation the melody of native Oriental music.
Among other numbers are "The Sun Is at My Window" and "Precious Little Thing Called Love."

KONJOLA ENDS VAIN SEARCH FOR RELIEF

Rheumatism, of Four Years Duration, Yields to New Remedy; Pittsburgh Man Lauds Modern Compound.

How Konjola, the medicine with a million friends, goes to the very roots of ills is shown in case after case wherein this master medicine of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—has triumphed after all else tried has failed.

MR. J. E. BRISON

This master compound is being explained by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store, (formerly McCulloch), Penn Ave. and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting those who come to hear just why it is, and how, that this new and different medicine triumphs when hope has been abandoned. In that sentence is the answer to the question of Konjola's amazing success. This supercompound is new and different. There is no substitute for Konjola, because there is no medicine like it. Konjola's goal is new, abundant and glorious health fully restored; the mere mission of temporary relief is not the aim of this real medicine. Konjola cleanses and invigorates the ailing organs; it drives impurities and poisons from the system; it opens the door, paves the way for the return of health. What cheer there is for sufferers in the experience of Mr. J. E. Brison, 2849 Sarah street, South Side, Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

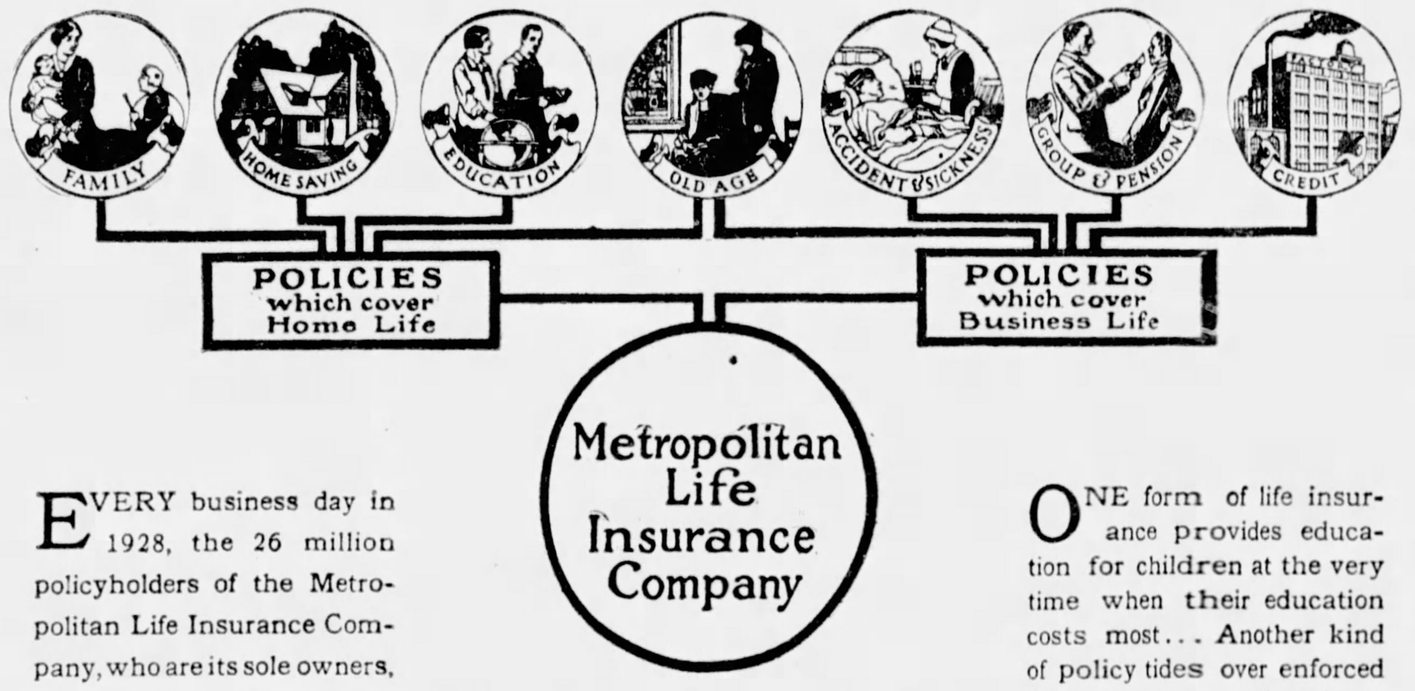
"After I suffered for four years, I found relief in Konjola and I am making this statement because I know this medicine will benefit others as it has me. Rheumatism made my life a steady round of torture and misery. The pains settled in my left knee; it was swollen and very stiff. Walking was agony. My arms were so badly affected that I was unable to raise them to my shoulders without agonies. Constipation and kidney trouble added greatly to my suffering. During the night my sleep was disturbed two or three times by frequent bladder actions. Constantly I searched for relief—but I was always disappointed—my case seemed hopeless.

"Not long ago I was told about this new medicine Konjola, how it was benefiting Pittsburgh people and what praise and acclaim it was receiving from men and women who had found health through its use. I decided to find out for myself about it—whether it had any merit or not. The wisest decision I ever made was that to give Konjola a trial, for it was exactly what I always needed. The rheumatic pains began to go away—they steadily grew less severe and finally I was free of that disease. For the first time in four years I can get around, use my arms and legs without pain. My kidneys were strengthened and invigorated; my bowels were regulated and today there isn't a trace of either ailment. Glorious, indeed, is the health I now enjoy and to Konjola I owe everything."

Konjola is not designed for fleeting, temporary relief; its goal is abundant, glorious and lasting health. This master compound welcomes every test, no matter how long the suffering; no matter what medicines and treatments have failed.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch), Penn Ave. and Sixth St., this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

A Million Dollars a Day



EVERY business day in 1928, the 26 million policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who are its sole owners, added a million dollars to the great reserve fund needed for their protection against the hazards of life and business—present and future.

Happily, more and more persons have a new understanding of what life insurance promises, what it can do and what it does do. They are learning that it does many different things equally well.

While the original purpose—to take care of the breadwinner's dependents in event of untimely death—has never been lost sight of, today life insurance is largely and directly concerned with the business of living.

Financial Report to Policyholders for Year Ending December 31, 1928

Assets	$2,695,475,965.64
Liabilities:
Statutory Reserve	$2,346,775,847.00
Dividends to Policyholders payable 1929	77,138,725.33
All other liabilities	111,485,393.38
Unassigned Funds	160,075,999.93
	$2,695,475,965.64
Increase in Assets during 1928	$306,828,329.32
Income in 1928	743,412,385.21
Gain in income, 1928	92,343,796.78
Paid-for Life Insurance Issued Increased and Revived in 1928	3,259,181,384.00
Total Bonuses and Dividends to Policyholders from 1897 to and including 1929	448,523,599.20

Life Insurance Outstanding

Ordinary Insurance	$7,825,652,878.00
Industrial Insurance (premiums payable weekly or monthly)	6,297,013,786.00
Group Insurance	2,249,289,338.00
Total Insurance Outstanding	16,371,956,002.00
Number of Policies in Force	42,329,281

(Including 1,304,569 Group Certificates)

ONE form of life insurance provides education for children at the very time when their education costs most... Another kind of policy tides over enforced idleness because of accident or sickness. Another form of policy, paid for in regular installments, is a sound financial investment, as well as a protection.

Employers and employees join together in buying another kind of insurance which provides leisure and freedom from financial worry in later years.

Business men build needed credit for business with life insurance policies... Final payments on homes are made certain by insurance.

About one person in every five in the United States and Canada shared in the Metropolitan's greatest year of service.

Total expenditures for Health and Welfare Work among Policyholders in 1928	$5,953,211.12
Trained nursing care for sick Policyholders in 1928	3,771,939 visits
Health pamphlets distributed free in 1928	48,232,101 copies

HALEY FISKE, President FREDERICK H. ECKER, Vice-President

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is a mutual organization. It has no stock and no stockholders. Its wealth is owned solely by its Policyholders.

Bankrupt Ohio Mines Sold for $725,000

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., March 5.—One of the largest deeds ever filed in Belmont county was on record today in the office of Recorder A. A. Davis, covering sale in a bankruptcy proceeding of the Maher Collieries Company's five mines and 3,000 acres of coal land to the Southeastern Coal Company for $725,000. The Southeastern was formed by bondholders to take over the property after the company failed.

Forced to Pen Death Threats, Boy Says

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 5.—Death threat letters said to have been written by a 12-year-old schoolboy and mailed by Leonard Miller, of Republic, were received by former Justice of the Peace N. J. Blielevens, of Republic, according to testimony introduced in court. John Cherno testified that he was forced by Miller to write the letters and to sign them "Secretary of Death." Both letters demanded $5,000.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A POPULAR SUIT STYLE FOR A SMALL BOY

Flannel was chosen in this instance. If desired the waist may be of madras, broadcloth or Indian head, and the trousers of flannel, tweed, jersey or velveteen. Kindergarten cloth, checked or striped madras or crash are also suggested. The waist may be made with an opening at the center, as illustrated, or at the side under the tuck. The trousers are cut with wide leg portions, and are shaped at the top.

The pattern for this style is cut in four sizes: 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. To make the suit in one material for a 4-year size will require 2¼ yards of 40-inch material. The trousers of contrasting material will require 1 yard 40 inches wide. The waist 1¼ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Just Rub It In

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster without the burn. You feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE DARE-DEVIL DANCER

By EDMUND A BRAUN

ONE could readily see nature had not intended Albert Mermout to be a dare-devil; yet, that was his greatest ambition. It was no idea of Albert's, this dare-devil business, but of Marion Lovell, star of the Sunshine Comedies where Albert was employed in the property rooms. Albert had loved Marion for years, but Marion had a way of marrying wealthy men when she married for love. Now, due to the death of her fifth husband, she was free to marry again.

"I'll marry you on one condition," Marion said when Albert proposed again.

"I'll do anything."

"You must become a famous dare-devil."

"But, Marion, you know I've a weak heart!"

"You must become a famous dare-devil," insisted Marion.

"All right, Marion, I'll become a famous dare-devil or die trying."

So Albert went to see Ernest Swocback, famous director of Sunshine Comedies.

"Well," said Swocback, when Albert had made known his desire of becoming a dare-devil, "your appearance doesn't impress me, but if you're fitted, I'll give you a fair trial. Ever wear snowshoes?"

"No, sir."

"Well, you'll learn. Report here tomorrow at 10."

Next morning, Albert reported to Swocback promptly at 10.

"In this scene," explained Swocback, "the hero has a dream of walking on the ledge of the Bartlow Building while wearing snowshoes."

"D-do y-you m-mean m-me?"

"Of course you."

"H-how h-high is this l-ledge?"

"Only 14 stories."

"Only! A-a-a umh-a."

"We're ready to go, so come along."

Albert wanted to refuse, but he could not have spoken to save his life. Then, too, his love for Marion urged him to go. Even when they reached the Bartlow Building and he was donning his snowshoes, fur overcoat and false mustache, he felt as if it were all a dream.

The camera was mounted on a movable counterbalanced platform which was extended through the window nearest the corner of the building.

"You leave the building by this window," explained Swocback, "and walk along the ledge toward the camera. When you're close enough, I'll tell you and we'll change the platform and let you walk away from it. There'll be no need of changing the cameras on the floor above. When you reach the corner of the building, try to climb to the floor above. I don't think you'll be able to, but if you can, go in the window nearest the corner. There's plenty of room on the ledge, at least seven inches, so don't be afraid of falling. Act scared to death and be careful."

"I—if I—I—I—I should f—fall, m—make it a—a quiet funeral."

"Boy, if you fall, there won't be any funeral; there'll be a street cleaning. Everything clear?"

"A—a—a y—yeh."

"All right, go to that window and when I call come out and walk toward the corner."

Swocback went out on the platform holding the cameraman and camera.

"Camera," called Swocback, then, "Albert!"

Albert climbed through the window. His cheeks were pale and his teeth chattered. He realized before he had gone far that walking with snow shoes was not easy.

Suddenly he stumbled and fell to his knees. He gripped the spaces between the blocks of stone and slowly drew himself upright. He then resumed his walk. Walk? Well, not exactly for the width of the ledge and the width of the snow shoes made that impossible. It resembled some sort of slow dance involving a hop and a squirm. He finally came close enough to the camera to satisfy Swocback.

Albert waited while the platform was moved and placed through the next window.

"All right," called Swocback finally, "camera."

The terrible journey was resumed. Albert reached the corner without any further mishaps and tried to climb as directed. The toe of the snow shoe fit in the space between the blocks of stone, but when he placed his weight upon the snow shoe, it slipped and Albert fell over the side. Instinctively his hands caught the ledge and held on. He drew himself upward and tried to place his foot upon the ledge, but the width of the snow shoe prevented it and he fell back. With one desperate effort, he drew himself upward and grabbed for a groove between the blocks of stone; he caught hold, drew himself upward and rolled onto the ledge.

"Put your feet up in back of you," called Swocback, "and see if you can remove the snow shoes. If you can, stand up, walk back to the window and climb in."

With much squirming and twisting, Albert took them off and laid them on the ledge and stood up. As he crawled in the window Swocback welcomed him with a pat on the back.

"Fine, Mermout, absolutely splendid! Your acting was wonderful."

Weeks of dangerous stunts followed. Albert was looking haggard. He climbed walls of buildings, danced on the wings of airplanes, jumped from one flying plane to another and jumped to and from moving trains. He gambled with death each day and won.

One day he encountered Marion.

"Hello Albert," greeted Marion.

"Hello Marion," answered Albert without enthusiasm.

"Swocback says you're the world's greatest daredevil and you'll soon be famous, with your name in the newspapers."

"Yeh, it'll be in the newspapers. Black border and everything. 'Stunt man killed while trying to slide down building with ice skates.'"

"Don't be blue, Albert; remember, we'll be married soon."

"Yeh."

About two weeks later the maid informed Marion that Mr. Mermout wished to speak to her on the telephone.

"Hello, Marion?"

"Yes."

"This is Albert."

"Yes."

"Well, I've done 'it.'"

"Done what?"

"Haven't you read the evening papers?"

"No."

"I've done something that has the entire world talking."

"Really!"

"Yesh. Yeh. I'm referred to in big black print."

"How thrilling!"

"It didn't seem very dangerous, yet, some men claim it's just like commiting suicide."

"Really! Read the headline."

"DAUGHTER OF MULTI-MILLIONAIRE MARRIES DARE-DEVIL."

Marion slammed the receiver of her telephone. Now she's suing Albert for breach of promise.

RESCUED AT THE EDGE OF THE GRAVE

Liver and Kidney Trouble Had Brought This Man Near to Death.

Mr. L. E. Leone, of Greensburg, Pa., tells how he was apparently rescued from the jaws of death by valuable new medicine. Here is his story in his own words:

"For two years I had been so low in health that I had given up hope of ever recovering. In pain and misery I waited for death. Low blood pressure, with poor circulation, was, so the doctors said, the basis of my troubles. My arms and legs were numb. I often had had dizzy spells. Kidney and liver trouble poisoned my system, and constant getting up at night kept me from getting my rest. I was tortured by sharp pains across the small of my back and through it all, I was so drowsy and dull that I could hardly think clearly. My face was bloated and discolored with dark liver spots. The whites of my eyes turned yellowish, almost brown, and the flesh under my eyeballs became swollen and puffy.

"I am a Russian, and no American medicines seemed to do me any good. However, when I heard that World's Tonic is made from plants and herbs grown in the natural state, and brought from different parts of the world, I realized that a European like myself, as well as Americans, could count on getting help from this famous new remedy. The first bottle brought me good results, and now after using three more bottles, I am a well man—truly like one rescued at the edge of the grave. I have gained twenty pounds. My skin is clear, I am free from pain, and do not have to be careful of everything I eat nor do I have to take pills every night like I used to. I sleep fine, enjoy a splendid appetite, and everything I eat builds muscle and strength. Best of all, my mind is clear as a bell. I give all credit to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch), and all other modern drug stores. (A-73)

MUSIC

Amy Neill String Quartet
Carnegie Lecture Hall

Norman Frauenheim
Y. M. & W. H. A.

The Amy Neill String Quartet, Amy Neill, first violin; Stella Roberts, second violin; Charlotte Polak, viola, and Louis Bichl, cello, played its first Pittsburgh concert in Carnegie Lecture Hall last night. The ever-increasing audience at such concerts is most gratifying to all who are interested in promoting chamber music in Pittsburgh, and the spontaneous acknowledgement of the music is a sure sign of their honest admiration.

The program was built on sound foundation of Beethoven, the C Minor Quartet Opus 18, and completed with two modern numbers, the Italian Serenade of Hugo Wolf, and a Quartet in D Flat Major of the Hungarian Dohnanyi.

The Beethoven disclosed an ensemble of good tone, sturdy rhythms, and excellent balance, a grup of players one would be glad to hear again. For more recent music the Serenade alone was intriguing enough to promise much for these ladies. To those who know Hugo Wolf's songs, his quartet only strengthened the impression of this composer's foresight into the music of the future. But it was the four players who clarified his expression.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

PROGRAM.

Chaconne G Major	Handel
Prelude and Fugue A Minor	Bach-Liszt
Variations Serieuses	Mendelssohn
Phantasie G Major Op. 17	Schumann
Nocturne F Sharp Major	Chopin
Two Mazurkas, Valse	Chopin
Fireworks	Debussy
Minstrels	Debussy
Tango	Albeniz-Godowsky
Fire Dance	Manuel da Falla

Norman Frauenheim, Pittsburgh pianist, and representative of two distinct schools of pianists, gave an enormous program in the auditorium of the Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association last night. There was a very large audience.

We have heretofore known this player as an ardent disciple of modern French and Spanish music, and hardly suspected his fine reverence for the older classics. In both the Handel and Bach there was sonority and an orderly consideration of the musical line. Mendelssohn was the transition to Schumann's romantic Fantasy, this composer's most poetic conception, which Frauenheim missed entirely. His "Prophet Bird," an encore, was more within the precincts of Schumann's thought.

An obscurity of purpose and overpedaling, which are huge assets for modern works, again marred even the Chopin, and not again until Debussy's "Fireworks" and the de-Falla "Fire Dance" did this pianist find himself. In these works he put a true abandon and vitality, a pagan joy that is most satisfying.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Man Found Murdered On Detroit Highway

DETROIT, March 5.—(AP.)—The body of an unidentified man, about 30, who had been shot to death, was found early today along a highway near Wyandotte, a suburb. He had been shot nearly a dozen times in the head, neck and shoulders. A belt buckle, engraved with the initial, "W," was the only clue to identification.

I Note—

That the suites at Spear's embody not only fine furniture value but artistic value of high merit. Let me introduce to you the astonishing range of color which can be realized if you limit your choice to one single living room suite number appearing on our floors . . .

—o—

Only with the highest fabric and workmanship could any artist use such exceptional coloring with the success that is attained when this Barrel-End Living Room Suite appears in Red Jacquard, set off with a dash of black moss edging. Three-toned Jacquard is used, but the coloring is so exquisitely done as to impress the admirer with a multitude of flame shades rising out of ash gray. On backs and reversible cushions these spirited colors form an intricate floral design against a gold-glinted background. Even in the darkest Pittsburgh room, this suite could bring the coziness of a perpetual fireside . . .

—o—

And it's exquisite in Brown Jacquard—the shades ranging from cheerful tans to deep rich walnut tones, offset again with touches of sunny taupe . . . In Blue and Taupe the Jacquard makes use of its great possibilities for contrast, blending these hues into a harmony calculated to give the living room both inspiration and hospitality. In Taupe Mohair it has both striking taupe and black and rich multi-colored cushions, to please every taste. In Black Tapestry with geometric pastel colors it is moderne in the extreme . . . If such a range of modish hues can be achieved in a single suite, you know that you must see Spear's showing of up-to-the-minute furniture. You cannot fail to be pleased!

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Rebecca Doyle Expected To Make Her Bow in Coming Season

THESE March days aren't quite sure whether they want to cling to winter or give us a foretaste of spring, do they? Yesterday pretended to be April, so we really don't know what to expect of today. Whatever it may develop into, however, we can be sure of one thing—that we're another day nearer a return of our wanderers and a resumption of at least a semblance of social activity.

I suppose, though, that we shouldn't get too optimistic about a change in affairs when the southern resorts send our folks back to us again. It is highly probable that nothing much in the way of entertaining will be done until mid-May or later. June, though, is something really to be looked forward to, and this year we can confidently expect a "little season" of greater interest than ever.

You know, already, who most of the debutantes next season will be. Many parents have announced the dates on which they will present their daughters, and others, while they are not quite so definite, have made it known that their girls are included in the debutante list. And I am still hearing rumors that this girl or that will come out, too. One whom I expect to make her bow with the next group of buds is Rebecca Doyle, eldest daughter of the Charles L. Doyles, of Sewickley.

The Doyles—that is Mr. and Mrs. Doyle and Rebecca—whose home is "Vinecare," in Woodland road, have been out in California nearly all winter, but I understand they are on their way east just now. Instead of coming directly home, though, they are going down to North Carolina for a while, I hear. The two younger girls, Virginia and Nancy, are in school.

Rebecca is a granddaughter of David B. Oliver, of Fernon avenue, North Side, for mother having been Virginia Oliver before her marriage. Nothing definite concerning the debut plans will be announced, no doubt, until the Doyles return home again.

PITTSBURGH and its suburbs seems to have been well represented yesterday down in Washington. The Horace Forbes Bakers, of Beaver road, Sewickley, were there for the inauguration and plan to stay for several days longer. And Mrs. C. A. Verner, of the Schenley Apartments, went down for the inauguration, too.

Among the other travelers are Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Blair, who are spending some time at the Cloister Hotel at Sea Island Beach, Ga. Mrs. Thomas L. Orr is at Sea Island Beach, also, I understand. And away from home, too, are the Benjamin F. Campbells, of Locust place, Sewickley, who sailed last week for Honolulu after spending some time in Los Angeles.

In the East are Mrs. Cooke Bausman and her daughter, Louise, who are staying at the Hotel St. Regis in New York. Louise has joined the group of Pittsburgh girls at Rosemary Hall, Greenwich, Conn.

THE marriage of Miss Margaret Knapp, of Crafton, and William S. Wise, of Hartford, Conn., was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Church of the Transfiguration, New York, by the rector, the Rev. R. E. A. McLaughlin. The bride wore white crepe and carried roses, orchids and lilies of the valley, while her maid of honor, Miss Wilma M. Robinson, of the East End, appeared in silver blue velvet with a cream lace coat and hat, and her flowers were American Beauty roses and violets. Fred Thompson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was best man. A reception and dinner at the Plaza Hotel followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wise will make their home in Hartford.

Taft Tells Women About Sculpturing

IN very much the same manner he employs when addressing high school students and with all the charm of personality and humor which have delighted so many thousands of students, Lorado Taft, America's noted sculptor, spoke before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning. He showed the framework and the tools which he uses in sculpturing, exhibited a model of the human skull and face muscles, which he called "the carpentry of the human figure," explained how each muscle or set of muscles works, he modeled a huge head, giving it various expressions, demonstrated the making of casts and molds and marble cutting, all the while accompanying his work with a run of lively and informative monology. And for all that his audience might easily have imagined themselves in a classroom, this great artist never "talked down." Rather, it was as if he were taking his hearers into his confidence, sharing his vast knowledge and rich experience with them and inviting them to join in his deep appreciation of beauty.

The ancient and venerable art of sculpture, he said, has always been associated with ideals of mystery, of strength, courage, beauty, grace and divinity, ideals which someone has wished to put into enduring form. His talk even took on some phases of a philosophical discourse, for he very aptly wove in a note of high optimism and courage, made a plea for help for the struggling student and summed up, using his work as an example, "We are all made of borrowed material; we play our little parts in a tiny minute of time, and in the end we all have to go back into the clay pots—but the impression of our lives remains in enduring form."

A PLEA to take Shakespeare off the pedestal and to accept him as a great genius who wrote only to interest, amuse and entertain, and never to confound, was made yesterday by Fritz Lieber, in a most delightful talk before the Women's Press Club. Mr. Leiber, who is playing at the Nixon Theater this week, gave his reasons for believing that Hamlet was sane, and that he thought normally and humanly. "We are apt to let a lot of interesting discussion make us forget that Hamlet was essentially and tremendously a human being," he said. Mr. Leiber also showed why Shylock was less the hypocrite than the other characters in "The Merchant." Much more that was interesting, such as the significance of the countries chosen by Shakespeare for his plays, was brought out in the course of his informal talk.

The active newspaper women of the city who are not members of the club were special guests, as was Miss Virginia Bronson, in private life Mrs. Leiber. Miss Helen Donnelly, a former president of the club, and Miss Gertrude Gordon, both of whom have been living in New York, were called upon for brief talks.

Good-bye Dirt

when walls are cleaned this Jiffy-Quick way

...without rubbing or scrubbing

THE MODERN housekeeper has found a quick way to get rid of dirty walls. And she does it without scrubbing.

She pours a little Old Witch in her cleaning water . . . and just washes away the dirt and grime.

No more back-breaking rubbing for her. Scrubbing is so needless.

In this enlightened day and age, it's a folly to spend time and energy on housecleaning when there are so many pleasant things to do.

What a Relief From Work

There's no excuse now to let housekeeping wear you down with endless hours of drudgery.

The next time you have a little cleaning to do, promise yourself a trial of this wonderful new discovery.

Pour a little Old Witch in a basin . . . add water and soap . . . and then watch how it works.

It's goodbye dirt when Old Witch washes the walls . . . the grease and grime just lift right off.

Use Old Witch for Everything

For cleaning stoves, bathtubs, mirrors, windows and woodwork there's nothing else quite like it.

Old Witch is a super cleanser. An ammoniated cleanser . . . in fluid form. Three times as efficient as ordinary household ammonia . . . thus good for all general cleaning.

But the real proof of the pudding is in the eating, and if you really want to know what Old Witch will do, please try it in your own home.

The writer of this advertisement has kept house for years, and you'll never find her without Old Witch in the water, when there's a cleaning job to do.

But discover it for yourself. Note particularly the way it saves your hands . . . how it keeps them smooth and soft . . . never rough and coarse-looking.

A large sized bottle costs only 35c. Remember, Old Witch is what you ask for . . . tell your grocer nothing else will do. Order some today.

"To stay slender reach for a Lucky Strike instead of a sweet when your sweet-tooth tempts you. I have practised this for years and find it a most effective way of retaining a trim figure. There is something to the toasting process which develops a flavor in Luckies that completely satisfies the desire for sweets. At the same time, toasting takes out the irritants and Luckies never affect the voice."

BILLIE BURKE

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

PRISONER GONE, WALSH GRILLED

Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh has been ordered by Judge James H. Gray to explain the transfer of a prisoner despite a habeas corpus writ.

Dominio Ravienna had been arrested and lodged in the Central Police Station. On Saturday his release was asked on a writ of habeas corpus filed in court before Judge Frank P. Patterson, who fixed yesterday afternoon at 2 p. m. as the time Walsh was to produce the prisoner in court and show cause why he should not be released.

When the hour arrived it was learned in court that the police had turned Ravienna over to the police of Allentown, Pa., on Sunday, ignoring the habeas corpus order.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Officers yesterday arrived here from Pittsburgh with Dominio Ravienna and Mrs. Victorio Stefaini, 24 and the latter's three children. Ravienna, who had been a "star boarder" at the Stefaini home, disappeared with Mrs. Stefaini and the children more than a week ago.

Stefaini, following the disappearance, complained to the police that he believed he had been given a slow poison and feared he was going to die. He recovered and accompanied the officers to Pittsburgh.

DRY AMENDMENT REPEAL IS ADVOCATED

ARTIST WANTS "PERNICIOUS" ACT ERASED

Anna Katharine Green, famous writer, author of "The Leavenworth Case" and many other notable books, now 83, who lives in Buffalo, was asked by the editors of the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest to express an opinion on the working of prohibition and a means of achieving a suitable substitute for it.

Mrs. Rohlfs—her married name—was not able to do so, she said, since she believed a commentary called for the formulation of a legal formula as a substitute for the present prohibition laws. She asked her husband, Charles Rohlfs, member of the Royal Society of Arts, London, artist, designer of furniture and one-time actor with Edwin Booth, to answer in her stead.

Mr. Rohlfs declined to beg the greater question either for himself or Mrs. Rohlfs, as to what the nation really should do ultimately. He declared:

"There can be but one effective substitute for prohibition, for the cause of our trouble in the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the enactment of the Volstead act.

"The only effective way out of our trouble is to amend the amendment out of existence and with it the Volstead act. Any effort made to do less than this will be futile and without value, it seems to us.

"This is not a matter for speculation or debate. For we know what we know. A major operation is in order and not a palliative. A palliative would be an evasion, and an evasion would weaken the cause. Why, then, ignore the fact that there is but one way to meet a very serious condition?

"Therefore wipe out legally this pernicious amendment and its accompanying act. And then on a clean slate write the will of the people in the way of a salutary, temperance-encouraging law. A law that the people could live up to like good citizens. Not a law under the benign influence of 'the freest people on earth' are taxed $60,000,000 a year for its muderous enforcement."

Other opinions on the prohibition situation, and on the conduct of the Hearst-$25,000 temperance prize contest are subjoined:

Frank X. Schwab

Frank X. Schwab, mayor of Buffalo:

"I am glad to see that the Hearst newspapers have undertaken such a progressive step to determine the concensus of opinion of the American people on prohibition and consider the best method to employ in either repealing or modifying it.

"Personally, I believe that nothing can be done about it until men face the problems squarely. A man cannot honestly approach a voting booth in a drunken condition and vote for a dry candidate.

"For that matter a senator or a congressman or anybody else cannot preach dry doctrines while he indulges in liquor.

"In a temperance plan such as is advocated by Mr. Hearst, government agencies could better enforce a law that would have the approbation of the majority of the American people. No one wants to see the old saloon back. Still, no one wants to feel he is a lawbreaker every time he indulges in a glass of beer.

"Bring back 2.75 per cent beer, 7 or 8 per cent wines, put them in grocery stores—or government stores, or wherever else they are desired; sell liquors legitimately only in government stores under direct supervision of competent enforcement officers; put teeth in the enforcement laws—and I believe the nation can solve the problem to everyone's satisfaction.

James W. Higgins

James W. Higgins, police commissioner of Buffalo:

"Mr. Hearst's proposal to find a substitute for prohibition that will bring about enforceable temperance conditions has my unqualified indorsement.

"From the standpoint of a police official with 25 years' experience, I can say without fear of contradiction that prohibition has caused more wholesale slaughteers, more ruthless killings than any other condition in the history of this country."

Buick, Auto Pioneer, Dying in Poverty

DETROIT, March 5.—(INS.)—David Buick, 74, founder of the Buick Motor Car Company and whose signature appears on the radiators of more than 2,000,000 automobiles, was believed dying of cancer in Harper Hospital here today.

He has lived for years in obscurity and comparative poverty. He lost his holdings in the mammoth automobile concerns before they brought wealth. Thin, emaciated and gray-haired, the aged motor car pioneer has been unable himself to afford an automobile.

Since 1927 he has been employed as an instructor in the Detroit School of Trades.

McKees Rocks Dry Defendants Held

"McKees Rocks Day" in the United States Commissioner's court today crowded Federal Building corridors. Sixty defendants, arrested in prohibition agent liquor raids on February 6 and 7, marched in with bondsmen and witnesses. On February 6 the agents made 21 raids. The next day five additional places were raided. All were expected to make bail pending grand jury action.

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

among the first in the organized groups to come out for downward revision on earned incomes. The Variety Club of Pittsburgh, representing the stage folk in this district, formed a special committee and circulated petitions.

President John H. Harris yesterday appointed the following committee to circulate the petitions: John T. McGreevey, M. Simon, David Brown, Morty Henderson, Harry Harris, Harry Millstein, William Lai, Harold C. Lund, R. R. Ruebottom, A. H. Passarell, Allen Barkley, George Harrison, George Lai and Jack White. This committee, heading the list of signers, soon had many names of prominent player folk and musicians in Pittsburgh this week upon their list.

A statement issued in behalf of the stage people is much to the point. It stated:

WAGE-EARNERS HIT

"We who are wage-earners deriving our incomes practically entirely from our labors and our talents in the musical, theatrical and moving picture professions, believe that the present law works a hardship upon all wage-earners.

"We believe that in principle it is unfair and undemocratic to levy a tax upon the moneys which men and women receive for their daily work.

"We are conscious of the fact, that the government must have revenues to administer its affairs, but we feel that the burden of this taxation should be lifted from those whose income is earned and placed where it rightfully belongs."

WOMEN TAKE PART

Today the Variety Club invited all musicians, motion picture people, actors, artists and other wage earners connected with the theatrical profession to visit the club rooms in the William Penn Hotel to sign petitions.

Women in all professions are united in asking for a lower income tax. A survey of the women in the professional field revealed that there are hundreds who have incomes exceeding $3,000 a year. Not a few have incomes from $5,000 to $10,000 a year and there are some who have still higher incomes.

Women secretaries and high-class stenographers almost all pay income taxes. Saleswomen in stores do not escape and buyers and women specialists in mercantile concerns have a heavy assessment from the government. While the professional women are organized, there is a large class that belong to the clerical group who have no spokesman. The latter were alert to seize upon the opportunity to circulate Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph petitions and enlist their fellow workers to sign.

LABOR PLANS ACTION

The great mass of workers in so-called "white collar" jobs, composing the men and women in clerical forces of large concerns, joined enthusiastically in affixing their signatures to the petitions of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes.

Organized labor in many of its divisions has the matter under consideration. With labor unions, action in many cases will be in the form of a reaffirmation of former protests against taxes on earned incomes.

Bar Vote to Name Choice for Judge

Members of the Allegheny County bar admitted to practice in Orphans' Court will hold an election Saturday, March 16, to pick a candidate for appointment to the vacancy left by the death of Judge Jacob J. Miller. Gov. John S. Fisher has asked for an expression of the bar members' choice. Candidates must have indorsement of 10 members of the bar before their names are placed on the ballot. Newspapermen will conduct the tally.

BORKOSKI CASE UP NEXT WEEK

The alleged slaying of John Borkoski, Tyre farmer, by three former coal and iron policemen, will come before the March grand jury next Tuesday, District Attorney S. H. Gardner announced today.

Gardner indicated that the Borkoski case would come up in regular order and that there was no intention of speeding up trial of the three men held by a coroner's jury in Borkoski's death.

The three are W. J. Lyster, M. P. Watts and Frank Slapakis. The coroner's records will be presented to the jury.

Vets Seeking Funds To Complete Home

A campaign for funds to complete the "Pennsylvania building" at the Eaton Rapids, Mich., home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was launched by the Allegheny County Council of that organization at its monthly meeting last night. The home is for the maintenance of widows and children of war veterans.

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure is still influencing the weather over most of the country, resulting in much cloudiness and rain. There are two centers of disturbance this morning, the one over Eastern Tennessee and Western North Carolina, lowest barometer 29.28 inches, at Knoxville and Asheville; the other over Southern Alberta, lowest barometer 29.28 inches, at Medicine Hat.

The eastern disturbance was centered over Arkansas yesterday morning. It produced heavy rains over all the eastern Gulf states and lighter amounts northward over the Middle Atlantic states to New England.

There is a ridge of high pressure separating the two low pressure areas, which is causing moderately cold weather over the Mississippi Valley states.

THOMAS PATTERSON, BAR DEAN, DIES AFTER STROKE

Thomas Patterson, dean of the Allegheny County Bar and one of the foremost figures in Pittsburgh's legal history, died after a stroke last night in his home at Shields, Pa.

Noted as one of the country's great lawyers, Mr. Patterson had figured as counsel in many outstanding cases involving corporate and business litigation. During his 47-year professinal career, he had sat at the advocates' table with the ablest legal talent in America.

Never much in the public eye, Mr. Patterson nevertheless exercised a large influence in public affairs. The span of his career covered the days of the Carnegies and Fricks and other industrial giants and he, too, had a share in building Pittsburgh's progress.

FRIEND OF KNOX

Mr. Patterson took a quiet part in politics and long was a close friend of the late Senator Philander C. Knox. But it was in law that he won his chief fame. In 1904 he was named a government delegate to the universal congress of lawyers and jurists at St. Louis. From 1906 to 1907 he served as president of the Pennsylvania State Bar Association and later he was elected president of the Allegheny County Bar Association.

Born in Harlem, Washington County, Pa., in 1856, Mr. Patterson received his preparatory education at Ayres Latin School, Pittsburgh, and the Western University of Pennsylvania, now the University of Pittsburgh. He was admitted to the Allegheny County Bar in 1881. In 1895 he assisted in organizing the Pittsburgh Law School, now a part of the University of Pittsburgh, and 1906 he was appointed a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, of which he was chairman for 20 years.

The high regard in which Mr. Patterson was held by other attorneys was manifested at a dinner given at the Longue Vue Club in December, at which he and Attorney Edwin Whittier Smith were honored as the two most eminent members of the Allegheny County Bar.

LONG ACTIVE

A robust physique enabled Mr. Patterson to continue active in legal affairs until a short time before his death. Stricken with influenza at Christmas time, he later suffered an attack of pneumonia, but rallied and recovered sufficiently to walk around in his home. But last Saturday he suffered the stroke which led to his death.

Mr. Patterson was a member of the Shields Presbyterian Church and also a member of the Duquesne Club, the Allegheny Country Club, the Edgeworth Country Club, the Oakmont Country Club, the University Club and the Pennsylvania Society of the Cincinnati, limited to members whose ancestors lived in America before the Revolution. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Harriett Wilson Patterson; a son, the Rev. Robert Leet Patterson, both of whom are hurrying home from England, and a sister, Mrs. James A. McClurg, of Edgeworth.

Attorney John S. Wendt announced the death of Mr. Patterson in United States District Court. Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, presiding, announced that when court adjourns today it would be in memory of the bar leader.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Get a bottle today, at any drug store, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes, such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services.

We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

LEIBER'S HAMLET REVEALS RICHNESS OF ROMANCE UNDER TRAGEDY

By GEORGE SEIBEL

LITTLE more than a year ago Robert Mantell, on a Saturday night, appeared as Hamlet on the stage of the Nixon Theater. Weary unto death, but happy in the flush of his great triumph, the old hero dragged himself across the street to his hotel. That was the last time I saw Mantell alive—"the rest is silence." But last night, on the same stage, appeared a new Hamlet, one who plucked his first laurels with Mantell, a very Fortinbras on whom one might prophesy the election would fall.

Fritz Leiber was Mantell's leading man until about 10 years ago, and now he seems destined to take the honored place held so long by his former chief. He is young—he is intelligent—he has a stately presence and a commanding voice—why should he not carry the banner of Shakespeare down the coming years?

Leiber's Hamlet is the Hamlet of romance, rather than the Hamlet of philosophy. He has a heart, and he is moved by that more than he is "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought." There can be no doubt that he loves Ophelia; there can be no doubt that his picturesque plottings are the outgrowth of his imaginative brain.

Such a Hamlet is somewhat of a novelty. Booth was the essence of melancholy; Sothern was of quite a humorous bent; Forbes-Robertson was a thinker; John Barrymore was "the glass of fashion and the mould of form." There are so many sides to this character of Shakespeare's pet tragedy that it is possible for a score of Hamlets to play the part each with different emphasis, without sacrificing its validity.

TRUE TO TRADITION

In all its main outlines the Hamlet of Leiber is true to tradition. He has no innovations of business—nothing that is done for startling effect. Like the honest Ghost, he is an honest Hamlet. His readings are at all times rich in poetic feeling and clear in emphasis. Some of the other players also gave good readings—among these Hart Jenks as Horatio and Redmond Flood as the Ghost.

Then there was a very satisfactory piece of comedy by Robert Strauss as the First Gravedigger, while the Polonius of Philip Quin had moments of garrulous senility.

Harriet Russell was an appealing Ophelia, but her mad scene was pitched in a minor key that lost some of its poignancy. Virginia Bronson, on the other hand, seemed more royal than maternal, until the closet scene. Being married to that most impossible of Shakespeare's stage villains, King Claudius, much must be forgiven her.

NEW STYLE STAGING

The production was done in the new style—what is known as "drapes"—somewhat of a return to the Elizabethan method. When Shakespeare is treated as humanly as Leiber treats him, there is less of the illusion sacrificed than by the elaborate back drops and painted settings to which the tragedians of the past were addicted.

Much depends upon the stage management, which must be swift and natural. It met the requirements last night; in fact, the last scene, the combat, was rather too swift even for poetic justice. It took on the aspect of a massacre rather than the dignified close of a tragedy.

Another point that should be corrected is the purposeless loitering of the players in "The Mousetrap," after the King's departure. Are they waiting for their pay? They have just seen the court thrown into confusion by their drama, and it is natural that they should beat a quick retreat to let the storm blow over.

But these are minor flaws in a performance that is impressive and affecting as a whole. Leiber's Hamlet has youth and romance and poetry and dramatic fire. He shows again how Shakespeare's torch is passed on from hand to hand down the ages—how one actor follows another in unbroken succession over the stage of the world. Little more than a year ago Robert Mantell appeared in this same tragedy in this same theater. He is gone, but Leiber stands in his place. "They have their exits and their entrances." Shakespeare remains.

Tonight "The Taming of the Shrew" will be played in modern dress.

Sheridan Has Mystery Film

"The Last Warning," talking picture, opened a three-day engagement in the Sheridan Square yesterday. Laura La Plante is the star. It is a photoplay of mystery. The cast includes Montague Love, Roy D'Arcy, Margaret Livingston, John Boles, Bert Roach and Burr McIntosh. The action takes place in a haunted theater. Other talkies include Jack North and "Mind Your Business." The stage vaudeville had Zimmy, the legless swimmer, as the feature. In a tank of water he showed how to swim with arms only. Otis Mitchell and his Maryland Singers and Collins and Reed also were on the stage. News pictures completed the bill.

Laura La Plante

"Ginger Girls" Academy Show

Harry Clexx and Fritzie White are featured in "Ginger Girls," burlesque show in the Academy. Vinnie Phillips, ingenue, who dances, also is prominent. Freddie Walker, Al Baker and Tom Clarkson are associated with Clexx in the comedy scenes. Miss White is an agile dancer. Ritzie Phillips leads several ensembles on the stage and runway, with a specialty demonstration or two. The dances of the entertainer, billed only as "She," are listed as an extra feature.

DOCTOR HAS SECRET IN PENN

"The Doctor's Secret," current Penn photoplay, is not of the stuff that the usual screen dramas are made of. Based on Sir James M. Barrie's "Half an Hour," it has no extravagant scenic settings. And there is no hero left for the heroine at the final fadeout—only a sort of beastly husband. Yet, partly because the lack of these things; partly because of the Barrie plot and partly because of the cast, it is a good drama.

In making the production, the movies have crowded a lot of talk into this Barrie film. It is an all-talkie. The story has to do with an aristocratic woman, who, a half hour before dinner, leaves her husband for another man. She is going off to Egypt with this man. He leaves her for a few minutes to hail a taxicab. A truck runs him down—kills him.

The players—including Ruth Chatterton, H. B. Warner and Robert Edeson—serve the drama well. They are there chiefly to act and not to dazzle with a lure of a shoulder or a gallant gesture. And they do. But at the end, there is a gallant gesture on the part of the doctor. You'll understand when you see the photoplay.

Teddy Joyce and his band open the stage show, "Varieties of 1929" with a novelty concerning "I'll Get By, if I Have You." And they get by with the applause, as does the rest of the show. Johnny Perkins, The Lucky Boys, Kathryn Lewis, Cunningham and Clemens and the Gould Girls are featured. A violin solo by Elias Breeskin and a Dick Liebert organologue are included on the bill.

BELLE BAKER IS DAVIS FEATURE

The best thing in the Davis vaudeville bill this week is the blackface act of Glenn and Jenkins, who are "Working for the Railroad," and are very comical, besides introducing a musical shoeshine. Belle Baker is the featured performer, however, and proved as popular as ever, both in her sentimental and her character ballads. Her act is somewhat long and somewhat broad—there is one verse of the Italian song that's in very bad taste.

Ruiz and Bonita are a pair of Spanish dancers who closed the show with a whirlwind toreador dance worth waiting for. The Colleano troupe of acrobats also give a thrilling performance—especially Maurice with his double somersault.

AN ASTONISHING STAR

Fred Jarvis and Freddie Harrison have a sketch called "Elevated Love," which has some amusing lines and introduces Sonny Jarvis in a clever dance specialty. Kaye and Sayre are a pair of dancers who have with them a little star that outshines themselves—and who ought to have his name on the bill like Rin-Tin-Tin.

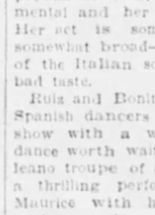
Frank Wilson is a trick cyclist of extraordinary skill and Billy Hallen, with his restless hat, tells some capital tales. The one about the man who choked on a piece of horsemeat when somebody said "Whoa" isn't hard to swallow—and the stuttering hat makes it all the funnier.

Comedians Top Bill in Harris

Comedy is prominent in the three-day vaudeville bill current in the Harris. Ted and Al Waldman, blackface comedians, spill a lot of it from a harmonica and a jewsharp. They also pass along some funny chatter. Kraft and La Mont present an act, "Whoopee," which includes melody and fun. Irland, Lenoir and Lui, offer a dance presentation, "Rhythmic Moments." Perez and LaFleur are in for a novelty presentation.

The photoplay is "The Rainbow." The cast features Lawrence Gray and Dorothy Sebastian. The story has to do with a lick promoter stranded with his gang in one of the forsaken "ghost" towns that dot the West as heritages from the old gold strike days. The picture ingredients include romance, melodrama and comedy. The production is presented with sound synchronization and music.

The Harris bill also includes sound screen specialty acts, news pictures and an organlogue.



Dorothy Sebastian

GIVING LIFE TO CHARACTERS -:- IN -:- NEW AMUSEMENT PROGRAMS

Catherine Willard has a prominent role in "Young Love," comedy starring Dorothy Gish in Pitt.

Fritz Leiber as Hamlet in the opening play of Shakespearean repertoire in Nixon for week.

Ann Pennington, dancer, is featured in "Scandals," George White Revue presented in Alvin.

Belle Baker, singing comedienne, is headlined in the Davis program of two-a-day vaudeville.

John Loder has a romantic role in "The Doctor's Secret," screen feature showing in Penn.

Lina Basquette is presented in a prominent part in "The Younger Generation," Stanley.

Powell Makes Enright Debut

Dick Powell, a likeable fellow, is making his debut as master of ceremonies on the Enright stage this week. He leads a stage band in three or so numbers, sings a song and introduces various specialty entertainers featured on the bill. These include the Runaway Four, clowning acrobatics, who do catch themselves a lot of laughs; Stadler and Rose, capable dancers, and Mildred La Salle, who sings about "Old Man Sunshine" and another number. There also is an ensemble of girls, known as the Enright Rockets. At the end, when the curtain drops, it leaves Mr. Powell smiling the smile of one who knows his show has met the approval of its audience.

Dorothy Mackaill

The screen offers one of those Jack Mulhall-Dorothy Mackaill affairs. It is a romance of a sort, concerning a rich girl and a dapper chauffeur. There's not so much to the picture story and the players aren't called upon to display much dramatic talent.

TWO COOGANS ON STANLEY STAGE

With Jackie Coogan making good as a stage performer and Jean Hersholt giving a wonderfully human impression in a heart-searching role in "The Younger Generation," talk film, the Stanley this week presents a most satisfactory bill. Jackie's act is introduced with a screen view of effective bits from various pictures in which he has appeared in the past nine years, concluding with his last, "The Bugle Call," terminating his career as a child actor. Jackie is now an oldster of 14.

In his case this means that he has acquired the poise of a veteran actor and when the screen, Jackie disappears, there stands a miniature of what the well dressed man should wear, silk topper and all. With perfect composure he introduces himself with a few humorous quips after which he calls for his daddie, Jack Coogan, attired just as his son is. Their act is humor and dancing, at which each is expert.

HERSHOLT IS HUMAN

"The Younger Generation" is a tale of a Jewish family, in which the father is just a likeable innocent, with no business ability, whose income from the pushcart he neglects is helped by the sale of newspapers by his son, destined to become the real business man of the family.

In his characterization of the kindly old man, who knows dollars are no good unless they buy happiness, Hersholt moves into the rank of Emil Jannings for his art in the expression of poignancy of emotion. Ricardo Cortez is the steely son and Lina Basquette does well as the daughter. The overture introduces a song by Carlo Benetti and dances by a group of girls.

Segrid Onegin In Concert Tonight

Mme. Sigrid Onegin, contralto, will give the seventh May Beegle concert in Syria Mosque tonight. Her program opens with Meyerbeer's aria from "The Huguenots," "Nobles seigneurs salut," followed by two numbers by Mozart, "Hallelujah" and Warnung," and other works, including two songs by Harvey B. Gaul, "Matthew, Mark, Luke and John," and "While the West Is Paling," with the composer at the piano. The closing number will be Arditi's "Bolero."

Prague Teachers Sing Tomorrow

The Prague Teachers' Chorus of 60 voices will give a concert in Carnegie Music Hall Wednesday night. This chorus sang in Pittsburgh in January and is returning by request with an entirely different program. Two numbers to be included by request of their local countrymen are "Seventy Thousand" and St. Venceslavus' "Our King."

"YOUNG LOVE" IS PITT PLAY

By CLARENCE ⁻ GRUNDISH

"Young Love" is being presented on the Pitt stage this week. It is a drama about sophisticated love—or perhaps it isn't love at all. And—on second thought—maybe it isn't so much drama either.

It is presented by a company of four players, headed by the erstwhile movie star, Dorthy Gish, who has returned to the legitimate stage in this production. It is presented well.

But the theme—ah, there's the rub. It has to do with two young sweethearts, who want to know all about marriage before the bells toll. With the rise of the first curtain comes the dawn and the fact that they had spent the night together. The boy, going to a $50 a week job in Africa, wants the girl to marry him. She hesitates—she wants to prove their love.

HEROINE EXPERIMENTS

"What is the good living in an age of enlightenment if you aren't enlightened?" she inquires. And she sets about using some of that enlightenment. She devises an experiment, which involves her and the boy with a young husband and wife, who are their hosts. She lives up to her part of the bargain. The boy doesn't. It all turns into a rather awful mess. The young fellow doesn't want her. He's going to Africa alone. And the wife talks about divorcing her husband.

But the boy comes back. The heroine Gish bawls and fumbles with her handkerchief. "What the—are you crying for?" he asks her. "I'm so happy," she sobs.

The production is heralded as a sophisticated comedy. It has comedy all right—there's laughter in many of the lines. The lines also are outspoken, frank—sometimes a bit daring; other times merely brazen.

As intimated before the small cast is highly capable. With dignity and ability the Pittsburgh actress, Catherine Willard, carries her role of Nancy Bird, the wife. Tom Douglas, with a dash of recklessness which comes with youth, modulates his profanity well, and makes an impetuous hero. Murry Kinnell registers sucessfully as the husband, Miss Gish acts her part well.

All we can say in closing is that if this is sophisticated love and drama both young women and the stage will be just as well off if they aren't so very sophisticated. And in reference to the play, we may declare—just as Nancy did when she found the heroine had an affair with her husband—someone ought to be concerned over all this.

Gold Rush on Aldine Screen

Gold seekers stampede across the Aldine screen this week and bring the end of Spanish rule to California. It all happens in the photoplay, "Tide of Empire." And with the gold seekers come hard riding, lawless men . . . and a handsome stranger.

The story—that of the California gold rush of '49—has a lot to do with this stranger, played by George Duryea . . . a lot to do with him and the fair and proud Spanish heroine, played well by Renee Adoree. In the end, Mr. Duryea not only finds gold, but finds love.

Renee Adoree.

However, much happens before that. You witness the peace and galety of the Spanish communi., see a gala fiesta and witness the discovery of gold at Sutter's Creek.

TREK TO GOLD FIELDS

Then comes birds-eye views of the wagon caravans trekking to the gold lands. Boom towns rise over night. Lawless men ride over the land. Wells and Fargo form their express company to take gold shipments back to civilization. Then comes a bandit raid and some thrill-climaxing heroics, with the hero saving the heroine's brother from a hanging.

If you like romance, adventure, Renee Adoree and a touch of history you will find all in abundance in "Tide of Empire." The cast also includes George Fawcett and William Collier, Jr.

Sound screen specialty acts include an entertaining Gus Edwards song revue in technicolor and the singing comedienne, Janet Adair.

GEORGE WHITE'S "SCANDALS" AN AMUSING EXPOSITION OF NOVELTY AND FUN

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

WHEN George White's "Scandals" comes to town, as it has come now, in the ninth "edition" of this conspicuous revue, to the Alvin, where it opened last night, much is expected in the way of ornate equipment, comedy, dancing, song, novelties and pretty girls. The producer knows what is expected and knows that the verdict, predicated on the high standard set by previous editions of his show, might be possible unfavorable comparison with past efforts, so he anticipates this with an opening chorus in which the girls tell the audience they know the offering will be pronounced "Not As Good As Last Year."

"Well," they ask," are you as good as last year?" The ground thus laid for an alibi is unnecessary, as the "Scandals" certainly is just as good as a show as ever—even better. Much was expected of the production and much was supplied, all lively, entertaining, speedily moving from scene to scene and staged with excellent taste.

COMPANY TALENTED

It is a talented company that makes the present "Scandals" a model which future editions will have trouble in making the grade of "as-good-as-last-year." It includes Ann Pennington, dancing sprite; Willie and Eugene Howard, comedians; Tom Patricola, eccentric dancer and buffoon; Harry Richman, singing comedian; Frances Williams, blonde, vocalizing and stepping comedienne, in the principal parts, as well as numerous specialists, including the Kim City Quartet, Bernice and Emily, dancing sisters, Rose Perfect, singing the highest note in the show, Russell Market dancing girls, a dozen of them, and others.

Willie Howard leads in the comedy and his droll eries prove as laughable and refreshing as though funny Willie were here for the first time. He appears with his brother, Eugene, who sings better than Willie, but not so loudly, in a scene in which they emerge from a reincarnation hospital in "Second Childhood" and carry the audience back to the days when they were not the veterans they now are. After this, the second number of the bill, which has 13 scenes in each of the two acts, the Howard brothers are frequently seen and never become tiresome.

RICHMAN A FAVORITE

Harry Richman is equally prominent and his happy manner of singing with ingratiating effect made him a strong favorite with the audience. Tom Patricola's funny dancing helps to make the show peppy and Ann Pennington scores in stepping also. A real hit is achieved by Bernice and Emily, who have perfectly synchronized and made exceedingly graceful a dance in which high kicking, bends, back-springs and other acrobatic movements are timed precisely. The dancing novelty of the show is "Pickin' Cotton," a delineation of jerky but rhythmic movement, introduced vocally by Frances Williams and illustrated in steps by the chorus, Ann Pennington and Tom Patricola.

The program is much too long to detail all of the amusing things it contains. Let it suffice to state fimally, that they are good, the finales being especially striking, that to the first act being a tribute to various composers climaxed in a grand bestowal of a wreath to the memory of Victor Herbert.

Slayer of Husband Gets 5 to 10 Years

GETTYSBURG, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen W. Elker, 19, convicted of slaying her husband, Percy D. Elker, was sentenced by Judge D. O. McPherson to serve from five to 10 years in the Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia. She was convicted of murder in the second degree on August 30, 1928. Mrs. Elker claimed her husband was shot accidentally while endeavoring to take a shotgun from her.

20 Garages, 7 Autos Destroyed by Fire

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT NEWS

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THERE are in Allegheny County some 2,800 musicians, who are casting querulous ears and eyes on the talkies, which bring music from invisible and distant orchestras. Whether this innovation in the end will decrease the demand for the men who live by selling their musical talents is a common subject when after the theater or the dance is over, the boys sit down to their midnight or early morning sandwich and coffee.

* * *

The pessimists among them see a positive slump, while optimists say that the talkies will increase the amusement field generally, inculcate a greater desire for music, and consequently will enlarge rather than diminish the vineyard wherein the musician labors.

AT PRESENT a musician of ability does nicely. The hours of various entertainments allow him to do several jobs in a day. Thus he moves from a restaurant closing at 8 or 9 p. m. to a club which begins its program around 9:30 p. m. A musician working, say, from 9:30 to 1 p. m., can gather in somewhere in the neighborhood of $50 a week, with the rest of his day free for giving lessons or taking on another position.

An informant reports that the field of saxophone players is a little overcrowded. The saxophone is termed by musicians to be the easiest instrument to master. This, coupled with the fact that no modern orchestra is complete without at least two of the moaning instruments, makes this division of the art an attractive one to the neophyte who eventually must be locked in the attic so the other members of the family can get a modicum of sleep.

The bass fiddle, by the way, shows some signs of walking toward the museums housing articles of antiquity no longer in use. In its place is the bass horn. Curiously, some owners of bass horns insure them against theft. The actuaries' figures concerning bass horns should be interesting.

THE address at the top of the letter is what is known as a natural. It is 210 Petroleum street, Oil City, Pa. The context decreases the enthusiasm somewhat as Jane C. Rairigh chides Sidewalks over something it would take too long to explain. At any rate, I'm wrong again. Chief item in the letter: ". . . and so you fixed it up and shattered my opinion of you—your work until then had been entertaining and sympathetic and real."

And, of course, any answer to that is entirely impossible.

Chief George Murren, of the county detective force, has a letter at hand from a young lady in Missouri who wants to know how to become a detective. There is no mystery in the fact that young woman hails from Missouri, but just why she selected Allegheny County as the place to be shown is a mystery to Chief Murren, considering that between here and Missouri there are, one hazards, other sources of information.

THERE is a law that a bank depositor must within 14 years make an appearance at the bank, make a deposit or withdrawal, communicate with the bank or see his deposit forfeited to the state. It is a measure, not for revenue, but one to keep a bank's books in good condition.

A Pittsburgh banker noted an account running perilously close to the forfeit time. In order to protect the depositor the banker made a deposit of $1 to protect an account of $900, which, without the deposit, might have gone to the state. A few months later the depositor called for his money and the banker explained how he had placed $1 to the long absent client's account and wondered ever so casually if the depositor would return the dollar.

The depositor was in no such mood, so for saving a man some $900 it cost the banker 100 pretty pennies.

Not only a beauty recognized by artists, but a society girl of charm—Miss Wills.

AS AN ARTIST
Miss Wills finds pleasure in art and spends some of her time sketching.

ON THE COURT
And on the court she excelled for many years.

IS HELEN WILLS TYPICAL U. S. GIRL?

Are you helping the Sun-Telegraph find the Typical American Girl in Pittsburgh? Perhaps she lives around the corner from your home, goes to your school or belongs to your club. Perhaps she works in your office.

No one really knows who the "Typical American Girl" is. For the country-wide quest to find her has just begun.

Some have suggested that Helen Wills, champion of the tennis courts, might typify the girl whom the Sun-Telegraph is seeking. So photographers have caught Miss Wills in various poses to prove that she is very much at home in a formal gown, as in her white tennis costume and as adept with a brush or pencil as with a tennis racket.

QUEST NATIONWIDE

Offhand it would seem a hopeless task to find the Typical American Girl among millions. But it is not a hopeless task and the Sun-Telegraph, co-operating with 16 other great newspapers all over the country and also with Smart Set Magazine, has to find her.

The plan of operation is simple. In this region, the Sun-Telegraph will choose the girl, who, in the opinion of a competent jury of men and women, best typifies the young American girl of this part of the country. At the same time the 16 other newspapers will be doing the same job. Then the 17 candidates selected will be sent to New York for a glorious week of recreation and entertainment and while they are there, a jury of nationally known men and women will choose from among them, the girl who in their opinion most adequately typifies all that is best and finest in young American womanhood. She will be hailed as the Typical American Girl and $5,000 will be given to her.

ENDS MARCH 31.

The search for the typical girl started on March 1 and ends at midnight, on March 31.

We would like to make it the job of every reader of the Sun-Telegraph to help find the Typical American Girl. This is how you can help: Send to the Typical American Girl Editor of this newspaper, a photograph and full description of the girl you wish to nominate. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph and by a description giving her age, weight, height and complexion and also her social, business and athletic activities.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture, popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the girl who best represents the Typical American Girl. As used herein, the term, "Typical American Girl," means one who is representative of young American womanhood in character, intellect, appearance, etc. The quest will commence March 1 and end at midnight, March 31.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York, at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select each newspaper's regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor, of the nearest co-operating newspaper.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor who will notify her if she has been selected.

6. The girl chosen as the regional winner, will be sent under proper chaperonage, to New York, at Smart Set's call.

7. The minimum age is 17.

8. In the event that the decision of the National committee of judges results in a tie vote, the full award of $5,000 will be given to each tying candidate.

9. The decision of the judges will be final. No relative or member of the household or anyone connected with this publication, or with participating newspapers, can enter the quest.

10. The Quest Editor of each co-operating newspaper will organize a process for eliminating candidates whereby each week his local committee will investigate the most likely candidates. At the end of the quest, the local committee will make a final choice by ballot.

RADIO TALK GIVEN BY WALSKA

Thousands of Pittsburgh school children last night heard Mme. Ganna Walska, opera singer, broadcasting an address over Station WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., on the merits of the flag contest, sponsored by the United States Flag Association, in co-operation with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers.

She dwelt on the wonderful travel opportunities in store for the contest winners and promised to entertain them personally when they come to Paris. She said:

TELLS OF CONTEST

"I am very pleased indeed to be able to speak this evening to the boys and girls of the United States. I want to tell them about the First Annual Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association, which should be of immense interest to them, and which has interested me ever since I learned of it.

Ganna Walska

"Some of you have already read about this contest in your local papers, and therefore you already know that two boys and two girls who receive the highest ratings in this contest are going to be given a free trip around the world next summer by Mr. Hearst and also that 36 other boys and girls will receive as their reward a trip to the eastern part of the United States, where they will be shown all the places famous in American history.

"It seems to me that this is a very unusual contest because every boy and girl who enters it will gain a great deal even though they do not win a prize.

IMPRESSIONS LASTING

"Those 36 boys and girls who will be able to make this historic tour through the East will gain valuable impressions which will last them throughout their lives. Think how their interest in American history will become real and vivid when they visit our national capital at Washington, and Mount Vernon, where Washington lived; when they stand on the battlefields of Valley Forge, Concord and Lexington and Gettysburg where the Union was saved and where Lincoln delivered his never-to-be-forgotten address.

"And then there will be the four fortunate youngsters who will sail all around the world to look upon the art treasures, the historic spots, and the natural beauty and grandeur of the European and Asiatic countries.

EMPHASISES MUSIC

"There is one other thing that I would like to emphasize, and that is that I hope those who are lucky enough to win the trip around the world will be sure to hear the music of the countries which they visit. Music is the only language that is understood by all nations.

"I am happy to announce that I am making arrangements to entertain the winners of the around-the-world trip when they are in Paris. They will be my guests in my Paris home and I shall do all I can to help them appreciate that city by personally making them acquainted with its music, art and historic monuments."

'PHONE CHIEF ROTARY TALKER

"All telephone girls are 'Rotarians' at heart, because they give service above self," Larry McLure, manager of the Lehigh exchange, South Hills branch of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, told members of the Dormont Rotary Club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting held in the Dormont Masonic Hall, West Liberty avenue, yesterday. Mr. McLure, a member of that club, was the principal speaker, and spoke on "How an employer should treat its employes."

"The Three Musketeers of Braddock" entertained with several selections, violins and a ukulele.

A committee was appointed to investigate the aiding of crippled children of their districts, and report back to the club at its next week's meeting. Last week, James Marshall, of the Butler (Pa.) Rotary Club, and a member of the Pennsylvania State Society for Crippled Children, outlined the plans of the society and the work in furnishing clinic accommodations for crippled children. The Dormont Rotary Club is anxious for better co-operation between its club and the state society.

Thirty-three members and six dinner guests were present. "Cap" C. F. Lauer, president, presided.

BROOKLINE TO PICNIC JUNE 13

Friends and neighbors of members of the Brookline Boosters Association are invited to attend its meeting to be held in the Brookline G. B. U. Hall, Brookline boulevard, tonight. Moving pictures will be one of the features, cards will be played and refreshments will be served.

The general chairman of the association's picnic committee advises that the annual kiddies' day picnic for the children of the community will be discussed and plans made accordingly. Thursday, June 13, was set at their last meeting for the picnic day to be held in West View Park.

Sid Roy in Europe

NEW YORK, March 5.

It sure did seem strange to hear a presidential speech on something besides prosperity. Mr. Hoover hadn't been sworn in three minutes before he waded into a topic that Mr. Coolidge had never mentioned in six year. That was prohibition.

And judges, senators, governors, congressmen and party leaders hadn't been to their homes or hotels three minutes till they waded into some old corn (pre-war) to kinder keep the chill off them after that rain.

And over many a clinking glass the general comment was, "That was a fine speech of Hoover's, and right to the point, too."

Yours, WILL.

P. S.—Mr. Coolidge passed through here this evening, and I believe I know what that quiet grin was about.

Horses Dislike Camels

Meditations of a Wife

The Acid Test

A MAN doesn't particularly mind getting engaged these days, provided the girl understands clearly that it is not to go as far as a wedding.

There are a hundred ways of killing love, but the most modern and popular method appears to be by suffocating it to death with the lethal gas of continuous kissing.

* * *

Some day there will be a great monument erected in honor of the man who comes home promptly, every night, in time for dinner. It will be dedicated to "The Unknown Husband."

HELEN ROWLAND

A wife is never so much surprised to discover that her husband is flirting with another woman, as she is to discover that any other woman should find him sufficiently romantic to flirt with.

The "eternal triangle" is out of date, these days. As soon as the woman discovers it, she promptly turns it into a foursome.

The acid test of love is not your willingness to go through purgatory for a man before marriage, but your willingness to go through poverty with him, after marriage.

When a love affair turns out unhappily, at twenty-five, a man closes his eyes and exclaims, "That's the last!" At forty, he merely lifts his eyebrows and murmurs, "Next?"

* * *

Marriage and the artistic temperament are the oil and water which Satan and Cupid sometimes tempt a woman to try to mix.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Pellagra Is Curable, Dr. Copeland Holds

IN Washington a few weeks ago, one of the great figures in in medicine died. Dr. Joseph Goldberger did much to benefit the human race. He studied yellow fever, typhus, measles and dengue fever. But his monumental work was in connection with pellagra.

DR. COPELAND

As a result of this great doctor's work, cause and cure of pellagra were found. But more than this, his research shed new light on the science of human diet. The knowledge of many things in medicine was widened by this man's efforts.

What Dr. Goldberger did, was to remove pellagra from the long list of mysterious things. He has left us, but his efforts for humanity will survive forever.

The name given the disease we have mentioned is from two words —"pellis," meaning the "skin," and "agra," meaning "catching." These were united into the odd name, "pellagra."

It is due to disturbed nutrition. The most conspicuous symptom is the puffy swelling of the skin. It begins on the back of the hands, looking not unlike severe sunburn. Later, the feet, neck and forehead may be involved.

There may be blisters over the inflamed surfaces. The skin grows darker in color and much thickened for a time. Then it begins to shrivel up and peel.

Other early symptoms are disturbances of digestion. Ulcers of the mouth, sickness at the stomach and vomiting are observed. Painful diarrhoea is another sign.

The third center of attack is the nervous system. At first there may be headache and dizziness. Weakness, inability to think clearly, terrible depression of spirits and finally a form of insanity, this is the course of the disease.

You can see that it is a distressing and, until its cause was found, a pretty hopeless ailment. That is why Dr. Goldberger's word is so important.

It took this good man 14 years of hard and dangerous work to solve this problem. It was important to find a cure because large sections of the South were afflicted. It had flourished there since the time of the war between the States.

For a long time it was thought that the disease came from eating spoiled corn. Goldberger's research disproved this and determined that the symptoms are the result of a lack in the diet, the absence of what he called "P. P."—pellagra preventive. In short the ailment is what we call a "deficiency disease."

Pellagra follows a diet of corn meal, polished rice, white flour, molasses, sugar, fat pork, turnip greens, sweet potatoes and coffee. The diet you see, is largely sugar and starch and lacking in protein.

It is the conclusion of students of this disease, including Goldberger, that protein foods must be given. Milk, meat, eggs and vegetables are important.

The Honeymoon Fireside -:- -:- By Truda Dahl

WHAT greater happiness in the world than when two who have chosen each other from all the rest of the world enter their own home and sit by their own fireside! There's no joy so secure, no happiness so complete as when two who are on their honeymoon settle down for a quiet evening in their own home. What dreams have gone into its planning! What hopes they have for the years that lie ahead of them! What a future they plan with each helping the other, living, loving, working—just being happy and content in the rich gift which has been given them!

And the fire flames leap and dance merrily to the sweet murmured love words that fill the room with their magic. These first happy days are the days which will linger all through life, the days that will be ever before them to guide and inspire them on their Love Journey! By the honeymoon fireside! The sweetest and dearest and happiest time of all times!

Madge's Attempt to Pierce Mystery Again Foiled

KATIE'S appearance in Mary's room, ready to clean it, presented a sudden obstacle to my investigation of the ink-stained blotter. I shot a furtive glance toward the waste basket. Yes, it still contained the crumpled pieces of the blotter, although it seemed to me that they were jammed lower down in it than I had seen them, and that the basket itself was not in exactly the same place that it had been a few minutes before. But Katie easily could have been responsible for both these things in the ordinary routine of "picking up" the room.

I did not wish her to suspect my interest in the wastebasket. On the other hand I felt that I must make my investigation as soon as possible.

"I think that's a good idea of yours, Kate," I said, "to clean these rooms this morning while the girls are gone. But I want you to make a special dessert for luncheon—Mr. Graham was asking for that pink pudding of yours and you know that takes some time, so I'll help you. You go over to Marion's room and clean that and I'll get this one started. I want to look over the clothes in Mary's closet anyway. Some of them I'm sure ought to go to the cleaner's and others I'm going to turn over to the sewing woman when she comes to go over Marion's things for school. Let me know when you're through in Marion's room."

It always makes Katie cross when I offer to help her with the cleaning—she seems to feel that I am impugning her ability to accomplish her routine tasks. So I was not surprised to hear her grumbling to herself as she picked up her brushes and pail and started for Marion's room. But I wasted no time upon her, waited only until she was safely inside Marion's room before locking the door of Mary's.

Now for a newspaper—yes, one of the evening before was lying on the reading table. I spread it carefully over the bed which Mary had made before leaving, and then crossing to the wastebasket, I first took out the large crumpled pieces of blotter and laid them aside. Then I dumped the contents of the basket upon the paper and rapidly fingered them over.

They were few in number—the strips of freshly cut new blotter which I had seen before, a spoiled dress pattern, some picture postcards, from her young brothers, and two advertisements of business schools. Quickly I put these back in the basket, trying to make it look just as it had before, and then spread the crumpled pieces of the blotter out upon the paper.

They had been torn repeatedly, and as I tried to fit them together into the original form, I felt like the conventional sleuth in a third-rate cinema reel. But I persisted and finally had them all fitted together—around a cleanly cut circular hole in the center!

I looked over the pieces on the bed, every one was accounted for. And there had been no pieces of the old blotter in the wastebasket—I checked its contents again to make sure.

Someone—of course, Mary—had cut that circle, no doubt to take out the ink-soaked portion of which she had spoken when she asked for the new blotter from me. But if that hypothesis were the true one, where was that inky section?

I looked carefully over the edges of the circular hole. No trace of ink there. Nor could I find any on the sides of the wastebasket. Either the girl had been equivocating when she spoke of spilling the ink on the blotter, or she had wadded the ink-soaked portion of the blotter in a paper and carried it outside her room for disposal.

But one thing more remained for me to do. With meticulous care I eyed the fitted pieces of blotter spread out on the bed before me. There were traces of blotted ink lines upon it, but so few and faint that there was nothing to be deciphered from them.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, March 6

A DAY of singular emotions and experiences is foretold from certain of the planetary aspects. Saturn is in trine with Neptune, both orbs of the subtle, the secretive and profound, and both tending to serious thought and ways of wisdom and virtue. They incite to intrigue, mysticism or practical occultism. The "lights" favor employment and negotiations with those in authority; and Mercury with Luna promotes trade, professional pursuits and new contracts.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of peculiar developments, possibly incited by their tendency to occultism, mysticism, or to diplomacy, intrigue or varied forms of secrecy and subtlety. Promotion is in order and new contracts should flourish, as well as all pertaining to writings.

A child born on this day will be versatile and talented, leaning to profound thought and subtlety. It may win its way by strategy and should make good success in employment.

The virtue of justice consists in moderation, as regulated by wisdom.—Aristotle.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

Sleep-Sleep

One good night of sleep will go a long way to repair the ravages of time and disease. Make certain that you do not take dope. You will find Wheeler's Nerve Vita-Liser is a dopeless, safe treatment for sleeplessness. It does not contain Alcohol, Chloral, Morphine or any harmful or habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the nervous system — causes sleep — relieves nerve spells. Sold at drug stores at $1.10 a bottle, but if you will send your name and address with 10 cents for packing to J. W. Brant Co., Dept. 75, Albion, Mich., they will send you a large sample bottle free. It works wonders.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Both Say "Thanks"

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When a young man is chosen to be a girl's partner at a party is it proper for him to call for the girl?

2. When he escorts her home after the party what is the proper thing to say?

3. If you have known a girl for a year, what would you suggest giving her as a birthday gift?

A. P.

YES. Proper and gallant.

2. He thanks her for going to the party with him, and she tells him that she has enjoyed the party and thanks him for taking her. Thus, everybody is polite!

3. Flowers, candy, music or books.

He Was Wrong

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When leaving a friend's home last evening the hostess, when saying goodby to us, said that she was glad that we called, and told us to be sure to come again, I replied "Thank you." The young man who was with me told me, in no uncertain terms, that I should never thank a person upon receiving an invitation to call again. Will you kindly settle this dispute?

N. M.

I CAN'T imagine why your friend should have said that, for your manners were perfect. Of course, we thank for invitations—always. And this is said "in no uncertain terms."

Wedding Problem

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be married soon and I have a problem. I have a father and stepmother, but I do not make my home with them. I live with my married sister. I want to send mariage announcements to a few of my friends. My trouble is this: Who should send the announcements? My sister? And if so just what form should she use?

M. C.

SINCE your father is living, it would be in the best form for him to make the announcement, in the name of himself and your stepmother. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Jones
have the honor
to announce the marriage of their daughter

Or, if you object to this wording, the following form may be used (although it is not in such good taste):

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen Jones
have the honor
to announce the marriage of
Mr. Jones's daughter.

When to Wear Spats

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me the correct time of the year to wear spats?

W. G.

WHEN the coolness or coldness of the weather suggests that they would be comfortable. Some fastidiously-attired gentlemen wear white linen spats in summer.

INSTEAD of exercise···

DO IT TONIGHT! Join the ranks of the millions who know the secret of the exerciser in the vest-pocket box for a dime!

CASCARETS give your bowels as much exercise as you get from an hour in the water. Oils, salts and ordinary laxatives don't act like Cascarets. These things only produce mechanical or chemical action which really weakens your bowels.

EACH TIME you use Cascarets your bowels become stronger! They are made from Cascara Sagrada, which stimulates the peristaltic action and exercises the bowel muscles. Nothing else does this. That's why Cascarets are selling at the rate of 20 million boxes a year, and people everywhere depend on them for lasting relief from headaches, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc.

GAVE GLORIOUS HEALTH TO HER

Oakdale Lady Wants to Tell Others How Ten Herbs Ended Long Suffering.

"I have derived so much good from Ten Herbs that I want others to know how your medicine benefited me," was the statement of Mrs. Glenn Adams, 273 West State Street, Oakdale, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, at May's Main Store, recently. "For years I had suffered greatly with stomach trouble." Mrs. Adams continued. "I had to be very careful what I ate, as food would ferment and then my system would fill with gas, causing me considerable pain—sometimes the pain was terrible. Unless I used physics, my bowels would get in very bad condition. I had dizzy spells and lacked energy and ambition. At night I would have to arise four or five times. My nerves were in such a state that the least noise would frighten me. There were such rheumatic pains in the muscles of my arms that I could not raise my arms above my head.

"I heard so much about Ten Herbs that I thought surely it must have merit. I started taking your medicine and want to say that it has made me feel like a new woman. My appetite is fine, and I can eat anything without having any bad after effects. I no longer have to use physics, for my bowels are regular. Rheumatism has left my arms. My nerves are a great deal better. I sleep soundly and seldom have to arise during the night. I have more ambition and energy. I certainly am glad to add my name to the list of persons who have publicly recommended Ten Herbs."

Thousands throughout this section vouch for the success of Ten Herbs in relieving disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Most users state that this medicine has a remarkable cleansing action on the whole system.

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth Avenue and Liberty Street, Pittsburgh, and sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Felicia Is Happy After Dick Locates Son and Captures Kidnapers

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. Dick is staying at the hotel with an old friend, John Berkeley. Felicia is visiting at the home of Dr. Tom Hodge, his wife Ann, and their lively daughter, Peg. Felicia receives a wire from her mother, Mrs. Henley-Martin, saying that Brett is on his way to Reno. She goes East by airplane, gets her 6-year-old son, Alex, and returns to the Hodges just as her husband arrives. Felicia refuses to go back to him. He learns that she is going about with Dick and has her shadowed by detectives. He also engaged two men to kidnap little Alex. Dick and Felicia, returning to the Hodges from a party, find Tom and Ann bound and gagged and the child's crib empty. On a stretch of narrow mountain road about 17 miles out of Reno, the kidnapers' car is stopped by a large boulder which has slid down the mountain side and blocks the way. With the only rope they have, a short halter lead, they bind the now wakeful and frightened child and leave him on a ledge, with a dirty handkerchief tied over his mouth. As the sun gets higher, a rattlesnake crawls out from the broken rocks. While Felicia is answering the questions of detectives and Dick is getting all the assistance his wealth and influence can command, a Desert Rat comes across little Alex and saves him from the snake, only to find himself threatened by the automatic of a mountain "bad man." He knocks out the "bad man" and climbs on up the mountainside with the boy. Meanwhile, Dick has arranged to go searching in an airplane with Sam Lanier, a state policeman. They sight little Alex and the rat with the two kidnapers pursuing them some distance behind. Dick makes a parachute jump.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIV.

AS Dick dropped from the plane, Lanier stared after him anxiously. When he saw the flutter of white as the parachute blossomed, like a giant flower, he gave a great sigh of relief, banked the ship and headed back for Reno.

A mountainside is not the ideal place for one's first parachute jump, but luck was with Dick; he struck a tiny level space and grasped a dwarfed pine to save himself from being dragged over the sharp rocks by the wind.

The two gunmen were still climbing rapidly up the slope, and Dick plunged recklessly after them. When they finally realized he was in pursuit and turned on him, it was too late; they swung about to stare into his hastily drawn gun—and held up their hands.

Back toward Jumbo Trail, then down the road, Dick marched the hulking figures, until—after what seemed an eternity—Lanier, J. B. and a police driver appeared, speeding from Reno.

But to catch up with the mysterious old man and the boy proved a much more difficult task. The kidnapers, sullen in their handcuffs, knew no more of his identity than did the others. So, leaving them for the police chauffeur to take back to jail, Lanier, J. B. and Dick started up the treacherous mountainside.

Half an hour of breath-taking climbing brought them to the top of a ridge below which lay the mournful ruins of Virginia City. Mountains, which in one year had yielded $900,000,000 worth of gold, stood now abandoned by man, their sides caved in upon his handiwork. The silence of the West had closed again where once the most terrific activity had held sway. . . .

"What's that?" Dick was pointing straight before him.

"Old mine entrance," Lanier answered. "God help us if they've gone in there!"

They stood, a dejected trio, at the mouth of the shaft. In the dry dust before the opening were the tracks they had hoped they would not find, scuffle of shoes and the fresh imprint of a small bare foot.

"Well?" said Dick. He stepped forward.

Lanier pulled him back. "Like looking for a needle in a haystack," he told him, soberly. "I played in these mines when I was a kid and I know what I'm talking about. This shaft runs in and joins others that form a regular honeycomb stretching out in all directions. We haven't even got a light."

Dick cupped his hands over his mouth. "Alex!" he shouted down the shaft. "Alex!"

A weird echo, then silence, impenetrable, mysterious.

"Well, we can get lights!" Dick said. He looked down at the ruined city where a few hundred of the former thousands of inhabitants still lingered. "Let's shove on down there and get lights and ropes."

Lanier nodded shortly. "I suppose there's always one chance." But his voice implied little hope, and it was a dejected group that started down the mountainside.

Lanier tried to lighten the spirits of his companions with bits of local history.

"There's plenty of gold left in those mines," he told them, "but try to get it out! At 5,000 feet, they hit a temperature around 200 degrees—volcanic stratum, coming all the way down the chain from Mount Lassen." He waved a melancholy hand at the deserted village. "And to think that 'Frisco was built with money out of this wreck!"

Weeds grew in the street. Grass draped the broken sills and ledges of white stone mansions which sagged grotesquely on crumbling foundations. Their footsteps echoed. A dilapidated flivver jounced past. . . .

"Well, I'll be . . .!" said J. B. Then he pointed.

Walking toward them came a strange pair, nightmare characters in this nightmare city! A Rip Van Winkle of a man, his garments fluttering like a scarecrow's, and, laughing up into his face, a little boy in pajamas, with dirty bare feet treading the path where ladies in velvet and bustles once walked proudly, where Grant commanded an army against the Indians. . . .

"Alex!"

The boy looked up at Dick without recognizing him, but the old man smiled—a smile of exhaustion and of relief.

"You know this boy," overtaxed by his flight with the boy on his back, the Desert Rat swayed dizzily.

Dick and J. B. supported him, guided him to the dilapidated hotel of the lost community. Alex rode proudly behind on Sam Lanier's broad shoulders.

Telephone first to the Hodges—"Put Felicia on the wire, please," Dick commanded Dr. Tom, excitedly. Then the boy's voice.

"Hello, Mummy! Mummy, I've been in a mine! There was lots of Indians here once and they killed lots of people. There was a battle, Mummy! Mummy!"

At the other end of the wire, Felicia had fainted.

Revived by coffee and food, the Desert Rat recounted his story, but in the light of the boy's adoring admiration, he needed no words to justify himself before these men.

The police car came tearing along from Reno and the five of them climbed into it, speeding back out of this suspended patch of things to the twentieth century.

With her son in her arms and her shining eyes on Dick's face, Felicia had no thought of anything else in the world. That Brett still was taking an active part in her affairs was a possibility beyond her comprehension. She believed he had gone back to New York.

But Brett had not gone East. He had checked out of the hotel, as the clerk informed them, the evening before, clearing himself of too close contact with his son's abduction. Then he had motored, northward and westward, clear across the state line into California. At Lake Tahoe, he was close enough to Reno to keep in touch with detectives watching Felicia and the boy, yet hidden, he hoped, beyond danger of detection.

As the sun rose higher and higher on the morning of the abduction, he had paced more and more nervously the veranda of the hotel, glowering darkly at the bright surface of the lake before him. Where were they, with his boy? What had happened?

A car drove up and a fat man, purple and perspiring, emerged. Brett moved eagerly to meet him. Like conspirators, they moved away from the hotel, seeking solitude for their confidences.

Brett's face darkened as he listened to the report of his detective.

"Fools! Idiots!" he found little consolation in the fact that his two hired gunmen had landed in the Reno jail, paying the price for their bungling.

"I'm gonna call back to the works," the fat man explained. "They're expecting more dope on the old guy that took the kid."

"And they'd better get it!" Brett muttered, savagely. He scowled. "Well, we'll let the boy go for the moment. Perhaps it's just as well—let my wife think I'm frightened off and out of the country." His eyes glittered. "You're to report every move she makes, understand?" he ordered. "And watch this Stuyvesant. Go up now and telephone your boss."

"What we call a Desert Rat," the detective reported when he came from the telephone, "Nutty old guy that wanders around, finding stones and selling 'em. Used to amount to something once. Broker—name of Stephen Pierce."

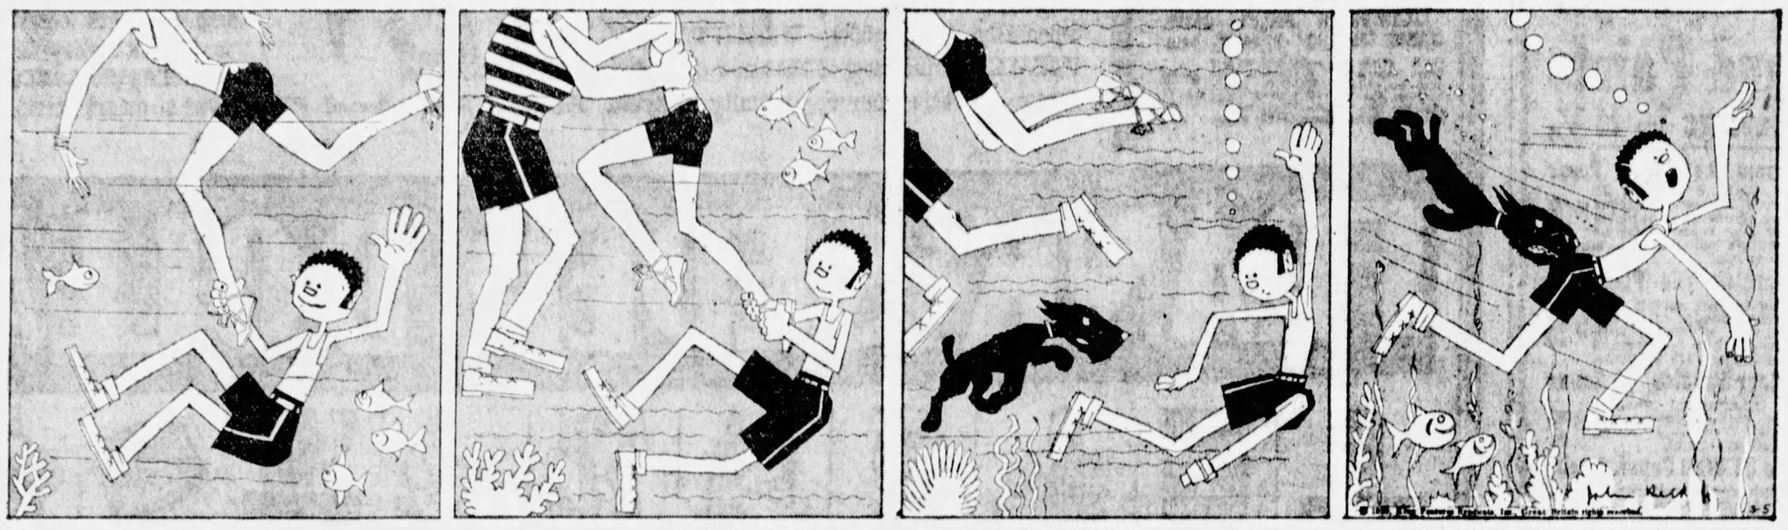
"Stephen Pierce!" It was almost a shout. "How old a man? What else do you know about him?"

Brett listened avidly, a cruel smile playing about his lips. Then he laughed.

"By God!" he exclaimed, "this is our busy week! We've more than one score to settle before I start East!"

What score has Brett to settle? Follow "Reno" in this paper tomorrow.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl :-: Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Jr.



"My dear, I thought I'd SWOON with FRIGHT when something SUDdenly grabbed my FOOT as the PUPsy-wups and I were VAGUEly swimming back from this DESert ISland where we'd discovered BASil among his BOOKS and all, my dear, because I give you my WORD I thought it must be a SHARK after me or something, but I was TOO imPRESSED because SEConds LAter, my dear, when I was on the verge of collAPSE and getting slightly BALMy with leGITimate exHAUStion I felt myself enGULFED in these MUSculous ARMS, my dear, and thinking it must be BASil I surrendered WEAKly to being TOted aSHORE like a sack of MEAL or something—can you BEAR it, my dear? Polly Gives Up Her Own Dates to Investigate Mother's Affair

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Polly Carter, a sophisticated college girl, has no illusions about life. Life was "warmed-over stuff," she boasted. Nothing shocked her, though she delighted to shock others. With her commencement degree she returns home expecting to find the same dull routine of small-town life, the same old-fashioned parents. Instead she is startled to find her mother carrying on an "affair" with her father's law partner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER II.

THE sight of her mother in the arms of her father's partner gave Polly the blind staggers. She stumbled to her knees on the kitchen stairs and rested her brow on her hands while everything beautiful and reverend and important in the world came down in an avalanche about her. Her mother, her own worshipped mother was a sneaking, lying, hypocritical flirt! What was there on earth to rely on? Who could be honest?

She wanted to cry out in the anguish of young faith slain. She went up the steps like a wounded animal and was to seek refuge in her own room when the nauseating thought came to her that perhaps her father deserved his betrayal. Maybe he and Mrs. Keith were—

She glided to the front stairs and moved down far enough to look into the living room. There by the window her father sat, idly shuffling cards while Mrs. Keith patted her lips and tried to hide a yawn. She was tempted to howl down on them:

"Look in the pantry, you poor dumbbells!"

But a voice rang through the room, two voices. Polly's mother and Walter Keith were calling:

"Stir your lazy bones, supper is on the table."

Polly noted how guileless and sweet her mother's voice was, with all its innocence, and she groaned in spirit:

"Why, you little double-crossing devil. I thought I was wise and you've had me fooled all these years."

Her father laughed, pushed back his chair; pulled Mrs. Keith's chair out from under her as she drowsily hoisted her bulk to her feet and waddled out of Polly's line of sight. The poor idiots, so fat already that they bulged, and dozed while their partners played them false.

Polly heard the quartet talking, laughing, shouting stupid old bromides and telling one another for the thousandth time what they liked and didn't like, what made them sick or agreed with them.

She shuddered with disdain and went back to her room, feeling so tired that she crept into her bed and brooded until the Keiths went home and she heard her parents wearily climbing the stairs, saying nothing more new or vital than her father's:

"Did you put out the light in the pantry?" The bill last month was something awful."

Her mother retorted: "Well, what do you expect? If I had quit working when you threatened to, you'd have had a lot more. I'll put down the window in Polly's room so it won't be cold when she gets home."

Polly had just time to pretend to be asleep and too soundly asleep to be awakened by her mother's exclamation:

"Why, she's home!" then very softly, "She's asleep! Shh!"

Polly heard her mother come across the room, breathe hard as she bent over to draw the covers up with gentle motions, and kiss her on the brow tenderly and yearningly, cross the room, click out the lights and softly close the door.

Then Polly sat up and snatched a handkerchief from her pocket, moistened it at her lips and tried to wash the kiss from her forehead.

She remembered Meg Fairley's mocking question, "What would you do if you found your mother in love?"

She had answered with misplaced scorn, and her disgust was furious until suddenly it came over her that there was no necessity for all this agitation. Her mother had known Walter Keith for years. He was just fooling when he hugged her. It was only a pretty gallantry like many of the squeezes she herself had granted to men.

If her mother had cried out, fought, dropped the plate from her hands with a smash and made a big scene, the racket would have brought Mrs. Keith and Polly's father into the matter. There would have been ghastly accusations, her father would have had a fight with Walter Keith probably, and been whipped perhaps, since Keith was younger and stronger; there would have been gossip, scandal, wide disaster—all because a middle-aged woman could not accept a bit of fondling from her husband's closest friend.

Polly reasoned that her mother had doubtless reasoned all this out long ago, and had done the sane, the wise and kindly thing as she always did. She snuggled into this thought with such warmth of comfort that she fell asleep at once.

The next morning she woke in her dear old room in her dear old bed with her sweet window framing the same square of blue sky, her bureau cluttered, the chairs setting about like poor relations, everything friendly and soothing, and she thought that home-sweet-home was not so sour after all.

Remembering her alarm of the night before, she called herself a vicious idiot, and felt that she owed her mother an apology that she could never make because her suspicion had been too outrageous to mention.

When she was bathed and dressed they had a wonderful morning together, and an afternoon of chatter, but Polly was so young and restless that she was soon fed up with familiar things and was glad that she had arranged to go to the theater with Bob.

When, however, her father came in clamoring for an early dinner, since he had to go to a board meeting of the hospital, Polly felt that it would not be fair to leave her mother at home all evening, and proposed to share her solitude.

Her mother laughed: "My darling baby, your father is hardly ever home except on the sacred Tuesday and Thursday evenings when he plays bridge. Or if he is, he always does a lot of work or goes to bed early. It's been that way for years."

Polly gasped: "Well, I don't call him a husband, he's only a boarder. He's got a swell idea of married life, if anybody should drive up and ask you."

When her mother still declined to be morose about it, Polly frowned: "Why, I always thought you and Daddy loved each other."

Her mother stared hard and gasped: "Don't you think we do?"

"I couldn't bear to think that you didn't, but if I had a husband who—"

"Oh, now, honey, you mustn't turn against your father on my account. He is a devoted husband as husbands go, a devoted father, a model citizen, with a lot of public spirit."

"He'd have to show a little more private spirit if I had him. Anyway, I'm in for the night."

Polly thought her mother was almost alarmed by her determination to stay at home. And that was strange, for why should she be anything but delighted at the thought?

"In spite of protests, Polly went to her room, took off her theater gown and changed to her kimono. As she climbed the stairs, she heard her mother calling up a number on the telephone.

When Bob came he was startled to find Polly not ready. She told him a lie about a splitting headache, but it failed to click. She loved to enrage young men, but her mother puzzled her when she pleaded:

"Bob's paid for the tickets, Polly. It's too late to turn them back. You oughtn't to miss the play. Run along."

Polly was hurt, but she obeyed, went to her room, dressed hastily again, wrapped her gay Spanish shawl about her, and came down the steps pretending to be gay, walking happily and snapping imaginary castanets. She went out to Bob's car, but just as he started it, she checked him.

"Stop this boat and let me off."

"What the devil ails you now?"

"Grandma's forgotten her powder compact and her lipstick."

"You don't need 'em, you're perfect."

She laughed the compliment to scorn:

"My son, your old mammy would no more go out among all those girls without her ammunition than you would walk into a den of thieves without your sawed-off shotgun."

She ran back to the house. As she rushed the stairs, she heard her mother's voice at the telephone again. She stopped short, catching the words.

"She's changed her mind again, and gone to the theater after all. So it's all right."

Polly climbed the rest of the way as if a heavy trunk had been set on her shoulderblades. She was afraid of her own thoughts and of herself for thinking them.

When she came downstairs, her mother was on the way up. Polly explained in a word what had brought her back, and plied the lipstick so busily that she could not accept her mother's proffer of another farewell kiss.

In the car Bob leaned over to collect his fare, but she snapped, "Stop it!" so fiercely that he gasped: "Keep your fangs out of me, you rattlesnake."

"Right you are, young fella," she groaned. "Rattlesnake's my maiden name, and you'd better remember it."

The play was a mystery melodrama acted as well as it deserved, but Polly had not the faintest idea what it was all about. Her own heart was a theater where a more blood-curdling melodrama was piling mystery on mystery in its first act.

Old friends of hers thronged about her when the curtain fell, but she could hardly keep from breaking through them to run home and learn what was going on at that playhouse.

A famous actress played a sweet old mother in the theater, an almost loathesomely sweet old mother, but Polly's head buzzed with the thought:

"You're a good actress, maybe, old lady, but I know a better one."

She was so fidgety throughout the next act that Bob whispered:

"What's the matter? Sick?"

She nodded, but stuck it out till the second curtain fell, then she said:

"I'm horribly sorry, Bob, but I've got to get home."

Anxiously solicitous, he led her to his car, keeping his hand at her elbow and helping her in as if she were a cripple. Then she astounded him by asking him to let her out a block from her house. At this his patience exploded.

"What the health's the matter with you, Polly? Last night you broke away from the dance. Tonight you wouldn't go to the theater. Then you did. Then you got sick and left. Now you're too well to ride. You never finish anything any more."

She answered grimly:

"There's one or two things I'm going to finish, and you'll be the other one if you start nagging."

She stepped out of the car and slammed the door on him.

"Thanks for a very snappy evening," he called after her, as he whirled the car round and dashed back to the theater to get what was left of a plot that he could understand.

Hardly knowing what she expected to find, Polly halted on the front walk a moment and studied the moonlit home. It did not look like a whited sepulcher. The living room curtains were not drawn, nor the lights turned low. She could see into it from the street, and nobody was there.

Upstairs all was dark, yet she climbed the steps stealthily, slipped in with the utmost silence and closed the door back of her without jar. She paused and the whole house told her without a word that it was empty.

She berated herself for a vile fool. Her father had gone to a meeting. Her mother, of course, had run over to a neighbor's for a chat. Polly had made a scene with Bob and spoiled a perfectly good picnic.

Vainly wishing herself back at the theater, she whipped off her shawl and was about to mount the stairs when something reminded her that she had not looked on the side porch. She tossed a shawl across the banister post, tiptoed into the dark dining room and moved quietly to the window. Outside she heard voices so soft that they had hardly any character, except that one was a man's and one a woman's:

"But you really had better go. What if that really was Polly coming along the walk? It did look like her."

"Nonsense, my dear!" the man mumbled. "She's at the theater. She'll come home in Bob's car."

"Yes, but—oh what if it was Polly? I'd die. I'm scared to death now."

"All right, darling. I won't torture you. When shall we see each other again?"

"Never — if we did the wise thing, but—"

"I couldn't live without seeing you."

"Oh, Walter, Walter!"

With quaking hand Polly lifted the curtain away from the window a little and peered through the dark glass. Vague and almost invisible except for the dull blue sky beyond them, she saw her mother and her father's partner stand a moment irresolute. Then their shadows were as one as he caught her to his heart and her arms climbed shadowly about his shadowy shoulders.

Polly had seen (or been one of) a couple embracing in the moonlight so often that the picture had lost all its color. Now she reeled at the sight because one of the dark lovers chanced to be her own mother.

She had always paid her mother the somewhat insulting compliment of assuming that she was literally out of the reach of temptation—above it or beneath it. It had never occurred to her that her mother could be either tempting or temptable. To find her with a conquest, conquering and conquered, embracing, kissing, moaning like a human woman, was shattering.

All of her past confidence in her mother turned to a mass of loathing, far more than the familiar peculiar and unrivaled loathing of one woman for another woman who has fooled her.

She was all for her father now, to save him from that smooth, sweetish, oily trickster, from the two tricksters, his wife and his partner conspiring to defraud him.

Polly watched the departure of Walter Keith from her mother's arms with as much remoteness and contempt as if it were the fadeout of a trashy motion picture! A woman went into a clinch, then the man did a vanish down the steps and out through the rosebushes to the alley, while the woman stared after him and waved goodby.

As Polly watched her mother standing by the porch rail and wringing her hands in torment, nothing told her that this was a good woman at heart trying vainly to be true to her lover, her daughter, her husband. Polly saw in her only an infamous liar.

She fled silently up the stairs, opened and closed the door with all softness and flung herself across her bed, ignoring the red and white Spanish shawl that she had left draping the banister post.

Her mother saw it there the moment she came in from the porch, and it was like a banner of war in her eyes. It filled her with terror lest Polly had discovered Walter Keith's presence. Otherwise, she would have surely called aloud for her mother before she went upstairs. Mrs. Carter all but died of shame at the thought of how she would have looked in her daughter's eyes.

She was a little encouraged by the remembrance that Polly had come in quietly the night before and gone to bed to escape the Keiths. Perhaps she had slipped in tonight and gone upstairs supposing that nobody was home.

It would be easy to find out. All Mrs. Carter had to do was to go up to Polly's room. But she could not brave the ordeal.

Trembling with a nausea of remorse she sank into a chair and wondered what to do.

ICE PIRATES SET TO BATTLE HAWKS TONIGHT

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

BEST IN PITTSBURGH — TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1929 — TWENTY-FIVE

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Newark's Colorful Club. Resembles Major Team. Pipp Joins Going Vets.

New Stunt by Carey. Ban Fight Guarantees. Strategy That Failed.

HELEN HICKS RIVALING GOLF QUEENS

ONE of the most colorful outfits in the baseball world this year is an aggregation outside the major circuits. It is the Newark (N. J.) club, of the International League. The recent acquisition of First Baseman Wally Pipp, from the Cincinnati club, has added another bit of major league class to a team that already looked like a real "big timer." Owner Paul Block is spending more money to give Newark an outstanding club than the owners of some major league plants are investing in their entries, and the Bears will offer an interesting study as to what an all-star crew can accomplish in minor league competition.

Wally Pipp

Headed by Manager Tris Speaker, the club has almost 50 players in training, or scheduled to report soon, at St. Augustine, Fla. This total includes no fewer than 21 pitchers, among whom are such well-known hurlers as Vic Aldridge, who is a holdout, as usual, Al Mamaux, Jim Bagby, Hub Pruett, Hugh McQuillan, Chick Davies, Joe Bradshaw, Art Johnson, Carl Fisher, Hal Goldsmith and Don Brennan. In the other division of the battery department are Catchers Bill Skiff, Bill Devine, Joe Jenkins, Bill Hickey and Frank Uzmann.

AMONG the infielders are Jacques Fournier, who may go on the retired list now that Pipp has been obtained, Mike Gazella, Russell Wrightstone, Lou Malone, Harry Mackin and Wes Kingdon. Manager Speaker himself will play centerfield, it is expected, and for the other outfield posts there are such candidates as Bill Lamar, Merwin Jacobson, Cliff Lee, Gerald Fitzgerald, Pittsburgh boy, Jocko Conlan, Dixie Carroll and Max West.

One of the oldest players in the majors in point of service passes out in the transfer of Pipp from the Reds to the Bears. Wally was tried by Detroit as far back as 1912, was up with the Tigers again for observation in 1913 and 1914, played steadily for the Yankees from 1915 to 1925, inclusive, and for the Reds in 1926, 1927 and 1928. Newark may add still another big league player, as it is trying to get back from the Reds Third Baseman Walter Lutzke, who was drafted by Cincinnati from the Bears last fall.

NEW training stunts are featuring the conditioning work of some of the big league baseball clubs this spring. Donie Bush would have added soccer football to the Pirates routine if he had not discovered at the last minute that his equipment lacked the right kind of shoes, and the Reds played several rounds of basketball during their early sessions.

Max Carey

Then along came Max Carey to introduce calistenics. The former Pirate captain was in charge of the Robins prior to the arrival of Manager Wilbert Robinson, and each day, in addition to their baseball work, he made the players line up, using their bats as wands, and go through a drill under his direction.

WHEN Robinson arrived at the Dodger camp, Carey's system won his immediate interest and praise. "By gosh, that's a great stunt," Robbie said, as he watched the lithe Max lead the entire squad in a "wand" drill that had them bending and swaying in all directions, sometimes twisting from side to side and again listng their bats high in the air and then trying to reach the ground without bending their knees. "It's a splendid exercise, too, and is bound to bring good results. I'm surprised that none of us ever thought of it before." Brooklyn players are of the opinion that Carey's innovation will be taken up by other big league training directors on future conditioning trips."

ADDITIONAL instances in which one basketball player scored all of the points made by his team in big-score games are being brought to light. R. G. Lyman, of Sharon, uncovers another case of the kind in the following letter to the Sun-Telegraph:

"Just noticed your dope on Gentille getting 27 points. Here's one better: In the 1923 season, Walter Hoban, former Pitt football and basketball player, scored all of Sharpsville High's 32 points against Meadville High, at Meadville, and Sharpsville won, 32-29.

"HOBAN was Sharpsville's first outstanding athlete, both football and basketball. Sharpsville's first cage team appeared in 1922. In 1923 and 1924 the squad lost only one game (1924), that to a Mercer County school. Hoban was the big gun.

William F. Carey

"His work at Meadville was a record. In football he kicked a field goal against Sharon from the 35-yard line that was a wonder. It was made from the most difficult angle possible, and the play featured the game, though Sharon won easily. Hoban is now a dentist in Sharon."

THAT Tex Richard's successors in the Madison Square Garden Corporation will ban guarantees and advance payments to fighters in future, no matter where its bouts may be staged, is the opinion expressed by William F. Carey, vice president and treasurer, who was associated with Jack Dempsey in putting over the Sharkey-Stribling affair at Miami Beach last Wednesday night. "I am convinced that the Corporation will never again give a forfeit to a fighter, and I don't believe in guarantees," Carey says. "New York regulations forbids this, and if my wishes are carried out those regulations will be applied to whatever out-of-town fights we may direct.

"MY objections to forfeits are ethical. Perhaps, from the standpoint of the fight manager, it is good, sound business principle to insist on and obtain those guarantees, with contract provisions obligating the promoter to deposit the money and pay it over in advance of the contest, but in doing this the fighter and his manager question our integrity.

"We are reputable big business men, and should not be asked to do what is a heritage of the old bare-knuckle days. Forfeits and advance payments, so far as I am concerned, are over. Our word is our bond, and anybody who wants to fight for us in the future must take our word through our contract. In this, I feel sure I will have the co-operation and support of our board of directors."

ONE of the stories following the Sharkey-Stribling alleged fight tells of some attempted strategy in the Stribling corner that proved a bust. The hearty laugh enjoyed by Sharkey and his handlers at the end of the seventh round is explained as having been due to a boner that Pa Stribling pulled in shouting instructions to his son in a foreign tongue.

"That guy thinks he is smart, but he is not fooling anybody," Sharkey told his handlers. "This is good. He's giving his son instructions in Spanish. I know more Spanish than both of them put together. I learned it while I was in the navy."

IT'S no longer the "Big Three" in women's golf. It's the "Big Four" now. Glenna Collet, Virginia Van Wie and Maureen Orcutt have had to make room for and share the spotlight with 18-year-old Helen Hicks. She is described as being just an overgrown

LOCALS EAGER TO TRIM CHICAGO

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Benny Leonard's Pirates and the downtrodden Chicago Hawks will concentrate on scoring goals and let the defense men fall where they may when they meet in the "semi-final" of the local National Hockey League season at Duquesne Garden tonight.

When ice clubs are in the thick of a title race they are prone to keep all of one eye and the white of another on their defense, and to make the business of scoring secondary to the business of keeping the opposition from tallying. Defensive hockey may be quite the thing from an "expert's" point of view, but the average fan would just as soon have the skaters cast discretion to the winds and maintain a brisk offense—and that is what is likely to happen tonight. Neither the Hawks nor the Pirates have anything in particular to worry about. The invaders are so firmly entrenched in the cellar that they couldn't get out even if the finish of the race was a month rather than a week away, and the Bucs are carefree in that they can't overtake anyone or be overtaken.

BOW TO DETROIT

In inaugurating the sacrifice-defense-for-offense policy here Saturday night the Pirates bowed in 4-3 defeat to Detroit, but they did not bow before they had clubbed home three goals and given the fans one of the most thrilling and sensational exhibitions of the campaign. The Hawks are in a position to match the locals' style of play. They tallied their first goal in nine starts in downing the Montreal Maroons Saturday, and the novelty of scoring so pleased them that they are willing to give away a few goals to annex a few themselves.

The Pirates may experience some difficulty in caging the puck even should five Hawks rush to the attack at one time, for Chuck Gardiner, the Chicago goalie, looms as the most capable guardian in the ice sport today. His play has been one of the surprises of the season, and even the most powerful of scoring machines have learned to respect him.

Harold Darragh, star right wing whose absence from the lineup may have cost the Bucs a goal or two in their skirmish with Detroit, probably will be back in harness tonight. The severe hip injury which he sustained in Montreal a week ago has been slow in responding to treatment, but he will be in uniform and probably will see some action. Eddie Bouchard, who did the pinch-hitting for Darragh, will return to the spare front line, replacing Duke McCurry.

TOUGH FOR LOCALS

Although the Hawks have been "taken" rather regularly by some clubs they never have failed to make things interesting for the locals. Two wins and a tie was the best the Pirates could achieve in four previous meetings with the invaders, and they need another victory tonight to clinch the season series. The probable lineup:

HAWKS.		PIRATES.
Gardiner	G	Miller
Wentworth	R. D.	McCaffrey
Taylor	L. D.	Smith
Irvin	C	Fredericksen
Couture	R. W.	Darragh
Gottselig	L. W.	Miles

LOCAL MITTMEN WIN IN EAST

NEW YORK, March 5.—Pittsburgh boxers made a clean sweep of their bouts against New York representatives in the fourth inter-city bouts staged last night on the amateur boxing program of the New York Athletic Club, Pete D'Allesandro, Andrew Andrucci, George Bretsch, and George Chambers, representing Pittsburgh, triumphed in the 112, 138, 159 and 160-pound classes respectively.

The hardest fought and most exciting of the inter-city bouts was in the 160-pound class when Chambers, staging a rushing, two-fisted attack, knocked down Albert Moore twice for counts of nine and then knocked him out completely with a right to the chin in the second round.

The summary of bouts in which Pittsburghers participated:

112-pound class—Pete D'Allesandro, Pittsburgh, defeated Anthony Ibone, New York City, decision.

138-pound class—Andrew Andrucci, Pittsburgh, knocked out John Leewko, Lenox Hill A. C., New York City, in first round.

159-pound class—George Bretsch, Pittsburgh, defeated Harry Taylor, New York University, decision.

160-pound class—George Chambers, Pittsburgh, knocked out Albert Moore, New York City, in the second round.

HOCKEY TITLE CLINCHED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 5.—(AP.)—Minnesota clinched the Big Ten hockey championship by defeating Wisconsin here last night, 2 to 0.

FIFTH AVENUE MEETS SOUTH HILLS TODAY

Fifth Avenue High School will endeavor to capture the city scholastic basketball championship when it meets South Hills High this afternoon in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion. The Briggs outfit captured the first contest of the title series, and by winning again today can definitely decide the matter for another year. If it wins, it will be the second consecutive year it has gained the title.

South Hills, however, is on edge for the contest and is not going to let its Section 1 opponent get away with the bunting with any manner of ease. In fact, South Hills has an idea that it is going to win this afternoon's encounter and follow it up with a win in the finale, and therefore oust the reigning champion.

Fifth Avenue remains the favorite, however, and after the city series is over it must look to its honors in W. P. I. A. L. competition. The probable lineup for today:

FIFTH AVENUE.		SOUTH HILLS.
Sheegan	F	Carnahan
Brenner	F	Miller
Runner	C	Ladley
Riegel	G	Hasserfritz
Reiter	G	Jones

Local Linkswoman High at Miami

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 5.—Mrs. L. G. Riley, of Pittsburgh, was paired with George H. Morse, of Garden City, L. I., and finished among the leaders in the two-ball mixed foursome handicap competition over the St. Augustine Links yesterday. They turned in a net score of 78, with a gross of 85 and an allowance of seven strokes.

Miss Dorothy Bentham, of Great Neck, L. I., and J. R. Lanihan, of Providence, R. I., won low net award with 82 minus 10, for 72 net. Low gross prize went to Mrs. H. D. (Sally) Sterret, of Hutchinson, former Kansas state titleholder, and Harold Weber, of Toledo, O., with 39-39—78.

LOCAL COLLEGE SEASON ENDS TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER

The college basketball season for Pittsburgh comes to a close tonight. Up on the Bluff, where the Dukes hold forth, the Red and Blue will tackle popular Westminster in a Tri-State Conference game, of little or no importance as a league affair but of great worth to the United Presbyterians as it affects their standing in the section.

Babe O'Donovan.

Westminster and West Virginia are fighting it out for second place in the district this year. The Titans, provided they win tonight, virtually are certain to wind up in the runner-up position, for they play one more game than West Virginia. A win tonight and one over Thiel on Saturday will give Westminster a record of 14 games won and two lost for an average of .875. West Virginia, by beating Wash-Jeff and Davis-Elkins in its remaining contests, will finish with a 13 and two record for a mark of .867.

TITANS WON FIRST

The Titans defeated the Dukes in the first game played between these clubs at New Wilmington, 28 to 25, in an extra period contest. Since then, Duquesne's season had been a hit or miss affair. The Titans, who only play eight games in the Conference, are out of the running for the championship which they held last season.

Duquesne and Westminster are old rivals, getting older every year (which is only natural) and will pack 'em in tonight. The game will start at 8 bells, with the following probable lineups:

Duquesne.		Westminster.
Lubic	F	Delahunty
Benedict	F	O'Donovan (A. C.)
Vernon	C	Crowell or Brownlee
Rosenberg (C.)	G	Rice
Stephens	G	Lewis

PITT READY FOR W. and J.

Doc Carlson's Pitt Panthers wind up their Big Four campaign tomorrow evening at Washington, playing the Presidents in the second game of the annual series. A win tomorrow clinches the title for the locals.

The Pitt team worked out briefly yesterday and will have a short drill today. All the boys came out of the Mountaineer contest (?) in fine shape, especially mentally. It meant more to the Panthers to beat West Virginia last Saturday than most anything that could have happened to 'em, unless it would have been a victory over Notre Dame.

FROTH

The basehallers are getting rid of their sore joints. . . . And developing their appetites. . . . Most of them are in mid-season form with the knife and fork. . . . And at signing the checks. . . . At present writing no hot dog has been able to lure Babe Ruth. . . . But wait 'til he cracks the first one out of the park. . . . The Waner brothers are still unsigned. . . . And still eating regular. . . . John Holohan gets his final chance to count the gate tonight. . . . And it should be some gate. . . . Invitations to his wedding in April are not out yet. . . . Don't pick a present until you get one. . . . Remember when "Iskabibble" was THE word?

Billy Barton May Run First Race Abroad Friday

WROUGHTON, England, March 5.—(AP.)—Billy Barton will compete in the National Hunt Handicap Steeplechase at Cheltenham Friday, it is anticipated, and local racing observers believe he will start as fit as any horse in the race. The American steeplechaser has no other engagements this week and is nicely handicapped at 11 stone 3 (about 158 pounds).

WANERS' PLACES FILLED FOR BUC OPENER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, March 5.—Now that the Waner act has settled down to what seems like a long run, Manager Donie Bush, instead of being discouraged, is doing the best he can without the services of the two bright stars. Donie today announced his regular lineup for the first camp game, scheduled for Thursday.

Adam Comorosky and George Grantham will hit in he positions formerly occupied by Paul and Lloyd. Bush will send his first seven players to the barrier as follows:

Adams, second; Comorosky, center; Grantham, right; Traynor, short; Brickell, left; Sheely, first; Riconda or Stroner, third, and the catcher and pitcher.

The Yannigans will bat in this wise:

Windle, first; Martin, left; Bartell, second; Frey, center; Brame, right; Jones, short; O'Connell, third, and the catcher and pitcher.

The inter-squad battles will not be held on a pretentious basis this season. Bush is a firm believer in batting drills, and these will be given the preference over squad scraps. His plans now call for just three camp contests, exclusive of the big battle scheduled for Sunday, this game to bring together the Pirate Regulars and the San Francisco Seals.

PLAYERS ON EDGE

Nearly every member of the Pirate squad would be tickled if they awaken some morning soon to hear the pitter-patter of rain drops. In the first place, and more to the point, the countryside needs a shower, and in the second place, the two workouts a day have been the cause of getting most of the players close to an edge. The athletes are so tired in the evening that few need any training rules to get them under the covers for the night.

Manager Bush is well pleased over the results so far achieved. At the beginning of the training period the cold breezes scared Bush and his pals, but after two or three days of cool zephyrs the sun began to "bear down" in a marked degree. Only a few minutes of exertion on the ball orchard are required to bring the perspiration in copious quantities.

The health of the squad is exceptionally good. Outside of the usual line of bumps and bruises there are no bad effects in the entire camp. Trainer Mike Martin was down for a couple of days, but the new man is up and around again. His hard work before he himself succumbed was appreciated by more than a score of weary diamond artists, who are fast rounding into midsummer condition.

NO AFTERNOON DRILL

The workout of today is to feature intercepted throwing, pitchers covering first and that sort of thing. Batting, however, was still to be stressed.

In order to enable the Pirates to take part in the Paso Robles almond blossom festival, there will be no afternoon practice today.

Manager Bush yesterday afternoon directed a very effective sliding experience in the pit, which was installed in one of the corners of the field several years ago.

Chillysauce

Donie Bush is spending plenty of time instructing his youngsters—and some of his veterans—on the proper method of running the bases. The matter of the pivot when one rounds a base is given special attention. Bush yesterday worked on seven or eight of the regulars.

George Grantham and Fred Brickell do the pivot trick in an expert manner, but there are

Ten Teams of Noted Dogs Set for Derby

THE PAS, Manitoba, March 5.—(AP.)—Ten teams were marshaled by the country's noted mushers, including Emile St. Goddard, for the start of The Pas 200-mile dog derby today.

Among those driving against Goddard, who has won the derby four years, will be Leonhard Sappala, Alaskan, who defeated him this year at the New England championship and the international derby.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Allen Hall, of St. Louis, won both of yesterday's blocks of his three cushion match with the world champion, Johnny Layton. At the end of the first two blocks, Hall was leading, 100 to 68.

BOXER HURT, MOOSE SHOW CALLED OFF

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

There will be no boxing show in the Moose Temple ring next Friday night. Promoter Francis Flynn called off his card last night, after Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, who was to meet Hugh Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, in the semi-final, reopened an old cut on his left eye in working out with Max Ziff in Flynn's gym during the afternoon and one of the principals he planned to use in the second bout reported sick. Rather than attempt to go through with a patched-up program, the promoter decided to call off his bill and suffer the loss of his rent for the night and prepare for his offering of next week, when he will present Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., knocker-out of Terry Lingo and Battling Gizzy, in the main bout, likely against Tommy Crawley, of the South Side.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and T. N. T. Gibbons, of Cleveland, were to box the windup of the show that has been called off.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has his bill complete with the exception of the first bout for Thursday night's show in his Palisades ring, when Cuddy DeMarco, of McKeesport, and Larry Brignolia, of Erie, will clash in the main event. He has matched Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, to box Joe Poole, of Lawrenceville, sparring partner of Jack Zivic, in the second bout, and Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, hooked with Leo Kyburski, of Swissvale, in the semi-final.

CUDDY GETS A RIDE

Have you heard the story they're telling on Cuddy DeMarco? He went to Philadelphia last week to box one of the bouts of a show on Wednesday night and when he arrived there learned the bout was for this Wednesday night and couldn't take it because he has the Brignolia battle on at McKeesport the following night, so he's out his expenses for the trip plus the purse he would have received in Philly. But he enjoyed the train ride.

Frankie Porte, of Glassport, boxes Pablo Blanco in a 10-round bout at Massillon, O., next Tuesday night. Blanco is a Cuban who makes his home in Cleveland.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, will box either Johnny Kusic, of California Joe Gans at Wellsville, O., next Monday night.

Howard Mayberry, of Donora, boxes Charley Van Reeden in Hamilton, Ont., tonight and Johnny McCoy at Toronto next Monday night on the same card with Izzy Schwartz and Frenchy Belanger.

King Tut, who has knocked out Babe Ruth and Babe Herman in recent bouts in Milwaukee, will take on Augie Pisano, of Brooklyn, in his next start there, Friday night.

SEIFERT BOXES TONIGHT

Sandy Seifert, North Side heavyweight, returns to the ring tonight after a long absence for a 10-round bout with Jack Wells, of Wellsburg, W. Va., at Steubenville, O. Sammy Faris, bantamweight of the Hill, meets Petey Roberts, of Wheeling, in the semi-final.

Stanislaus Loayza and Nat Kawler do the honors in a 10-round bout in New York tonight. Midget Mike O'Dowd battles Sailor Larson at Columbus.

"Dempsey Is After Kid Chocolate for Championship Ring."—Headline. Finally trying to get somebody the old man can beat, eh?

They do be saying that Tawm Heeney really defeated Jim Maloney in their fight in Boston last Friday night, in which he lost the decision. Maloney is in strong with the Irish in Boston, who would make him king if he could lick Jack Sharkey, and the report has it that, with an Irish referee in the ring the other night, Heeney didn't have any more chance of copping a decision than Battling Siki, the Senegalese, had against Mike McTigue in Dublin that St. Patrick's day.

P. A. A. Enters Full Team in Swim Meet

The Pittsburgh Athletic Association will have its full team entered in the annual Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. championship swimming meet, to be held Monday evening at the Pittsburgh Natatorium, under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club.

Coach Gordon Mullen has entered Rosemary Kraeling in the 60-yard girls' handicap, Genevieve Rose and Bessie Kucera in the women's fancy dive championship, Joe Beacon, H. P. Simpson, W. J. Wright, Jay LeFevre in the 100-yard senior A. M. A. championship, Fred Wenck, W. G. Edwards in the 440-yard free style.

Waynesburg Meets F. & M. on Friday

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 5.—Wrestling fans from all parts of the tri-state section are expected to be here Friday evening to attend the match between Waynesburg and Franklin and Marshall College matt teams.

Although Waynesburg is sponsoring the matt game this year for the first time in its history, Franklin and Marshall has supported a team for several years and is one of the leaders in this branch of sport throughout the eastern section.

Only American winner in the sprints at the Olympic games in Amsterdam last summer, who has announced his retirement from amateur athletics to concentrate on his business career. In quitting the running game, he took a parting fling at the A. A. U., powers-that-be, who promptly suspended him only to learn that he had beaten them to the punch and already had retired.

Courtney Stops Tassi; Nando Claims Foul

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—George Courtney, the Oklahoma Cowboy, knocked out Nando Tassi, Italian light-heavyweight, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round match at the Broadway Arena last night.

After nearly three rounds of heavy walloping, Courtney drove a hard right to Tassi's stomach just before the end of the third. The Italian went down, claiming a foul, but the referee refused to allow the claim and went on counting until the bell interrupted him at the count of nine.

Tassi's seconds carried him to his corner and worked over him during the intermission, but he was unable to answer the bell at the start of the fourth round. The referee awarded the fight to Courtney on a technical knockout.

Tassi was carried from the ring still protesting that the blow had been foul. The weights were Courtney, 166; Tassi, 173½.

W. Pa. Title Chess Play Opens Saturday

The annual Western Pennsylvania chess championship tournament will get under way next Saturday with matches scheduled in several club rooms. Champion Dodd will defend his honors against a crack field, including such stars as Erdely, Isenberg, Ow, Kendall, Long, Ross, Stein and Cole.

The Westinghouse Club and Pittsburgh Chess Club teams will engage in one of their series of playoffs of a tie in the local league at the Westinghouse Club Thursday night. The first playoff match ended in a draw. The teams finished the regular competition, begun October 4, with seven victories and three defeats each. The two other contenders the Engineers' Club and Y. M. H. A., won three and lost six games and won two and lost seven, respectively.

English Cricket Team Draws With Victoria

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 5.—(AP.)—Ending a game in which at one time they were in danger of being beaten for the first time on their present tour, the English cricket team today secured a draw in their match with Victoria after batting all day and scoring 308 runs for the loss of three wickets. Jardine was the outstanding man at the wicket, knocking out 115 runs. The innings scores were:

Victoria, first innings, 572.

Race Postponed, Billy Barton Idle

CHELTENHAM, Eng., March 5.—(AP.)—The stewards inspected the race course here this morning and decided, owing to the hard ground, to postpone the scheduled races to next week. Billy Barton, the American steeplechaser, was due to compete here Friday, but now will not have his first public outing for another week. In the meantime he is doing good gallops on the sands at Tenby. Yesterday he had a sharp mile gallop, with stable companions trained by Hastings.

W. & J., TECH NET DATES ARE SET

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 5.—Dates for tennis competition between Washington and Jefferson and Carnegie Tech have been fixed according to announcement here by Manager Bill Stewart of the Presidents.

Wash-Jeff will go to Pittsburgh for the first matches on April 26 and the Tartans will play a return engagement in Washington on May 14. Matches with Pitt, Bethany and other Tri-State district institutions will also feature the Red and Black card which also provides for an Eastern trip when the Army and two other seaboard teams will be met.

TIGERS SIGN JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—(AP.)—The managers of the three major league baseball clubs in training out here paid no attention to "blue Monday." Instead, their features lighted up with broad grins.

Bucky Harris, whose Detroit Tigers are encamped at Phoenix, Ariz., mulled with probably the most gratifying news of the day, namely, that his $75,000 outfielder, Roy Johnson, has decided to report for work at once. Johnson, purchased from the San Francisco Seals of the Coast League, had been holding out for a part of the money paid for him.

The Pittsburgh Pirates had a busy day at their Paso Robles (Cal.) quarters. Although batting occupied most of the routine, Manager Donie Bush was most pleased with the fact that Lee Meadows, the spectacled pitcher, appeared ready for a comeback.

The progress of the Chicago Cubs, holding forth at Santa Catalina Island, Cal., was reflected in a statement by Manager Joe McCarthy.

"There is but little to correct after the two exhibition games of Saturday and Sunday," he said. "A little more work on stealing bases and double plays is in order, but there is plenty of time for that yet."

At Sioux Falls, S. D.—Angelo Pugliasi defeated Tony Sanders, 10 rounds; Red Engman knocked out Matty Mathews, 8 rounds.

Battling Gizzy Wins Over Jack Heslip

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 5.—(AP.)—Battling Gizzy, of Donora, won a decision here last night over Jack Heslip, of Massillon, O., in eight rounds of lively fighting. Lee Sala, of Donora, and Leo Kyberski, of Swissvale staged a hard-hitting six-round battle which was declared a draw.

Eddie Anderson, of Washington, won from Louis Episoto, of Bellaire, O., in six rounds. Petey Patch, of Bellaire, O., was down four times for a count of nine in his bout with Tommy Heilman, of Donora, who won a technical knockout when Pitch's second threw in a towel a few seconds before the final bell.

Jim McMahon, of Washington, won a first-round technical knockout over Joe Rygelski, of Donora. Their bout was set for four rounds.

Tate Chosen Best Player in Tourney

SHARON, Pa., March 5.—Bert Tate, guard on the West Middlesex High cage team, was named as the outstanding player in the sixth annual Mercer County Class B scholastic basketball tournament which was held recently at Thiel College, Greenville. Tate was picked by the officials.

He was given the edge over Robert Cann, Stoneboro ace, through his better floor work. Both men proved to be real stars and the backbones of their teams.

DUKE PREP LEADS

Duquesne Prep retained its lead in the Roman Catholic High School League when it defeated St. Mary of the Mount High, 24-21, yesterday. The lineup:

Duke Preps—24.		St. Mary—21.

Field goals—Sansone, Walsh, Malek 3, Beringer 3, Rovtash, Creighton 5, Wayman 4. Foals—Preps 4 out of 6; St. Marys, 1 out of 4. Referee—Murphy.

Jack Kearns Posts $10,000 Forfeit For Big Bout

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, has signed a contract to assure the appearance of the world middleweight champion against Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight titleholder, for a 10-round contest opening the new Chicago stadium March 28.

Kearns turned over to Paddy Harmon, president of the Stadium Corporation, a check for $10,000 as a forfeit for Walker's appearance. When the forfeit and contracts are handed to the Illinois State Athletic Commission today, Paul Prehn, chairman of the commission, said a permit would be issued for the match.

WILLIE DAVIES GETS VERDICT OVER GRANDE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 5.—Willie Davies, Charleroi flyweight, won the decision here last night in his 10-round bout at Jolly Bowl with Frisco Grande, Buffalo Filipino.

Chet Smallwood, Terre Haute, won the decision in six rounds from Eddie Ruttman, Akron.

Tom O'Leary, Cleveland, won in six rounds from Ki Goldman of Akron.

Jimmy Marloew, Aliquippa, won the decision in four rounds from Johnny Russell of Fayette City.

Al Jennings, New Castle, knocked out Al Ferone, Pittsburgh, in the third round of their scheduled four-round match.

Brothers of Famous Stars Out for Team

ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—Two brothers of football players who have starred on Georgia Tech elevens answered Coach William Alexander's spring football practice call today. Both of these youngsters are graduates of the freshman eleven of last fall and each is expected to make a determined bid for the varsity squad.

One of the brothers is Pat Barron, of Clarksville, Ga. Pat will have a hard time upholding the Barron traditions in football, for he was preceded at Tech by both David Iremus and Carter Barron. Those young men were backfield players and their work is still remembered and discussed wherever football fans convene for chats anent their favorite pastime.

The other brother player is Sam Fincher. Everybody remembers the great work of Bill Fincher in the Tech line, and they are expecting little Sam to follow the fine example that Bill set.

Michigan Gains Tie for Big Ten Lead

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 5.—(AP.)—Michigan's big Maize and Blue machine won at least a tie for the Big Ten basketball championship last night by lambasting Wisconsin, 37 to 22, before 9,500 spectators in Yost Field House.

The surprisingly one-sided triumph ended Michigan's campaign with a record of 10 won and two lost. Wisconsin, which seems certain of sharing the other half of the title, has a record of nine victories and two defeats, both of which were suffered at the hands of Michigan.

MORRYS, ROSIES TO DRAW CROWD

One of the largest crowds in years is expected to pack the South Side Market House next Thursday night when the original Morry Big Five meets the crack Rosenblums, of Cleveland, winners of the first half championship in the American League.

The Rosies are coming to Pittsburgh with four former members of the New York Celtics in their lineup and will present one of the most attractive lineups ever to appear on a local floor. Joe Lapchick, Johnny Beckman, Pete Barry and Dutch Dehnert are the four old favorites who will oppose the Morrys.

The Morrys will have five local coaches, all of whom started their pro careers with them, on the floor against the Rosies. Bill Campbell, Chick Davies, Ken Loeffler, Whitey Littell, Yans Wallace, Moon Kingling and George Ramsey will play under the Morry banner.

Tickets have been placed on sale at Kramer's, Heinhauer's in McKees Rocks and at Goldenson's on the South Side.

Murphy Sets Cage Scoring Record

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 5.—(INS.)—Stretch Murphy, of Purdue, today was the proud possessor of an all-time Big Ten individual basketball scoring record. In the final game of the season here last night against Ohio State, Murphy scored 22 points to bring his season's total to 143. The former record of 153 was set by Johnny Miner, of Ohio State, in 1925.

BOHNERTS WIN

A. C. Bohnerts defeated St. Michaels, 31 to 22, last night. The lineup:

Bohnert—31.		St. Michaels—22.

Badger Coach Takes Game Seriously

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 5.—(AP.)—Coach Walter Meanwell and his Wisconsin team take their basketball seriously—even to millimeters.

For more than an hour before their disastrous game with Michigan last night, Meanwell and his retinue of coaches measured and re-measured Michigan's hardwood court.

"Say, that basket is several millimeters lower than the other one," Meanwell informed the startled Michigan fieldhouse attendants.

The discrepancy was adjusted after more laborious measuring, but Wisconsin lost anyway.

Shaughency, Tech Gridder, Makes Marriage Known

Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Harper, of Lebanon Hills, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Edith Lucille, to Mr. Harvey Shaughency, of Canonsburg.

This would make a swell item for the society page were it not that the groom is the Carnegie Tech football Shaughency. He goes under the name of "Shag" rather than "Harvey" on the Tartan campus. Mrs. Shaughency is a student at Margaret Morrison.

While the announcement was made only yesterday, the marriage took place a year ago, March 1, 1928, and was kept a secret until last week, when the young folks broke the news to their parents. Shaughency is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Shaughency, of Canonsburg. He is a student in the school of mining engineering at Tech.

CLUBS IN SOUTH WORK HARD

ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—(AP.)—Southern sunshine has had ample time to get in its effect as major league squads training in Dixie started a week of more and harder work.

John McGraw's Giants, pasturing over at San Antonio, Tex., found one workout insufficient and went back to the diamond later in the day for another long drill. Terry and Roush both were yet absent but no worry was felt, as they have already signed.

Lena Blackburne, chief of the Chicago White Sox ordered an all-day session at Dallas with lunch served the field. A Yannigan-Regular game featured the afternoon.

Buddy Myer, who not so long ago went Boston, but was brought back, agreeably surprised Walter Johnson at Tampa, Fla., when he reported ready to work to the Senators. He was not expected for another week. Myers has played shortstop and third base in the majors.

The Phillies were straggling into camp at Winter Haven, Fla., with John Greene, Don Hurst, Sweetland and Fresco Thompson, the latest additions. They went through their first workout during the morning.

Jack Hendricks, drafted his Cincinnati Reds for a practice game at Orlando with rookie pitchers doing the dinging.

At Fort Myers, the Athletics' regulars smashed the rookies for the second successive time, 19 to 4, in a full nine-inning game.

Work was the order at the Cardinals camp in Avon Park, with the arrival of the first contingent of infielders and gardeners. Manager Southworth laid heavy stress on the hitting game, keeping the boys swinging for an hour.

TWO REDS LEAVE CAMP

ORLANDO, Fla., March 5.—(INS.)—Two Cincinnati Reds left the camp here today. Roy Meeker, whose pitching arm is bothering him due to neuritis, went to consult specialists. Bill Rourke, scout, went to west Palm Beach to give the double-o to any players who may be released by the St. Louis Browns.

MONESSEN FIVE FALLS BEFORE HOMESTEAD

W. P. I. A. L. SERIES.
FIRST ROUND SCORES

Fifth Ave.	32	Stowe	26
Aliquippa	22	Braddock	20
Bellevue	25	Dunbar	12
Uniontown	30	New Brighton	20
Homestead	22	Monessen	17

SECOND ROUND SCHEDULE.

Tomorrow—Bellevue vs. Aliquippa.
Thursday—Georges vs. Uniontown.
Friday—Ford City vs. Homestead.
Saturday—Fifth Avenue vs. Freeport.

By JESS CARVER

They had 'em hangin' on the rafters like a lot of bats out at the Stadium Pavilion last night, did Homestead and Monessen in their W. P. I. A. L. elimination series game. The biggest crowd that has jammed and rammed its way into the Pitt auditorium this season, some 4,500, watched Bill Campbell's Homesteaders annex a first-round triumph by a 22-to-17 score.

DEFENSE TIGHT

Homestead outsteadied Monessen and out-defensed them to win last night's encounter. Monessen started off like champs, outscoring the Campbellmen during the first half, but once Homestead settled down and went to work, the ball game was in. Monessen was almost totally unable to penetrate the defense of the Steeltowners in the last two periods.

Even though they did not play the basketball of which they are capable, and which they will have to play to reach the finals of this tourney, Bill's club looked like the best team and missed enough shots during the first half to have established a healthy lead. The ball simply would not drop, and when it is acting in that fashion, one might as well throw 'em in the gallery.

Monessen hopped off to an 2-to-1 lead in the first period, due to the the scoring efforts of Currie, a little forward, who was the star of the night. He bagged six points in this period. Homestead rallied in the second quarter, goals by Bair, Johnson and Oates enabling the team to pull up to within a point of the Section VII quint as the half ended.

HOMESTEADERS RALLY

Fine goals by Bair and Birch and sterling defensive work by the entire club, which did not permit a Monessen field goal in the third period, put Homestead comfortably out in front and put the game in the bag for the distinguished Mr. Campbell. Birch threw a pair from out in front, and Bair flipped his in from under the hoop. Monessen tried manfully to break through Homestead's tight defense, but failed dismally and resorted to a long shot game, which fell down like a wet sock.

In the final period, Campbell's other forward star, Johnson, who had been resting since the second period, opened up with both barrels and bagged two goals, Birch's foul added the twenty-second point, McGiness, a clever guard, who had tossed one for Monessen in the first period from the center of the floor, duplicated the trick late in the game, and missed four or five others like it.

Homestead worked its pivot play well, throwing the ball "into the hole" and setting it out to a man at side-court neatly. Birch dribbled straight down the center of the floor for shot after shot. A bit of early checking on the part of Monessen might have spoiled this young man's game. Might of, I said.

Tomorrow night, Nate Lippe's Harding High team of Aliquippa and Larry Danyer's Bellevue club will open the play in the second round. Last night's lineup:

Homestead—22.		Monessen—17.
Bair	F	Currie
Johnson	F	Soltis
Oates (C.)	C	Janoski
Birch	G	(C.) McGiness
Sertich	G	Feldman

Score by periods:

Homestead	4	7	6	5	—22
Monessen	8	4	2	3	—17

Substitutions: Monessen — Rosenthal, Hazelbaker, Vogle. Homestead—None.

Field goals: Homestead—Bair 2, Johnson 3, Birch 3. Monessen—Currie 2, Janoski, McGiness 2.

Fouls: Homestead—Bair, 1 out of 1; Oates, 1 out of 1, Birch, 2 out of 4; Sertich, 0 out of 1. Monessen—Currie, 5 out of 6; Soltis, 1 out of 1; Janoski, 0 out of 1; McGiness, 0 out of 1; Feldman, 1 out of 2.

Leading scorer — Currie, Monessen, 9 points.

Referee—Dan Dougherty.

Umpire—Cal Bolster.

GEORGES GETS TITLE

Georges Township officially was awarded the Section XIII title last night when the decisions committee of the W. P. I. A. L. declared French Furin, a member of the North Union High team, guilty of the charges of ineligibility brought against him by Brownsville High.

Had Furin's status been found o. k., the North Union team and Georges Township would have been tied for the Sectional lead and a play-off game been necessary.

DUKE PLANS SET

Duquesne University's state Catholic High School championship tourney will get under way Thursday, with four games on the schedule. Six will be played on Friday and two on Saturday. In the event that the entry list is boosted to more than a dozen teams, the extra games will be played on Thursday.

The official invitation from Loyola University of Chicago for the winner of the tournament to participate in the national tournament, annually stated by the Chicago institution, was received by Director of Athletics Elmer Layden yesterday.

Duquesne University will pay expenses of the winner of its tourney to the national event. This trip will be the big prize for the local champion.

MURPHY SETS RECORD

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 5.—(AP.)—Charles (Stretch) Murphy scored 22 points against Ohio State here last night to raise his season total to 143, a new Big Ten individual record, as Purdue defeated the Buckeyes, 45 to 34.

A. B. C. LEAD CHANGES

CHICAGO, March 5.—(AP.)—The Kids, a squad of juveniles from Chicago, went into fifth place in the team event of the American Bowling Congress tourney here last night with a score of 2697. There were no other changes among the leaders.

JACK DEMPSEY TO BOX FRIDAY IN BOSTON

BOSTON, March 5.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey, it was announced today, will take part in a charity boxing card at the Boston Garden Friday night.

According to Eddie Mack, promoter, Dempsey will fight a three-round exhibition preliminary to the Joe Dundee-Al Mello bout. Dempsey's opponent was unnamed.

It was the original plan of Mack to have the old Manassa Mauler be master of ceremonies at the charity show, but the Massachusett's Boxing Commission refused to sanction such an arrangement, it was said.

Mack said he hoped to sign Dempsey during his stay here for a bout with Jimmy Maloney, to be held some time next summer. A report published here today said that Dempsey had rejected a $250,000 offer to meet Maloney here next summer—that Jack told Mack at the time of the Sharkey-Stribling fight that if he did any more fighting, and he didn't think he would, it would be for the Madison Square Corporation in New York.

FAVORS RACING

NEW YORK, March 5.—(INS.)—Jack Dempsey is leaving Florida and will be here in a few days to tell William F. Carey that he is not going to fight again unless his Detroit racing proposition falls down, through failure to pass a law permitting the mutuels in Michigan.

Old John has determined to give the Detroit thing a grapple, because he regards the automobile city as rich territory and ripe for any sporting venture to which Dempsey may lend his name. He has already tied up with a group that will build a race track in Detroit as soon as the anticipated favorable legislative action is complete.

Dempsey knows something of racing from the standpoint of a stableowner and a player. He knows little of the business end. In Florida he discovered that he had plenty to learn about a game he had played for years as a fighter. However, he got by in Florida by picking his spots and he ought to do just as well in racing.

NOT TO QUIT AS PROMOTER

Dempsey does not intend to retire as a boxing promoter, but he is planning to make Detroit his base of operations, with Floyd Fitzsimmons to handle the detail work and himself to furnish a background for publicity purposes. The pair already contemplate staging a lightweight championship fight in the Detroit baseball park and Dempsey has made overtures to Kid Chocolate and other little fellows to perform for him.

Back in old John's head there is a lingering ambition to crawl into the ring once more himself to put his dukes up with some big bozo who will tear into him. He would chance being flattened by one blow himself if he could trade with a slugger. He wants no more of those lads whose idea is to peck him to pieces.

AKRON SOCCER STARS INVADE SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS.

While nothing has been announced officially regarding the local soccer card for next Sunday, it is expected that the Heidelberg-Goodyear game will be played in the fourth round of the national amateur cup. This was scheduled two weeks ago, but Goodyear at that time was tied up in the national challenge cup. The Holley Carburetors, however, put a quietus on the Rubber boys last Sunday, so now there is nothing to stop the playing of the game.

Manager Balsarini last evening stated that the game will be staged at the Bridgeville Speedway, this venue being selected to take care of the great crowd expected at this important game.

It is reported that the Rubber town followers are coming down to the game in a special train, and if this is true the Speedway should be packed.

Two weeks' layoff is not going to help the Green and Gold and the fact that Heidelberg plays well on heavy fields should even up the score. Goodyear got a fine drubbing at Detroit, but the Holley team that went into the final of the national cup two years ago is a wonderful soccer aggregation.

Rosenbloom Beats Garfield Johnson In Buffalo Go

BUFFALO, March 5.—(AP.)—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, won a decisve victory over Len Darcy, Michigan, in a six-round bout here.

many others who are in need of the instruction—including one P. Waner, whose smashing but covereth a multitude of faults, as it were. It is not the intention here to state that Brother Paul is slow, yet there are many things about baserunning which he does not know. Brother Lloyd is a wizard on the paths.

Bush also is teaching his players the fine points of sliding. The sandpit was a lively spot during the afternoon session. More than one player came back to the bathhouse with a "strawberry" on his leg, but these were absorbed because the boys would not wait until the sand could be replaced around the practice bag.

Rolly Hemsley's perfect form is apparent in nearly everything that comes up, on a ball field. In making the pivots around the bases Bush used the fast catcher as a pattern for some of the others, and during the sliding session this hard-working kid was diving around like an infielder or outfielder.

Dr. Marks ordered Cicero Jim Stroner to remain at the hotel yesterday afternoon. The boy no doubt is anxious to make a fine showing, and the club physician thinks he may hurt himself in the region of his appendix wound.

Barney Dreyfuss has moved from San Francisco to Del Monte, famed resort town of the Pacific Coast. Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss was in communication yesterday with his dad, who stated he might come down to the Pirate camp later. The San Francisco Seals are training at Monterey, which is no farther from Del Monte than the Schenley Hotel from Forbes Field.

The younger Dreyfuss has nothing new to give out regarding the Waner boys, who are still in Oklahoma, so far as is known in the Pittsburgh camp.

Earl Sheely is living the life of Riley. At the end of the afternoon practice Earl bathes, dresses, stops at the corner meat market and grocery store, gets an armful of fresh food and then whizzes over an improved road to his country home in less than 15 minutes. And with a loving wife and two fine children to greet him, Earl is the picture of contentment. The mother and children plan to go to Pittsburgh for the summer.

Mickey Solmen Stops Goodnick

EAST LIVERPOOL, March 5.—Three knockouts featured the boxing show staged at the local auditorium last night. The main setto between Mickey Solmen, of New Castle and Johnny Goodnick, of Tarentum, came to an abrupt ending in the fourth round when Goodnick took one on the chin that toppled him for the count.

Al Brown, of Warren, stopped Mike Von Grey, of Pittsburgh, in the second round of a scheduled four-rounder, and Ray Mitchell, East Liverpool, put over a sleeper on Al Kelly, of Lisbon, in the second round.

U. S. Carpentier, New Kensington, won a decision over Aloy Miller, Youngstown, in the six-round semi-final.

RICE IS SIGNED TO MANAGE CHARLEROI

CHARLEROI, Pa., March 5.—Bob Rice, of Philadelphia, signed today as manager of the Charleroi Governors in the Middle Atlantic League, and following a short conference with local club owners received detailed information concerning the club for the 1929 season. He returned to Philadelphia following the confab and will be back in Charleroi within a month.

Rice comes to Charleroi from the Wilkesbarre club in the Pennsylvania-New York League, where he has been for the last three years.

It will be the first introduction of a playing manager in Charleroi, Rice intending to hold down the hot corner at third base, and conduct the destinies of the M. A.

Brammer to Lead Ohio U. Varsity

ATHENS, O., March 5.—Captain-elect of the 1930 basketball team of Ohio University is John (Red) Brammer, Marietta center, it was announced today. Brammer was center on this year's team. He is also captain-elect for football next fall, playing end. In addition, he is an excellent baseball player, covering right field. Brammer is one of Ohio's few three-sport men.

WEST VIRGINIA QUINT ENJOYS VACATION

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 5.—Coaches Francis Stadsvold and Albert (Big Sleepy) Glenn, tutors of West Virginia University varsity and freshman floor quints announced this morning that they would give their passing proteges a much-needed rest today. The double defeat administered by the two University of Pittsburgh teams here Saturday night brought out considerable indication of "staleness" in the Mountaineer attack. Both the West Virginia plebes and varsity men have gone through a gruelling session of games in the past month and the strain of those encounters appears to have cropped out at last.

The Mountaineers are carded to meet Davis and Elkins College at Elkins, W. Va., tomorrow night, but Coach Stadvold does not intend to hold any more long practice sessions this year—only a light drill having been ordered for Tuesday afternoon previous to the departure for Elkins for the last road game of the season. Coach Glenn's Little Mountaineers are idle until Saturday when they meet the Washington and Jefferson plebes here in the preliminary of the season's court finale for West Virginia.

N. Carolina Faces Duke Tonight In Title Tilt

ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—(AP.)—North Carolina State College defeated the University of Mississippi, defending champions, in the semi-final round of the Southern Conference basketball here last night, 34-32.

North Carolina State and Duke will fight it out for the Southern championship here tonight.

In the second semi-final Duke defeated the University of Georgia, 43 to 37.

New York State To Improve Greens

ITHACA, N. Y., March 5.—A definite movement to improve the greens and fairways of golf courses in New York State was announced today by Prof. Ralph W. Curtis, of the department of ornamental horticulture at Cornell University.

The New York State Golf Association has just voted to establish a turf garden at Cornell University. The purpose of this garden is to develop strains of grasses and to experiment with such things as weed control, diseases, fertilizers, top-dressing machinery and equipment and other problems which New York golf courses have to face in the maintenance of good turf and proper playing conditions.

The action by the State Golf Association has been largely due to the interest of Sherrill Sherman, of Utica, and of the president, Mr. Don M. Parker, of New York City.

ADGIE BEATS O'KELLY IN 10 ROUNDS

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—(AP.)—Matt Adgie, Philadelphia iceman, hammered his way to a decision over Con O'Kelly, Ireland, in a 10-round bout at the Arena last night. Adgie weighed 171, O'Kelly 188.

Although jarred to his heels at times, Adgie was always boring in and after opening a deep cut over O'Kelly's right eye in the third, he dropped his opponent with a vicious punch over the heart in the sixth. O'Kelly took the count of nine and was considerably weakened at the end of the round.

For the rest of the battle they slugged it out, with Adgie always working in close and directing his attention to the body.

Midget Kilburn, 127, Philadelphia, and Tiger Taylor, Macon, Ga., 127, fought a six-round draw, and Joe Proctor, Washington, D. C., 178, achieved a technical knockout over Jack Carroll, New York, 168, in the third round.

OHIO GRIDDERS CALLED OUT

ATHENS, O., March 5.—Needing numerous new parts, the Ohio University football machine has been brought out of retirement by Coach Don Peden for the annual three weeks' spring practice.

Graduation in June will deprive Peden of six important men: Capt. Pete McKinley, of Athens, whom Peden calls "the greatest all-around football player ever to wear the Ohio colors," Lyle Mowbray, Frankfort; Dallas Farmer, Lisbon; Joe Begala, Struthers; Al Jeffrey, Toledo, and William Garrison, Williamsport.

Leader of the Bobcats next fall will be John (Red) Brammer, of Marietta, an end who will have a big job in filling McKinley's shoes.

Promising backfield players who have reported for the spring practice and who will undoubtedly comprise next year's backfield squad are: Ray Hart, Marietta halfback; James (Chick) Young, Columbus fullback; Gerald Strayer, Marietta halfback; Russell Kepler, Wellington halfback; Gerald Varshower, halfback of Brooklyn, N. Y; Harold Kennard, McConnelsville halfback; Richard Mulbarger, Columbus halfback; Charles Engelfried, Rocky River halfback; Walter Estep, Youngstown halfback; Clyde Newell, Cleveland halfback; Ray Singer, Cleveland halfback; Harold Mason, Columbus halfback, and Bernard Sadosky, Euclid halfback.

GROVERS CAGE FAVORITES

SHARON, Pa., March 5.—Grove City High is given the rating as "dark horse" of the annual Mercer County scholastic basketball tournament which will be played at Grove City College tomorrow, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Grove City, after a good start during which it scored over Sharpsville and New Castle, went into a bad period when Coach Joe Hartman found that several of his men were not giving their best and proceeded to use substitutes as much as possible. In recent weeks the Grovers have come back and have been showing better work. They will have practically the same five men to start the tourney games as they had when the season was young.

The Grovers will, however, get a good test on their opening night when they meet Stoneboro, winners in Class B. Stoneboro has one of the best balanced teams in "B" history and has in Cann a real star. If Grove City can pull itself together and win this fray they will stand a good chance in the second round.

On basis of the regular season's work the three favorites are Sharon, Farrell and Sharpsville. Sharon and Farrell each won 6 and lost 2 against county squads in the regular year, while Sharpsville won all but three of its games.

However, the tourney shows no favoritism for any school no matter how good or bad during the year. Therefore, it may be one of the squads with a bad record will win the championship.

LANGFORD WINS EASILY

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 5.—(AP.)—Tate Langford, Dayton, junior welterweight, won all of the 10 rounds last night in his bout with Billy Anderson of Louisville, Ky.

kid, five and a half feet in height, with broad shoulders, chestnut hair and big blue eyes, and she has been playing only since 1926, but she has broken right into the queen row in southern tournaments this wintr and has displayed ability that leads the experts to predict that the established stars of the women's division are going to find it no easy matter to keep her from capturing some of the bigger titles.

Helen Hicks

MISS HICKS lost out in the tournament for the South Atlantic championship at Ormond Beach, Fla., last Saturday, but even at that she gave a fine account of herself in her first reverse of the winter and was defeated by only two-and-one in the final by Miss Van Wie, former national champion. She had won 15 consecutive matches since the Bermuda tournament.

And the South Atlantic championship was not the real objective of Helen in her invasion of Florida. The Florida East Coast tourney, which starts today in St. Augustine, is what she really has had her eyes on all along, and the older stars of the women's ranks are likely to have a hard time keeping her from coming home with first honors.

Stocks Fall Back — Local Stock Quotations

HIGHER MONEY PUTS STOCKS ON SKIDS

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Heavy buying of the railroad and copper shares turned the general courses of stock prices upward today after an early period of irregularity. Early losses, which ran from 2 to 8½ points in more than a score issues, were substantially cut down, or wiped out, and a long list of issues sold 1 to 9 points above yesterday's final quotations. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and held firm at that figure. Other monetary accommodations showed no change. Bankers hold out little hope of any marked relaxation in money rates before the March 15 income tax payments and government financing are out of the way. No other comment was forthcoming on rumors that New York Federal Reserve Bank directors voted to raise the rediscount rate to 6 per cent at their long meeting last month, but failed to receive the approval of the Federal Reserve Board.

Except for the recent publication of a series of unusually favorable traffic and earnings statements, there was nothing to explain the sudden revival of interest in the rail shares. Brokers pointed out that they had failed to keep pace with the advance in industrials and were "out of line" with the general list. New high records for the year were established by Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Seaboard All Line common and preferred, Chicago and Great Western preferred, Western Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Colorado and Southern and Erie common.

Calling of a special meeting of Anaconda Copper directors for late today was accompanied by reports that plans were under way to retire part of the funded debt through the issuance of additional common stock. Anaconda ran up nearly 6 points to a new high at 157¾ and Kennecott moved up 3 points to a new top at 95½.

Western Union ran up 9 points to within a point of the year's high. General Gas and Electric A jumped 8¾ points and purity Baking, Rossia Insurance, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Spicer Manufacturing, Goodyear Rubber, Packard Motors and Victor Talking Machine sold 3 to 5 points higher. Radio broke 5½ points to 38⅝ and then rallied to 39⅝.

Refined sugar prices dropped to the lowest levels in eight years.

Prices began to crack in the final hour when the call loan rate was boosted to 10 per cent. The railroads and coppers came down 1 to 3 points from their high levels, while Johns Manville was forced 6¾ points under its previous close. Electric Auto Lite, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward and Safeway Stores 4 each, U. S. Steel was among the issues to lose several points. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 4,200,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 5.—Sharp setbacks in the price of wheat today followed disclosure that offerings of wheat to come here from the Southwest had found no acceptance.

A reason given for this situation was that elevator room here has become filled up. The effect was to put decided emphasis on estimates indicating big reserve holdings of domestic wheat on farms, as well as to stress increases of the United States visible supply total. With domestic crop reports favorable, and with the world's wheat available supply increased a 1,500,000 bushels for the week, lowest prices today on wheat were made toward the last and were about 4 cents a bushel under yesterday's top level.

Wheat closed heavy, 2¼ to 2½c net lower; corn, ⅝ to 1c down; oats, ⅛ to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25c.

One leading authority was quoted today as asserting that even without the United States surplus the world supply of wheat is about equal to requirements, as well as allowing for a fair increase of farm reserves and carry-over at the end of the season. Meanwhile, large quantities of Argentine wheat were reported today as arriving in Europe and awaiting orders, with many harbors abroad still ice-bound.

Corn met with increased buying today whenever prices declined, this demand, which seemed to be based a good deal on prospective shortage of corn at the end of the season, appeared to come largely from standing orders to purchase future deliveries at various fixed limits. On the other hand, advices current said Europeans are buying new Argentine corn for shipment next month at quotations materially below what United States corn can be obtained at for shipment this month.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

Haley Fiske's Work, Vision. A Worthy Giant Cut Down;

By B. C. FORBES

PROBABLY one member of your family carries a policy of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, whose herculean head, Haley Fiske, has just died. The company has in force as many policies as there are families in the United States, with 10,000,000 to spare. The world has never known any other organization like it. Its 43,000,000 customers (policyholders) pay it more than $2,000,000 every day of the year. It's assets exceed two-and-a-third billions. It has on its books $16,500,000,000 of life insurance.

MR. FISKE in his later years regarded himself as the medical officer of health for America. He did infinitely more than any other man to improve the health of the nation. This work constitutes his greatest monument. It was this work that yielded him the greatest satisfaction in the seven years since he passed the proverbial allotted span of three score years and ten.

Some time ago he said to me with justifiable pride:

"We have lengthened the average life of our policyholders eight and a half years contrasted with an average of five and a half years for the whole country. We sent our corps of nurses into one community, Framingham, Mass., and cut the death rate among babies from 300 per 1,000 to 96. Between 1911 and 1924 we cut down our mortality from:

Typhoid ..... 80 per cent
Tuberculosis ..... 53 per cent
Children's diseases.. 55 per cent
Scarlet fever..... 67 per cent
Diphtheria ..... 53 per cent

"We believe we saved 200,000 lives among our policyholders in that period. In our own sanitarium 84 per cent of the tuberculosis patients have been discharged cured. Our nurses pay 15,000,000 visits a year, mostly among the families of workers. We distribute 40,000,000 pieces of health literature a year, aimed especially at the improvement of the health of mothers and babies.

"We spent $8,000,000 in building attractive homes to rent at $9 a room and this has proved both a sound policy and a sound investment. We plan to do more along this line.

"Although our expenditures to raise the health of the people of this country look large, they have actually proved profitable; the savings in the payment of policies have more than paid for all the services rendered."

MR. FISKE added:

"We are proud of the fact that Mr. Hoover has described the Metropolitan Life as 'the greatest humanitarian institution in the United States.'"

ALL that the Metropolitan did to better the health and lengthen the lives of the American people sprang directly from President Fiske's broad-gauge ideas. He was particularly interested in the health and well-being of three classes, industrial workers, mothers and children. It was largely due to his crusading that so many corporations were induced to take out insurance covering all their workers.

It is interesting to know that Haley Fiske became absolutely confident before he was so suddenly cut off—he died in his automobile on returning from church—that insurance against unemployment is bound to come in this country before long.

MR. FISKE was one of the few remaining old-type heads of great corporations. He ruled his vast organization with autocracy, so self-reliant, so capable, so sure of his ground was he. He did not feel it necessary to lean on any board of directors or board of trustees or even on subordinate officers. He though things out for himself and then issued orders. He regarded himself as the commander-in-chief of the Metropolitan's tens of thousands of employes and he was always prepared to accept full responsibility for his decisions.

He had applied himself so tremendously vigorously to his duties for almost 56 years—he completed 55 years' service last May—that he was complete master of every phase of the company's far-flung activities. A veritable giant, both physically and mentally, he was an ardent advocate of hard work, and he lived what he preached. Good health he regarded as man's greatest blessing. And he was a white-heat crusader against everything endangering the health of the individual and the nation.

Insurance, to him, was an ideal means toward an ideal end. His mission was not merely to have his company make money, but to develop it into what Mr. Hoover called it, "the greatest humanitarian institution in the United States."

And he succeeded as few men of affairs have ever succeeded.

UPON whom will Haley Fiske's mantle fall?

Probably on either Frederick H. Ecker, first vice president, or Archibald F. O. Fiske, a vice president and son of Mr. Fiske. In late years Mr. Ecker has come prominently before the business world in chamber of commerce work, as a director in various important corporations and as an authoritative speaker on problems concerning business.

Haley Fiske's place will not be easily filled as he filled it. You and I, all of us, are his debtors.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

New York Curb Market

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Conflicting price movements today marked the trading in the curb market, with many of the early losses wiped out on rallies at midday. Some of the "big board's" nervousness over the Mexican revolt was reflected in the swing of prices. Call money was unchanged at 8 per cent.

Aviation Corporation of America dropped 15 points to 70 and after recovering its loss declined again. Alexander Industries was the strong feature of the aviation group, continuing its advance to 23½. Fokker had a 2-point gain and Fairchild was strong.

Motors were heavy in the early dealing. Ford of Canada advanced 4 points. Firestone rallied 3 points after a 2 point decline.

Utilities were mixed. American Superpower being under pressure. Electric Bond and Share (new) recovered 5 points from a 4 point decline.

Fox Theater was again under pressure, yielding more than a point. Stewart-Warner (new) rose a point to 70¾, a new high.

Mining stocks were strong.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column in bond list):

R. C. A. DOUBLES NET PROFIT IN YEAR

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE Radio Corporation of America began to demonstrate its real potentialities in earnings in 1928. Net profit after all charges was double the amount reported for the previous year. It was four times the earnings in 1926. It was nearly seven times the earnings for 1925.

Conservative investment opinion has stood aghast at radio's action in the stock market. In a business subject to such sudden changes as the infant radio industry, only a brave prophet dares to make a definite forecast. But if this progress in earnings continues, Radio will justify the wildest dreams.

IN 1928, after making provision for all expenses, depreciation, taxes and, after setting aside $1,093,622 against patent amortization, the company earned $19,834,798. This was equivalent to $15.98 a share on the 1,155,400 shares of old common stock after deducting dividends on the $19,779,870 of 7 per cent preferred.

After the five-for-one splitup of common stock takes place, 1928 earnings will be equivalent tot $3.19 a share on the new stock. Radio is now selling on a basis of 25 times its 1928 earnings.

THE Radio Corporation's management has been pursuing a remarkably conservative policy. In addition to making the usual annual deduction from earnings for the amortization of patents, the company last year dug into its surplus to the extent of $4,789,924 and wiped the value of its patent off the books.

This valuable asset, the real worth of which no one can estimate, is carried at $1. These same patents returned the company $6,892,250 in royalties last year in addition to the use made of them in the company's own operations. The return in royalties was nearly double the amount received in 1927.

RADIO CORPORATION has no funded debt. The earnings last year were slightly more than the par value of the entire amount of preferred stock outstanding. The cash on hand and in banks at the end of the year amounting to $21,673,485 was considerably in excess of the preferred stock. In addition to this, the company had marketable securities worth $13,883,246.

Current assets were increased by $22,197,335 during the year to a total of $55,577,250. They were 3½ times current liabilities and Radio has no notes outstanding.

APPROXIMATELY $1,000,000 will be added to this year's earnings, since no deduction will have to be made against patent amortization, now that this asset is off the books.

Few realize how vast the widespread interests of Radio are. Most of its profits are secured from the sale of manufactured equipment. Gross sales of this type amounted to $86,900,152 in 1928, out of a total gross income of $101,551,603. The income from royalties mentioned above constitutes the next item in importance. After this, comes $4,595,551 for transoceanic communications. Marine radio service contributed $1,526,544 and other income amounted to $2,225,060.

In the future, the revenue from the amusement interests of the company will become an increasingly important factor. Early in 1928, in co-operation with the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, both of which are big stockholders in Radio Corporation, the company organized a new subsidiary known as R. C. A. Photophone, Inc.

THIS organization is developing and distributing sound motion picture equipment and sound films. Contracts have been made with the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation for the equipment of theaters controlled by the company. The Radio Corporation also has a stock interest in Radio-Keith-Orpheum. Contracts have been executed for the equipment of 100 theaters outside of this chain.

One of the lataest developments has been the acquisition of stock in the Victor Talking Machine Company which will greatly improve the working arrangements between the two organizations. These new fields did not show to any extent, in last year's earnings. They will be a big factor in the present year's results and the combination will grow in value as time goes on.

National Union Fire Insurance Company
139 University Place,
Pittsburgh, Pa.
February 26th, 1929.

To the Stockholders of the National Union Fire Insurance Company.

Pursuant to the action of the stockholders at the Annual Meeting held January 10th, 1927, at which time the price of $200.00 per share was fixed for the unissued portion of the authorized capital stock of the Company, representing $100.00 par value (to be credited to capital) and $100.00 premium (to be credited to surplus), and in accordance with resolution adopted by the Board of Directors at the regular meeting held January 29th, 1929, ten thousand shares of new stock, the balance of the unissued authorized capital stock of the Company, is offered to you for subscription at the price of $200.00 per share.

Stockholders of record at the close of business February 26th, 1929, are hereby notified of their right to subscribe for and take the stock at the price of Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) per share, in proportion to their respective holdings, or to waive such right on or before April 1st, 1929, after which date the right to subscribe will expire.

Subscriptions will be payable on or before May 9th, 1929, and all stockholders who shall not have paid their subscriptions on or before that date shall have forfeited their said subscriptions.

Interest will not be allowed on payments and the new stock shall not participate in dividends declared prior to July 26th, 1929.

Stockholders whose subscriptions shall not have been received by the Company on or before April 1st, 1929, shall be deemed to have waived their right to subscribe.

F. J. BUKEEN, Secretary.

Discuss Anaconda Plan.

Directors of the Anaconda Copper Company, it is understood, will consider at a meeting called today the matter of retiring the outstanding bonds through the sale of additional shares to stockholders. The terms for issuing the new stock, understood to be under consideration by the directors, are the issuance of rights to subscribe for two shares of stock for each five shares now held, or the right to subscribe for one share of stock for every two held. In both instances the right at par of $50 a share is being discussed. It is believed the ratio of two shares for five is the more probable one to be adopted.

A. T. and T. Stock Increase.

Stockholders of American Telegraph and Telephone Company will be asked to increase authorized capital stock from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 at annual meeting March 26. At the end of 1928 the company had outstanding $1,348,000,000 of its authorized stock, of which $58,000,000 represented installment payments on new stock by employes. Within the next few years, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will spend about $2,000,000,000 in laying cables across the Atlantic Ocean, in extension of its foreign cable service. Huge expenditures will be made at home, requiring an ever-increasing capitalization in both bonds and stocks. Officials of the company stated that no new stock will be sold at the present time, the requested increase in capitalization being one of the periodic increases called for in order to take care of requirements in the coming years.

Reading Coal Expansion.

Preliminary plans for expansion and improvement of its properties involving an outlay of millions of dollars have been announced by A. J. Maloney, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. In line with the expenditures contemplated, Mr. Maloney said, stockholders of the company will be offered $30,000,000 convertible six per cent debenture bonds as the first step in financing the proposed expansion program. Concentration and consolidation of coal preparation plants on their properties in Pennsylvania, together with complete electrification of mechanical equipment and transportation are high lights in the company's plan, with the result, it is expected, of greater efficiency and economy in the production and preparation of coal.

Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Corporation called a special meeting of stockholders March 15 to vote on increasing the authorized capital stock from 1,400,000 to 3,000,000 shares and to approve a contract between the corporation and the P. and R. Coal and Iron Company, providing for sale to stockholders of the corporation of $30,800,000 of 20-year convertible 6 per cent debenture bonds of the P. and R. Coal and Iron Company.

Chicago Scrap Lower.

Heavy melting steel has declined 25 cents in the Chicago market and is being quoted at $15.50 to $16, according to Daily Metal Trade. The market was noticeably consistent through November, when it started with a range of $16 to $16.50. By March 1 it lost 25 cents to the level of $15.75 to $16.25. Heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh in February averaged $18.61, against the January average of $19.06 and the December average of $17.66. Youngstown market opened February at $18.50 to $19, by mid-February it lost $1, and by March 1 it again lost 50 cents, off the top to a range of $17.50 to $18. Cleveland appears to have been the only important consuming cente where a gain of 25 cents in No. 2 grade has been sustained. February opened in that city at $15 to $15.50 but by March 1 the range had advanced to $15.25 to $15.75

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 5.—The inauguration day selling of stocks and the Mexican revolution put a damper today on the early dealings in the bond market. Prices were irregular and sales were bunched in the speculative convertibles. Money continued firm.

Anaconda Copper convertible 7s continued their upward march, touching 235½ on reports Anaconda directors at their meeting Thursday would act to retire the funded debt. The 6s were steady at 105, their redemption price. Atchison convertible 4½s advanced fractionally, but International Telephone 4½s on a $184,000 turnover sagged nearly a point. Weakness also was displayed by Allegheny Corporation 5s and Dodge Bros. convertible 6s.

Mexican bonds, after their decline yesterday, were inactive in the early trading in the dull and featureless foreign list.

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

GOOD news from Hoover's new administration. The cigaret people have run out of blindfolds and will accept testimonials from near-sighted people.

Teddy Roosevelt would have taken the oath of office if it had been written by the same man who wrote "What Price Glory."

There is an uncertified rumor that Cal Coolidge asked Herbert to be a sport and turn the parade into a race.

Herbert refused to risk his title twice.

So, after Herbert had been thoroughly inaugurated in the capitol, Cal took the train for his new job.

Which is good-will ambassador to Northampton, Vt.

There were two parades yesterday. The biggest one formed at the foot of the Washington Monument, marched across the long bridge and leaped off in the middle. This parade was 80,000 strong and consisted of cabinet members who didn't cab.

The clubbiest of all inaugural processions was the Cleveland tour when the boys went up the avenue on a bicycle built for two.

We went over to snap a look at the Lincoln Memorial, which is a white marble establishment on the water. It's all very beautiful, but we cannot understand what Abe wants with a boathouse.

Young John Coolidge marched in the parade as an aide to Gov. Trumbull of a small Northern state. John is a colonel on the governor's staff. Which rank entitles him to show great bravery and resourcefulness while dedicating a cornerstone.

Every governor was surrounded by his staff. There was enough gold braid in the stampede to make a curtain for an opera house.

The Treasury Building is smothered in a high wall of grandstands. Every window in the treasury is blocked up. This prevented Andy Mellon from seeing the expense the boys had gone to.

Charley Curtis spent Sunday studying the line of march. Charles didn't want to make a mistake and parade into the Smithsonian Institution.

Our New President, Herbert Hoover, Man of EXPERIENCE, POWER AND KNOWLEDGE

Your New President

Thanking Calvin Coolidge for his excellent work as President, and Mrs. Coolidge for her gracious service as "first lady of the land," the people turn toward Herbert Hoover, who now takes charge of this nation's government and PROSPERITY.

Mr. Hoover's story will be written in the next four years, and the four years following, and his place in history established by his ACTS.

He is a man of training and wide experience. And he is a genuinely TYPICAL AMERICAN.

As a boy, Herbert Hoover played around his father's blacksmith shop, in the West. Left an orphan, and poor, when very young, he worked his way through college, worked in a mine, trained himself as an engineer so successfully that without influential friends he was able to earn in his profession more than $50,000 a year before he was 30 years old.

He has worked as an engineer in Australia, in China, in Russia and in Africa, on the rubber plantations of the Belgian Congo.

The general public, including especially every anxious mother in America, became acquainted with Herbert Hoover during the war. Since that time he has been as well known as any American.

Mr. Hoover's election puts in the White House a trained engineer, the first to be elected President since George Washington.

Mr. Hoover's selection of his cabinet shows that he understands men, and selects them for their ability to DO THINGS, not merely for their ability as politicians.

President Hoover understands this country, its needs in the way of power plants, canals, roads AND HE KNOWS HOW TO BUILD SUCH THINGS.

He understands the problem of floods and how to deal with it.

HE is an ABLE man and will make a GOOD President. The people are fortunate in having his services.

Fatal Accident Points Out Danger of Speed Trucks

Although it has not been determined what was the cause of the explosion that burned an overturned gasoline truck, causing the death of two men in charge of the machine and $30,000 property damage, resulting from the firing of properties near the site of the deplorable accident, there is a lesson in it.

It is not intimating that the driver may have been keeping the truck at too high speed to state that the incident points to the need of extreme care in the driving of trucks. Too often do we see trucks driven at a speed at which they are able to pass fast motor passenger vehicles. Such speed always is extremely dangerous in vehicles of truck weight.

It would be well for all employers of truck drivers to check up on their performances occasionally. They would find that speeding is not confined to drivers of passenger cars. That is bad enough, but a truck tearing through the streets as fast as it can go is a considerably more serious menace.

Tales That Are Told

Taking No Chances

O'ROURKE and O'Riley, a pair of pugilistic Irishmen, had had a little argument which they decided to settle by a fight. It was agreed that the one who wanted to stop first should cry "Enough!"

The battle began and O'Rourke, who was really the stronger of the two, managed to hurl his opponent to the ground very quickly. Immediately he started to pummel the man unmercifully before he could rise.

"Enough!" shrieked the man on the ground.

But his victor was deaf to all appeals until the referee interfered.

"Let him up," roared the referee. "Can't you hear him shouting?"

"Sure Oi can," retorted the other. "But he's such a liar, ye can never believe a word he says."

The Very Image

MR. SCRIMBAG was in the town, and thought he would call at the photographer's and see whether his wife's snapshots were ready. As it happened, they weren't, but the proprietor laid a detaining hand on the customer's sleeve.

"Your son ordered these from me," he ventured, holding out a batch of photos.

"They are very like him," commented the boy's father, looking at them closely. "May I ask if he has paid for them?"

"No, sir," replied the other, "he hasn't."

"Humph, that is even more like him," said the old man sourly, and he walked out of the shop.

Asking Too Much

WHEN a certain film star went to get a license for her fourth —or was it her fifth?—marriage she was rather sensitive, and the clerk who filled in the form seemed to be unduly inquisitive.

"Have you ever been married before?" he asked. "And, if so, to whom?"

This was too much for the actress, and in her most freezing manner she demanded:

"Excuse me, young man, but do you imagine you are conducting a memory test, or what?"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a prominent guy in the church that didn't care for the new minister. He had tried to keep the board from hiring Rev. Bings, and was awful sore because he couldn't have his way.

So at the next meeting of the board after the new pastor had been broke in, the president of the board says, "I'm made sad by the way Brother Grump takes the new minister. I don't like to have the Rev. man insulted every Sunday."

"What do you mean by that?" says Doctor Pill, who's a member of the board.

"Why haven't you noticed that Grump has got up and walked out three Sunday's during the sermon?"

"Oh, that ain't an insult, Chairman," says the doc. "You see I am Grump's physician, and I know he's been troubled with sleep-walking for years."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

SOME poor men went to see Benito Mussolini.

They wanted to talk over a plan with him for relieving the hardships of other working men.

But Benito Mussolini did not wish to hear their plan.

He became quite indignant when they insisted on stating it.

He would attend to all such problems himself when he saw fit, and not before.

Did they not know who he was?

"I AM MUSSOLINI!" he announced haughtily.

Which may go over big with Italian Facists—but not for long.

When folks get to that "I AM" stage the end is near.

Some of these days fate is just going to lean down lazily and sideswipe him into the ranks of the Who was Who's.

"I AM MUSSOLINI!" he will protest indignantly.

"NO YOU AIN'T!" fate will say. And Benito will become just another busted record.

I—AMITIS—that's Mussolini's disease.

It is the commonest and most fatal of all human diseases.

Very little authority is needed to produce a most virulent case of I—AMITIS.

I have seen floor-walkers so inflated with I—AMITIS that they would pop at the slightest pressure.

Almost all parents have I—AMITIS.

They do not suffer from such exaggerated cases as grandpa and gramma did, thanks to the well-known revolt of the younger generations. But even at that most of them manage to run up a pretty fair temperature.

It's funny; before becoming poppas or mommas they may have been a couple of nit wits that you wouldn't trust to sift the ashes.

But once let them give birth and Benito has nothing on them.

They are immediately all smoked up with I-AMITIS.

"I don't wanna do that? Why've I gotta?" whines the infant.

"Don't ask questions, young man," snaps Poppa. "I have said so. That's enough."

It isn't enough. No man on earth, whether it be Mussolini or just a plain papa, is wise or valuable enough to issue mandates without explanations.

"I AM MUSSOLINI!" or "I AM PAPA!" is no answer to any question, however trivial.

Even God does not put on airs like that. He lets us have our say—all the say we want. And then watches quietly while we eat our words.

Floor-walkers, dictators, parents aren't the only ones who have I—AMITIS.

School teachers have it—bad.

Successful females with careers —oh, boy!

Congressmen would all suffer from it in its most exaggerated form if it were not for that well-known American institution—the "Raspberry."

And as for writers, artists, musicians—!!!!

In short, give any man a little power and if he isn't swelled up like a Zeppelin within 24 hours he's superhuman.

SEASON CHANGES

By Garrett P. Serviss

"It seems an admitted fact that the winters around New York City and vicinity are far less severe than those of the past. I have heard it said that this change is due to the Gulf Stream. Is this so? Also, that summers are cooler than in the past; if so, what is the reason?—John Dunne, Richmond Hill."

IT is the common experience in the temperate zone that the seasons vary, both periodically and irregularly. The irregular variations are apt to be local, so that broad, or world-wide, records do not show them. The periodical variations are general in extent, but still they may be largely affected by local conditions, so that the records which contain them are apt to be somewhat contradictory.

In addition to these actual variations there are imaginary ones, some due to mental impressions and some arising from unnoted changes in the location of the observer, or in his surroundings. I have no doubt that the vast growth and expansion of New York City, with all the atmospheric influence it carries, has had some effect upon the local character of the seasons in the Metropolitan area. Such effect is probably not very great, but it may be no less real. Theoretically it should widen the sphere of relative exemption from lightning bolts, and perhaps have some effect upon the local precipitation of moisture. New York occasionally blankets its whole neighborhood with fogs.

But over these local phenomena spread the truly periodical changes. For details, the weather bureau records and the results of general studies of solar radiation and of atmospheric topography must be consulted. It should be generally understood by this time that the one final source of atmospheric activity is the radiation of the sun. But, outside of scientific circles, there exists an obstinate notion that the sun is always the same faithful old shiner.

This is a mistake. If you want to convince yourself of the fact that suns are not so reliable, get a small telescope and join the Variable Star Observers. Then you will see for yourself how the brothers of our sun far out in space go up and down in brightness. Having thousands of individual suns to deal with, you will get a statistical grasp on them and so will learn their characteristics as a whole.

Some will impress you as having gone mad, so great and violent are their changes; others will seem to have just caught the solar malady, which they, as yet, feel but slightly.

Our sun has the germs of a disorder which is hereditary in its family, but fortunately it is only in a first stage, and the progress appears to be exceedingly slow. Already, however, the evil has gone far enough to cause quaverings which result in measurable variations of several degrees in the intensity of the sun's radiation upon the earth. Some are like the swift shivering of a patient at the beginning of a fever; others are long, slow, gradual depressions and elevations of temperature. Their insignia are the periodical sun spots and the accompanying shiftings of the mysterious coronal envelope of the sun.

Bible Passages

Christ's Kingdom

(Psalm 45)

MY heart is inditing a good matter: I speak of the things which I have made touching the king: my tongue is the pen of a ready writer.

Thou art fairer than the children of men: grace is poured into thy lips: therefore God hath blessed thee forever.

Gird thy sword upon thy thigh, O most mighty, with thy glory and thy majesty.

And in thy majesty ride prosperously because of truth and meekness and righteousness; and thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

Thine arrows are sharp in the heart of the king's enemies; whereby the people fall under thee.

Thy throne, O God, is forever and ever: the sceptre of thy kingdom is a right sceptre.

Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

All thy garments smell of myrrh, and aloes, and cassia, out of the ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad.

Kings' daughters were among thy honorable women: upon thy right hand did stand the queen in gold of Ophir.

Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine ear; forget also thine own people, and thy father's house;

So shall the king greatly desire thy beauty: for he is thy Lord; and worship thou him.

And the daughter of Tyre shall be there with a gift; even the rich among the people shall intreat thy favour.

The king's daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of wrought gold.

She shall be brought into the king in raiment of needlework: the virgins her companions that follow her shall be brought unto thee.

With gladness and rejoicing shall they be brought: they shall enter into the king's palace.

Instead of thy fathers shall be thy children, whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth.

I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations: therefore shall the people praise thee for ever and ever.

AMERICA daily nails the lie that poverty and obscurity no longer have a fair chance. And the latest answer to that slander just rang from Washington, when the inaugural speech of Herbert Hoover, the blacksmith's son, was broadcast from coast to coast, over a radio network which mainly owes its existence to the genius of Sarnoff, the ex-messenger boy.

Our greatest department store chain was built by a former emigrant lad. And the newest combination of retail establishments was engineered by a recent trades paper editor.

Lee Olwell and George Buckley, vice presidents of the National City Bank, were soliciting advertising a little while back.

Rogers, head of the Addressograph Corporation, got his start as a cash register salesman. And Field, general manager of the Chrysler interests, sprang from the same ranks.

Not one of them climbed to present position without some slipbacks. Or with a helping hand.

Also, please note that they didn't long serve jobs inferior to their talents.

They believed themselves capable of bigger responsibilities than the cramping holes in which they were pegged, and kept changing until they found fitting openings.

But no form of government will ever be devised to cheat merit of its deservings, or lastingly confer unearned incomes and distinctions upon hand-backs and quitters.

Democracy, at best, can only generalize opportunity, and preserve open thoroughfares to wealth and power.

Individual wit and will must do the rest.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 5.—There is nothing, it seems, to be done about the curious and not overly scrupulous custom of theatrical producers in seizing sour notices of reviewers and sweetening them up as sugary blurbs. Unethical, it is not actionable.

Recently the gifted Percy Hammond wrote: "The play is a show, even if it isn't a very good show and I promise a kick if you are not fastidious about your kicks." Imagine the surprise that was his next day to be quoted in flaming ads: "I promise you a kick."

The late Alan Dale many years ago wrote of a shoddy piece: "There never was a show like it. It is terrible." The next night strolling northward along the Rialto he was shocked to see a banner across the front of the theater reading: "There never was a show like it—Alan Dale."

The house was packed for several nights until the hoax was exposed. The most flagrant of recent displays in bad taste in quotations concerned a melodrama. The honest critic had written: "The absurd plot was a triumph for those who insist imbeciles are writing our dramas."

In box car type all over town the critic was credited with hailing it as: "A triumph." Most of this buncombe is regretted by fair dealing showmen. He realizes it curtails extravagant encomiums by critics and that frequent exposures make the theater goer gun shy of the deserved puff.

While the so-called "reader interest" in dramatic reviews grows, its power to make or break a show dwindles, it would seem. The motivating power in the theatrical business today is the approval of the agencies selling tickets. Theater goers accept their advice. And they hold all good seats.

The "word of mouth" advertising is also a big factor. Even those who do not read reviews learn of a success quickly. New York is the theatrical capital, and gossip about it is important conversation. A real hit show cannot be smothered save by the agencies.

Incidentally, it strikes me the farthest north in dramaturgical blurbing for the current season was in an enormous sign which read: "Mayor Walker arrived to see our play on time."

* * *

On an invitation to attend a stag dinner a complete list of guests was printed. And there was this thoughtful consideration in bold type: "In accepting, kindly indicate (in confidence) which of the named gentlemen you wish to sit farthest from."

In a large bank, with many branches, applicants for positions must undergo a thorough medical inspection. They are given psychiatric, psycho-analytic and other tests—including, doubtless, the halitostic—and photographed in six different poses. A young man, successfully passing, telephoned his girl friend: "I landed a $20-a-week job and they don't even suspect I have dandruff."

* * *

Several young millionaires occupy inconspicuous posts in large Manhattan banks. Their families are heavy stockholders and the dignity of the jobs appeals. It is fair to record many youthful scions have made good. A big change is noticeable among the youthful rich in the past few years. The gilded young rake of the gaming table, stage door and such has gone the way of the puff sleeve. In these days he is likely married and domesticated at 25. But not always.

* * *

A bad end was predicted for the richest boy in our town because he cut through a funeral procession one day on a high bicycle. That stamped him, as grandma used to say, as "wild as a pigeon." But he became a fine citizen and told me years after the bicycle episode was merely because he could not stop "the durn thing."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

So Many Plans

So many plans we make each day:
A bit of work, a bit of play,
A task we have delayed too long,
A pause to listen to a song,
A visit to a well-loved friend,
An hour for dreams at long day's end.

So many plans we make, but few
Of all our careful schemes come true;
Another takes the work we chose,
We miss the dream filled hour's repose;
The toil and play that life assigns
Are far from those our designs.

So many plans, yet where are they
Who put each cherished dream away
With but a fleeting sigh, resigned
To take what comes to hand, and find
In any role the day may bring
Some joyous promise blossoming.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HAVE you ever tried entering your home at the end of the day with a happy expression on your face?

If not you ought to try it.

What sort of person are you when you close the door of home behind you?

As you come in do you merely grunt or mumble something which you intend to pass as a greeting to the members of the family present?

Are your first words merely orders, or complaints about conditions as they exist at home when you happen to come in?

If this is your habit, no wonder you are not received more happily.

Why should the family circle spring up in cheery greeting when growls and fault-finding rebuffs are the answer to their welcome?

You have perplexing things to vex you during the day, but so does your wife, and the children have their problems.

You have had an opportunity to get out and see people and talk with them.

Probably your wife has been kept busy at home with routine tasks.

You should bring home a spirit of good feeling.

The children and the wife would be glad to welcome a happy smile.
